CHINESE ARMY BEATEN BACK BY JAPANESE IN MANCHURIA

Disorderly Withdrawal Reported After Three-Day Fight Near Tachang—Airplane Bombs Rained on Retreating Troops.

NEW U. S. NOTE SENT TO TOKIO

Declared to Be "Friendly Representation" but Contents Are Carefully Guarded — Neutrality Said to Be Emphasized.

TOKIO, Nov. 6.—Japanese troops pushed a Chinese army in a three-day battle near Tachang, Manchuria, and sent them flying northward in disorderly retreat, say dispatches from Mukden to the Rengo News Agency.

The Japanese lost 120 killed in the Nanni River bridgehead area in North-Central Manchuria. The battle ended at 10:30 a. m. today, when reinforced Japanese began an offensive which dislodged the Chinese from the bridgehead. Japanese scouts reported the Chinese rear guard passed a town three miles north of the Nanni River bridge an hour later. Japanese airplanes rained bombs on the fleeing Chinese, throwing them into panic and increasing the disorder of the retreat.

Chinese Force Superior.

The dispatch to the Rengo News Agency says only three Japanese companies here the brunt of the heavy fighting north of the Nanni River, which began Wednesday. They opposed the Chinese tenfold more numerous and possessing cavalry and artillery. Considerable losses appeared to have been suffered by the Chinese.

The War Office here asserted the Chinese force in the Nanni River valley, including today's reinforcements, was about 30,000 men, including three batteries of artillery. It was near Tachang that the Japanese advance guard of 800 men took up positions after the severe fighting with Chinese Wednesday night and yesterday at the Nanni River railroad bridge which resulted in the withdrawal of the Chinese from the span. Tachang is near the Nanni bridge.

Dispatches say today's fighting of the Japanese in complete control of strategic points east and west of Tachang.

Commander for Japanese.

Lieutenant-General Jiro Tamon, commander of the Second Japanese Division at Changchun, Manchuria, started for the Nanni River, accompanied by his staff. Gen. Tamon will command all troops in that section.

The Japanese War Office said that during the two days of fighting in that vicinity Japan had suffered more than 100 casualties. It is Tokyo the Government was considering a carefully-guarded statement regarding the new Japanese official crisis would be disclosed the contents of the new note, but referred to it as a "friendly representation." United States Ambassador W. Cameron Merritt delivered the note to Baron Goto, Japanese foreign minister, today.

The Tokyo Government announced its troops would not advance on Ananchi or the more important neighboring city of Tachang where Chinese soldiers continued to molest the Japanese border guards.

Japan cleared Gen. Mah Chan-chen of China of all blame in continuing the fight with the Chinese. Reports indicate the Chinese who started the shooting of the former under the command of Gen. Wan Pu-lin, supporter of Chang Hsueh-ling, young Warlord of the Chinese Nationalist regime. Gen. Mah had promised he would not interfere with the Chinese repairs on the damaged bridge.

Revenge Is Suggested.

The Japanese explained that the bridge was to Chang Hsueh-ling. Gen. Mah's army had recently been incorporated into the Japanese occupation force of South Manchuria.

With the Japanese in the hills demanding an excellent view of the Russian, Japanese, Chinese and Russian interests are at close quarters. A few miles to the north lies the Chinese Eastern Railway, jointly managed by China and Russia.

ROCKEFELLERS GIVE $1,000,000 TO NEW YORK EMERGENCY RELIEF FUND

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Emergency Unemployment Relief Committee of New York announced today that John D. Rockefeller and his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., have contributed $1,000,000 to its fund, bringing the total to $7,531,124. The committee weeks $12,000,000.

The Rockefeller gift equals that of last year. Edward S. Harkness contributed $750,000. Last year Harkness donated $500,000. George F. Baker and Harold Vanderbilt have given $500,000 each.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—A $250,000 contribution to Philadelphia's $9,000,000 united charities campaign is announced by Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury. Last year they gave half that amount.

Stotesbury, philanthropist and member of J. P. Morgan & Co., early in the week told 150 of Philadelphia's wealthiest persons that they must greatly increase their 1930 gifts or the Government might tax them.

MAY WHEAT SLIPS, RALLIES AND GOES UP PAST 70 AGAIN

Weakness in Outside Markets Quickly Overcome by Flood of Buying Orders in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Grain spurted to fresh gains in the last few minutes of trading today, after a gradual recovery from the day's early and most violent break in the present bull market. Wheat contracts closed from 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents higher than yesterday.

From the sharp drop at the start of the session, the deferred deliveries were edged higher and higher by many small orders, crossing the line for net gains for the day. The climb back from the bottom prices of the day was about 3 1/2 cents.

Three of the wheat contracts closed the 70-cent mark and in the stayed there. March at 70 1/2 c, May at 71 1/2 c, and July at 72 1/2 c, were well above yesterday's close and just below the high prices of the season.

Corn contracts also recovered from an early drop, bounding back 3 cents and more to close from 1/2 to 1 1/2 c higher for the day. Oats finished about even, having gained about a cent. Rye was again the day's trading to 45 1/2 c, and May corn, 1 1/2 to 5 1/2 c.

Wheat and Corn Here Close Above Yesterday's Final Quotations.

Wheat and corn on the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange closed higher today than the closing yesterday, although they failed by fractions of a cent to reach high prices for the year set during yesterday's trading.

Opening below yesterday's closing price, December wheat closed at 64 1/2 c, a rise of 1/2 c and 1/2 below yesterday's peak. May wheat rose 1 1/2 c from the opening to 65 1/2 c, 1 1/2 c below yesterday's highest.

December corn rose 1/2 c during the day's trading to 45 1/2 c, and May corn, 1 1/2 to 5 1/2 c.

ROBBERS IN HUNTERS' GARB HOLD UP FILLMORE, MO., BANK

FILLMORE, Mo., Nov. 6.—The Round Prairie Bank of Fillmore was held up and robbed of an undetermined amount of cash by two armed, unmasked men today. L. E. Barnes, cashier, estimated the loot at $500. Fillmore is in Andrew County, about 20 miles northwest of St. Joseph.

The robbers, dressed as duck hunters, lined three employees and three customers who came in during the holdup against a wall and gathered up the cash on the counters. They also took four guns from the bank, and escaped in an automobile stolen in St. Joseph. The car was found abandoned about a mile from here where the pair apparently changed to another car. A time lock on the safe prevented greater loss.

POTATATE ROBBED IN LONDON

Maharajahdhiraj of Dharbhanga loses $40,000 in Jewels.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Emeralds, diamonds and rubies valued at $40,000 have been stolen from the youthful Maharajahdhiraj Kameshwar Singh of Dharbhanga, who is attending the round-table conference in India. He discovered his loss Wednesday night, when he went to his hotel suite. Police were notified.

The Maharajahdhiraj, 25 years old, is the biggest landholder in Bihar and Orissa.

G. O. P. IN CONGRESS CUT ONE MORE BY WURZBACH DEATH

Only Republican Member of House From Texas Succumbs in San Antonio After Operation.

SPECIAL ELECTION IS HARDLY POSSIBLE

With Present Lineup, His Party Will Muster 214 When Lower Chamber Organizes; Democrats 217

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 6.—Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach, Republican, died in a hospital here at 2:20 a. m. today of complications following an operation for appendicitis.

His home was in Seguin. He represented the Fourteenth Texas Congressional District, which includes San Antonio, and was the only Republican in Congress from Texas.

Wurzbach's death further reduces the strength of the administration party in the House. The lineup following elections Tuesday gave the Democrats 217 members, Republicans 215, Farmer-Laborite one, and there were two vacancies.

Wurzbach would have begun his sixth consecutive term next month, had he lived. His death was the fourth among members of the new House, evenly divided among the two parties.

Wurzbach was the victor of many a spectacular political battle, not only with the Democratic opposition but with members of his own party as well. Despite opposition from R. B. Creager, Republican National Committee member and other State party leaders, Wurzbach went on as the only Republican able to win a Congressional office in Texas.

He often said that but for support of Democratic voters, he could not stay in Congress. But when he was asked to support Representative Garner for the speakership on the ground of State loyalty, Wurzbach firmly replied: "No, I am a strict party man."

Under the Texas law as interpreted by authorities here, a special election must be held within 30 days to elect a successor. The Republicans today were without a suggestion of a single outstanding candidate who would be able to attract the following that Wurzbach enjoyed in the district, and it appeared doubtful that another Republican could successfully oppose some well known Democrats likely to aspire to the vacant seat.

KILLED IN 8000-FOOT DIVE IN TESTING BOMBING PLANE

Pilot, Apparently Unable to Straighten Out Ship, Crashes at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—E. C. Ritchie, test pilot of the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore, was killed today, when the Martin bomber, he was testing at Anacostia Naval Air Station, crashed from a height of 8000 feet. Ritchie was alone in the plane.

The plane was a dive-bomber and was being tested before its acceptance by the navy. Witnesses said the ship was put into a dive and failed to straighten out.

It came down near Bolling Field, the army airport.

NILES, Mich., Nov. 6.—Merrill Lambert, 24 years old, of Chicago, was killed today when he attempted a parachute jump from a plane he was testing over the Niles Municipal Airport. He apparently struck a part of the plane as he jumped and, stunned, did not open the parachute.

U. S. MISSIONARY BEHEADED BY BANDITS, LEGATION LEARNS

American Officers at Peiping Told That He Was First Wounded in Heart.

PEIPING, China, Nov. 6.—The United States legation said today it had learned that the Rev. J. W. Vinson, American missionary, who was killed by Chinese bandits, was first wounded through the heart and afterward beheaded.

METEOR SHOWERS TO BE SEEN ABOUT MIDDLE OF MONTH

Full Brilliance of Leonids, With 33-Year Cycle, Expected in Year or Two.

The Leonid meteors, which have produced spectacular star showers about every 33 years since they were first observed in 902 A. D., will be visible about the nights of the sixteenth and seventeenth. The full brilliance of the group probably will not be seen for another year or two.

The meteors appear in the southeastern part of the sky near the constellation Leo, from which they take their name.

The last appearance of the main group was in 1899, 1900 and 1901, but the shower failed to come up to expectations. Later, astronomers discovered that the group had passed by the planet Jupiter on the way to the earth, and the earth had been switched aside.

On Nov. 13, 1833, there occurred a shower of such brilliance that many persons believed the end of the world had come. A scientific estimate was that more than 200,000 meteors were seen at one place between midnight and dawn. All Leonid showers are best observed at those hours of the night.

The Midwest Meteor Association, an organization of the University of Iowa at Iowa City, has sent a request for reports from all persons observing meteors in the Mississippi Valley and particularly for information on an extraordinarily bright meteor reported the evening of Oct. 24.

U. S. BUDGET REQUESTS CUT $350,000,000 HOOVER SAYS

President Criticizes Sectional Efforts to Get National Funds for Pet Projects.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A reduction of $350,000,000 in the budget requests of various Government departments to finance them next fiscal year was reported today by President Hoover.

At the same time the President hit out once more at efforts of sectional interest to obtain additional appropriations for pet projects. The present is not the time for such requests, he declares, and he said that serving only to embarrass the Government.

Maintenance of sound financing is the best way to insure prosperity's return, in Mr. Hoover's opinion. Although lacking definite figures, he told newspaper correspondents the budget would be very greatly below that presented to the last Congress.

MRS. ANNIE BESANT SO ILL SHE CAN'T TAKE NOURISHMENT

MADRAS, India, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Annie Besant, 84-year-old Theosophist, is so ill, it was learned today, that she is unable to take nourishment.

She has admitted, her friends say, that her work in this life is finished, but firm believer that she is in reincarnation, she has asserted that "I shall return immediately in a Hindu body to continue the task of building a greater India."

Mrs. Besant has been ill ever since she fell on the marble stairway of the Theosophical Society headquarters at Adyar six months ago.

5 KILLED, 8 HURT IN GUN EXPLOSION ON U. S. WARSHIP

Accident on Colorado Occurs While Fleet Is Resisting Mythical Air Attack Off San Pedro, Cal.

PETTY OFFICER DIES ON MARYLAND

Squadron Loses Life When His Plane Goes Over Side of Saratoga.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Nov. 6.—A five-inch anti-aircraft gun of the battleship Colorado exploded late yesterday, killing one officer and four seamen and injuring 22 others, three seriously.

Shortly afterward, aboard the battleship Maryland, a petty officer was crushed in the mechanism of another anti-aircraft gun and injured so badly that he died today.

The two accidents occurred as the dreadnaughts were near Santa Rosa Island, a few miles off Santa Barbara, repulsing a mythical enemy air force attack.

The accident aboard the Colorado was one of the worst in peace time since the explosion in a gun turret aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi off the local harbor here in 1924 when 48 lives were lost.

The U. S. S. Colorado listed its dead as follows: Lieut. Ralph F. Bradford Jr., Pontiac, Ill.

Lewis A. Clark, seaman, second class, Los Gatos, Cal.

Maurice U. Hawkins, seaman, first class, Hastings, Mich.

J. J. Schurr, seaman, first class, St. Louis.

G. E. Swift, seaman, first class, who died today of his wounds.

Seriously injured: Lieut. Winston I. Quattlebaum of Kentucky, who entered the service from Texas.

Ensign John B. Huntley, appointed to Annapolis from Ohio.

R. O. Duff, seaman first class. Among others injured, all seamen, first class, were: H. J. Hinton, J. R. Kunkles, C. Y. Stover, H. E. Lutz, W. J. Duval, Claude A. Coulter, Jefferson City, Mo.

Schnur was attached to the U. S. S. Oklahoma but had been detailed as an observer to make the trip with the two dreadnaughts.

The victim aboard the Maryland was J. J. Plummer, a gun captain, who died of his injuries today. He was under the gun instructing a crew in firing practice and had descended into the pit of the turret when he was caught in the machinery. Plummer's home is in Winchester, Ky.

Still another fatality was suffered by the Pacific Coast naval forces earlier in the day when Lieutenant Commander Oscar William Erickson, 35 years old, commander of a pursuit squadron on the Aircraft Carrier Saratoga, died after his plane plunged over the side of the ship as he was attempting a landing. The Saratoga was 10 miles off shore. His companion, George H. Cummings, aviation pilot, escaped injury.

Engineering Board to Meet.

Admiral Richard H. Leigh, commander of the fleet, announced that a Navy board of inquiry would meet aboard the Colorado today to investigate the accidents. The findings of the board will be forwarded to Washington.

The Colorado and Maryland left the local harbor two days ago and were due to return late last night. They put in the harbor at 8:15 p. m. ahead of their schedule as a result of the accidents.

INSURANCE MEN INDICTED, CHARGED WITH WHOLESALE MORTGAGE FRAUD SCHEME

5 PERISH IN FIRE AFTER CRASH OF PASSENGER PLANE

Machine, Bound From Newark, N. J., to Washington, Falls, Near Camden Airport.

FLAMES BURST OUT AS SHIP HITS EARTH

Heat Makes Rescue Impossible and All on Board, Including Two Pilots, Die in the Blaze.

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 6.—Five men—two pilots and three passengers—were burned to death when a Newark-to-Washington passenger liner, maneuvering for a landing at the Camden airport last night, fell into the soft turf of a golf course and burst into flames.

Something went wrong and the plane dropped like lead, its nose burying itself in two feet of earth. Flames writhed about the liner as it struck the earth, driving back hundreds of persons who hurried to the rescue of the occupants. The heat made rescue impossible and the bodies of the victims could not be saved until the Philadelphia fire department had put out the flames.

At the controls of the ship was Floyd Cox, a veteran flyer with more than 3000 hours' experience. In the cabin behind were Vernon Lucas, a fellow pilot going back to his Washington home after a flight to New York; Elmer Smith, advertising manager of the Washington Herald; George B. Taylor, director of the laboratory division of the Chestnut Farms Dairy in Washington, and Francis R. Ehle of Riverton, N. J., president of the International Resistance Co.

Burned Beyond Recognition.

All were burned beyond recognition, although none was crushed. Cox had his hand on the stick, apparently having died while striving to save the lives of himself and his charges.

The plane, a low-winged Lockheed Orion monoplane owned by a subsidiary of the Ludington Lines, left Newark, N. J., at 8:45 p. m. for Washington. It was operating on a 62-minute schedule.

At the airport was Mrs. Blanch Ehle, awaiting the return of her husband from a business trip to New York. She and Ehle planned to hurry home to Riverton. When the plane crashed, Mrs. Ehle fainted.

One witness said the plane turned over before it dived. The ground-keeper of the golf club, who was nearest, said the motor stopped and the plane fell.

Smith's slightly burned hat was found 100 yards from the plane, leading to the belief that the machine caught fire before it landed. No one, however, saw flames before the ship struck the ground, and officers of the Ludington Line denied fire had occurred in the air.

Cox Beat Hawks' Record.

Pilot Cox had a record of eight years of flying without an accident. When he learned to fly, he was employed in the composing room of the Sioux City (Ia.) Journal. At first he regarded flying as a sport, continuing to work as a linotype operator on the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune, the Miami (Fla.) Herald, the Denver Post and the New York Times and New York Herald-Tribune. His last newspaper job was in the composing room of the Washington News.

He unofficially opened the Ludington line's Newark-Washington service the day before its formal inauguration by piloting 10 West Point cadets from the airport to Washington.

A month ago Cox flew from Washington to Newark in 56 minutes, bettering the time of Capt. Frank Hawks by four minutes. Last summer he piloted a trimotored monoplane carrying 10 passengers from Newark to Washington in 70 minutes, averaging 180 miles an hour. He held all transport speed records between here and Washington. In 1927 he barnstormed in the West, and two years later did stunt flying at the Cheyenne (Wyo.) rodeo. He was married.

PLAN TO DUPE SEVEN CONCERNS ALLEGED

Straw Men Declared to Have Been Hired in Case of Auto Indemnity Concern in Handling Deeds to Land of Little Value.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1931, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 6.—An attempt by the Continental Indemnity Co. of America, a Chicago automobile insurance concern, to deposit with the Missouri Insurance Department real estate mortgages at a valuation in excess of $400,000 on Southeast Missouri land having an appraised value of only approximately $100,000, was the basis of an indictment returned in the United States District Court here today against Jerome B. McCutchan, a widely known St. Louis promoter of insurance companies, and Darby A. Day, for many years a leading insurance company executive in Chicago.

The indictment returned by the grand jury, which heard evidence presented by United States District Attorney Vandeventer, alleges a gigantic scheme to defraud the State of Missouri of $400,000 in insurance premiums through the removal of valuable assets from the companies and the substitution of virtually worthless mortgages on the Southeast Missouri land in Dunklin, Pemiscot, New Madrid and Stoddard Counties.

Details of Allegations.

It was alleged to be a part of the scheme devised that Day and McCutchan represented to the officers of the lumber companies that they desired to get possession of the land with the intention of dividing it into tracts of 160 or 320 acres and prepare them for cultivation by the expenditure of approximately $1200 on each 40 acres.

In carrying out the alleged scheme the plan set out in the indictment was that Day and McCutchan would acquire the Indemnity Company of America, engaged in general indemnity and automobile insurance, and pay for it by executing two notes for $50,000 each.

After acquiring it, they proposed, and did move the company from Kansas City to Chicago, and changed its name to Continental Indemnity Co. of America, it is declared.

The indictment alleges that the plan was extended to include the acquisition also of the Continental Auto Insurance Underwriters' Co. of Springfield, Ill., by agreeing to underwrite the liabilities of the company; the Samson Insurance Co. of Freeport, Ill., on the same plan; the Automobile Underwriters' Insurance Co. of Dallas, Tex., for $250,000 in cash and $500,000 of stock in the Chicago Fidelity and Casualty Co. of Chicago; the Liberty Insurance Co. of Dayton, O., by the purchase of 51 per cent of its assets.

GASOLINE PRICE ADVANCES ONE CENT A GALLON HERE

New Figures Attributed to Increased Cost of Crude Oil.

The price of gasoline advanced 1 cent in St. Louis today. Officers of the gasoline companies attributed the increase to the increased cost of crude oil.

Prices of three grades of gasoline handled by the Standard, Phillips, Texas and Lubrite companies are 16.9, 13.4 and 11.9 cents. New prices of the two grades distributed by the Shell company are 15.9 and 12.4 cents, but its third grade was not increased in price, remaining at 10.9.

The new prices include 3 1/2 cents State and city tax.

FOUND SHOT DEAD, REVOLVER NEAR BODY

The Body of Herman Heidland, 51 years old, vice president and treasurer of the Modern Laboratory Co., 114 South Third street, was found early today at the side of McKnight road near Olive Street road, University City, with a bullet wound in the heart and a revolver nearby.

Heidland's disappearance from his home at 5304 Maple avenue at about 9:30 o'clock last night had been reported to police by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Heidland. She said he told her he was going to a drug store near their home to get medicine for a slight dizziness.

Mrs. Heidland said her husband had been in good health although he had been working intensely during the past few weeks on plans for the establishment of a new $100,000 baking company by himself and a group of associates.

Heidland formerly operated a bakery at Page boulevard and Walton avenue, which he sold to a chain of grocery concerns, and another at 934 Goodfellow boulevard, which he disposed of last summer. The Modern Laboratory Co. is a cosmetics manufacturing firm.

Heidland was walking when he left home last night and investigation revealed that he had not gone to the drug store. The revolver found beside him contained two empty shells and three unexploded cartridges.

Surviving are the widow, a 12-year-old daughter, Una Ruth; a stepson, J. Bruce Stockton, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Hortense Granpen.

It was further a part of said scheme and artifice to defraud and obtain money by false statements, the indictment sets out, "that the said Jerome B. McCutchan and Darby A. Day would when coming in to possession and control of said above named companies, remove therefrom and appropriate to their

GOVERNOR HOLDS UP $203,900 MORE FROM MISSOURI.

Makes First Move in His Task of Trimming $1,300,000 From 1931-32 Appropriations.

RECALLS FUNDS ALREADY RELEASED

Declares Drastic Reductions in Expenditures Needed in View of Steadily Falling Revenue.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 6.—Declaring that the State Government of Missouri will have to make drastic reductions in its expenditures to keep within the steadily falling revenue collections, to avoid a heavy deficit, as an alternative to increased taxes, Gov. Caulfield today announced he had notified the University of Missouri, at Columbia, that an additional $203,900 of its appropriations, already released for the 1931-1932 biennial period, must be held up and not expended.

This is the first move by the Governor in his task of trimming $1,300,000 from the appropriations for 1931 and 1932. As forecast in the Post-Dispatch, the Governor will have to recall at least $1,300,000 from appropriations already released, because of losses in revenue from the State's department of the State Tax Commission, and may have to make still further reductions if the ratio of loss in revenue collections continues.

The cuts will be extended to all of the State departments, under the control of the Governor, and, so far as possible, to the departments of other elective officers to the extent to which these officers will agree to reductions of their appropriations. The Governor has no direct control over expenditures of other elective officers, once their appropriations have been released.

Revenue Falling Fast. The 1931 Legislature over-allocated the estimated general revenue for the biennial period by nearly $6,000,000. Gov. Caulfield vetoed $2,245,431 in such items and held up another $4,140,342 in appropriations, the latter items to be released only if the money becomes available.

Continued losses in revenue collections, due to the business depression, have resulted in the State's income falling below the estimates and has necessitated a revision of the budget. For the first nine months of this year the general revenue collections were $2,146,499 less than for the corresponding months of 1930. This wiped out the margin of safety and will necessitate a reduction of at least $1,300,000 in the appropriations already released.

If the ratio of loss increases—and State officials think it will—through non-payment of property taxes and further declines of income tax collections in 1932, the Governor will have to make further reductions.

When the Governor passed upon the appropriation bills early this year, he held up $401,000 of the $3,333,500 in appropriations made for the University by the Legislature for 1931-1932. The new cut of $203,900 in addition to that in making the announcement of the further cut, Governor Caulfield made public a letter from President Walter Williams of the University, stating that he personally could not give assent to the additional reduction of $203,900 and was referring the matter to the Board of Curators of the University for their consideration.

Answers Williams' Protest. Stating that the University already had arranged its budget based upon the amounts released, and had readily agreed to the original holding up of $401,000, President Williams said "it is impossible, however, that the University, in the biennial period, to make a further reduction of $200,000 without temporarily closing the university, in whole or in part, and otherwise destroying its value as a university for the people of Missouri."

"I am unwilling to assume that responsibility as the situation now appears to me and without direct instructions from the Board of Curators."

The Governor pointed out that the University appropriations by the Legislature from the general revenue, of $3,333,500, less the amount withheld now totaling $604,900 for the biennial period, were not the sole source of support for the university, as it received large amounts of fees and revenue from other sources, which were expended directly by the university without appropriation by the Legislature or accounting through the State's Auditor's office.

Estimates University's Income. The Governor said this incidental revenue from fees and other sources totaled $3,575,495 for the biennial period of 1929 and 1930, and approximately doubled the amount contributed directly by the State.

In this connection the Governor pointed out that the $203,900 withheld was less than 4 per cent of the total income of the university, including incidental fees and revenue, while some of the State departments would have to be cut as much as 16 per cent, as the revised estimates of the income for the remainder of the biennial period were 16 per cent less than the original estimates upon which the release of appropriations was based.

"I am tremendously sorry that the state of the revenue is such that the university, as well as the other activities of the State, must reduce their expenditures," the Governor said. "The only alternative to reduction of expenses is ending this biennium with a large deficit. If we go into the next biennium with a large deficit, then the university and the other State agencies must suffer a still more drastic cut, or taxes must be increased materially."

TWO INSURANCE MEN ACCUSED OF ATTEMPTED WHOLESALE FRAUD

own use the cash and available securities from said companies and substitute therefor securities and mortgages, the nature and denomination of which are unknown to this grand jury, all of which the grand jury finds were of little or no value.

The organization of the Chicago Fidelity & Casualty Co., with a capital of $1,000,000 and surplus of $1,500,000, represented to be all paid up in cash and valuable securities, was alleged to have been a part of the scheme.

Payment to the member companies for their land was to have been made with 10,123 shares of the Chicago Fidelity stock to the Gideon-Anderson company, and 12,329 shares to the Himmelberger-Harrison company, the representative being that the stock was worth its full face value.

The Gideon-Anderson land was to be deeded to one Harry G. Delano, who had no interest in the land, and the Himmelberger-Harrison land to one F. A. Pfeffer, both Delano and Pfeffer being straw men.

Delano and Pfeffer deeded the land to "financially irresponsible persons," the instrument set out, and they executed mortgages to one George W. Hobbs, who transferred them to the Chicago Casualty company.

The Continental Company is a successor to the Indemnity Company of America, which was organized in St. Louis in 1917 and was operated here for 10 years before being moved to Kansas City, where, after a year or two of financial difficulties, it was purchased by the Darby Day interests of Chicago and moved to that city, its name then being changed to the Continental.

Active in Promotion Schemes. McCutchan, who is accused by Federal officials of working out the details of the scheme, which the indictment alleges was fraudulent, has been active in many promotion schemes in and about St. Louis for many years, and has had several encounters with prosecuting officials. He was indicted in connection with the $1,000,000 failure of the Citizens Trust Co., of Gwin, Mo., in 1925, and was acquitted.

The general allegation in the indictment returned today is that, by the use of straw men, almost worthless cutover lands in Southeast Missouri were supposedly mortgaged for amounts far in excess of their worth, and the mortgages then sought to be deposited with the Insurance Department as a guarantee fund for the protection of policy holders.

The strawmen used as go-betweens in the executions of the mortgages were recruited at a Market street labor agency in St. Louis. It is alleged, the agent being paid $1 for each man used, and the man receiving $2.50. About 100 were recruited at the labor agency for the purpose, according to records of the Missouri Insurance Department.

One of the Missouri laws of an insurance company of the type of the Continental is not required to maintain a deposit, some other states require such a deposit in the state in which the company is incorporated before permitting it to do business. Such was the case with the Continental.

The character of securities covering Southeast Missouri land first came under scrutiny of the Insurance Department late in 1929, when Joshua Barbee of the Kansas City law office of Charles M. Howell, now a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, offered for deposit on behalf of the Indemnity Company of America three warranty deeds of lands in Dunklin and New Madrid counties. Joseph F. Holland, Deputy Insurance Superintendent in charge of securities, accepted the deeds subject to investigation. He discovered that the land covered by one of the deeds had been sold twice after the date of the deed offered, and that the land was not owned by the indemnity company, as the deed purported to show.

Several months later the Continental, which had succeeded the Indemnity of America, offered for deposit 28 mortgages for a total of $408,000, asking that the department issue a certificate of deposit showing acceptance of the mortgages as a $200,000 deposit, the law requiring that the property back of a mortgage must be worth twice the amount of the mortgage. The certificate of deposit was is-used subject to cancellation if appraisal of the property showed it to be worth less than the required amount.

What Appraisers Reported. Appraisers were employed, and as a result of their report James E. Coolidge, counsel for the department, made an investigation of the entire transaction leading up to the possession by the insurance company of the mortgages.

Later, W. B. Sanders, a Postoffice Inspector stationed in Jefferson City, joined in the investigation. Holland, Coolidge and Sanders were witnesses before the grand jury which indicted McCutchan and Day.

The appraisers reported that 11 of the mortgages, offered for deposit at a valuation of $200,000, actually were worth, according to the appraisers, $55,850, and could be accepted by the department as a deposit of only $26,435. This was taken by Deputy Superintendent Holland as an indication of the value of the mortgages, and consequently he cancelled the certificates of deposit which had been issued.

Coolidge reported to the insurance department that his inquiry showed that virtually all of the land covered by the mortgages had belonged to the Himmelberger-Harrison Lumber Co., and the Gideon-Anderson Lumber Co., which many years ago bought thousands of acres of timber land in the low-lying counties of Southeast Missouri. The timber was cut off and sold, and for the most part the land remained in an unimproved and uncultivated state, covered with underbrush, and of little value. He reported that on most of it taxes had not been paid for several years and that delinquent taxes of approximately $4 an acre per year for three years stood against it.

Proposal for Exchange. According to Coolidge, Jerome B. McCutchan, who had become associated with the Darby Day interests in the purchase of the Indemnity Company of America, and had become president of the Continental company, conceived the scheme to get mortgages on the Southeast Missouri land, where he was familiar with the conditions.

McCutchan, Coolidge reported, sought out the Himmelberger and Anderson interests and proposed to exchange stock in one of the insurance companies controlled by the Darby Day interests for first mortgages on the land they owned.

The scheme, which Coolidge reported, was carried out and evidence of which gave the basis for the indictments, was that the lumber interests gave warranty deeds to McCutchan, who executed mortgages far in excess of the value of the land to George W. Hobbs, who indorsed them in blank and they went into possession of the insurance company. W. F. Anderson became chairman of the board of one of the Darby Day companies and J. C. Anderson became a director of the same company.

Included in Coolidge's report was a statement from one Homer Myers of Jonesburg, Mo., who had been employed to get the straw men. Myers said he obtained about 100 of the straw men from the agency of Tony Michaels at 716 Market street in St. Louis, paying Michaels $1 per man and paying the men $2.50 each.

An example of the findings of the appraisers made by the department, as cited by them in their report, was a mortgage of $10,200 on 240 acres of land in Pemiscot County originally owned by the Gideon-Anderson Lumber Co., the mortgage being for $45.50 an acre. It was found that the land was assessed at $20 an acre, and that the lumber company had made representations to the County Assessor that it was worth not more than $10 an acre. It was found that delinquent taxes, amounting to $4 an acre per year, had not been paid for three years.

The appraiser reported that much land on a par with most of that covered by the mortgages could be obtained by anybody who would pay the delinquent taxes on it.

"No Market for This Land." "If the land under investigation were cleared and roads were built through it, and if there were not so much of it throughout this section of the State, there probably would be a demand for it and a market created," he reported. "At present, there is no market for the land and under its present conditions as to delinquent taxes, etc., there is really very little value to this land."

United States District Attorney Vandewater, under whose direction the case was presented to the grand jury, refused today to say whether additional evidence, involving others than those indicted today, would be presented.

MOSCOW APPEAL AGAINST JAPAN IN MANCHURIAN WAR

Party Heads Urge Communists to Support "the Chinese Proletariat" Against "Imperialists."

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Nov. 6.—The Executive Directorate of the Communist International today issued an appeal to Communists to support the "Chinese proletariat" against Japanese occupation of Manchuria and warned that war against Soviet Russia.

The appeal was made on the occasion of the celebration today of the fourteenth anniversary of the revolution of Russia.

"The leaders of all the capitalist countries," the appeal said, "are wandering about, searching for an outlet and afraid of complete bankruptcy before the mounting swell of the proletarian revolution. The class fight is becoming more acute. The imperialists have already begun war in the East in the hope of attaining this outlet."

"This war against the working classes of China," the appeal said, "is a war against us. Let us organize revolutionary barriers against it in the interest of a united, independent Soviet China!"

Addressed to All Workers. The statement declared history now presents the question whether a capitalist or revolutionary result will be the issue of the present international crisis. It was addressed to all workers of all countries and to the oppressed peoples of the capitalist world.

"Capitalism means the enslavement of the working classes," it said, "uniting all the black forces of the world for war against the Union of Soviet republics. Revolution would mean the establishment of a dictatorship of the proletariat and the organization of millions of new fighters for the difficult but great struggle, along with the Russian proletariat, for a complete victory for Socialism."

Socialism for Russia, it said, is no longer a dream, but an actual accomplishment in which the masses are building their own future, adding that "in Russia there is no crisis, only glories of growth."

"Soviet Russia," it went on, "is the only country in which there is no unemployment, the only country where living conditions for workers are continually and rapidly improving. Under the leadership of the party of Lenin the workers and members of the collective farms are building Socialism, fully confident of a Socialist victory throughout all the world."

"The results are at hand. Socialism is victorious, while capitalism is nearing bankruptcy."

The "imperialist nations," the appeal continued, "are continuously making military, technical and political preparations against the Soviet and supplanting these preparations by the organization of a financial blockade."

"Workers and laborers of the world, defend Russia with your breasts, the country of the October revolution, the only fatherland of labor in the world!"

The Communists International beckons you! Long live the great October revolution. Long live the proletarian of the Soviet Union, the shock troops of the world! Long live the party of Lenin, the leader and organizer of the revolution and Socialist construction, the party of Lenin, the victors of the dictatorship of the proletariat in all the world! Long live Communism!"

Chinese Routed by Japanese In Three-Day Engagement

sla, but staffed with Russians. Anganchi is the northern terminus of the Taonan-Anganchi Railway, which was built by Chinese with the aid of Japanese capital and which serves as an important feeder line to the Japanese-operated South Manchurian Railway.

It also was denied in Tokyo that Moscow and Japan had a "secret understanding" regarding the Chinese Eastern Railway property. Rumors have persisted that the Soviet was preparing to send guards to strategic points along the line.

Asserting the outflow of gold from Japan had reached alarming proportions, financial and banking authorities today called on the people to do their utmost to help maintain the gold standard in the face of the threatening situation in Manchuria. A meeting of the heads of all Japan's leading banks was held at the residence of Premier Wakatsuki, with Finance Minister Inoue attending.

The authorities adopted a resolution "recognizing the imperative necessity of maintaining Japan's gold standard, especially in view of the grave international situation arising from Manchurian developments."

LEAGUE MEETING TO BE IN PARIS

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Nov. 6.—The possibility of a concerted withdrawal of diplomatic representations from Tokyo as the next move in the Chinese-Japanese conflict was considered by League of Nations leaders tonight in planning for the next meeting of the council in Paris on Nov. 16.

In fact, the legal section of the secretariat under the direction of Secretary-General Sir Eric Drummond, was studying article 15 of the League Covenant to determine whether the member nations could be asked to remove their Ambassadors and Ministers in the event that Japan continues to reject measures of arbitration. This article deals with sanctions of a military and economic nature to be invoked against an aggressor nation.

It is understood that this examination also envisages the practicability of levying an economic boycott against Japan, but such action remains in the background for the present. When the Council reassembles a three-fold program will be before it, according to League authorities.

First, a supreme effort will be made to induce Japan to adopt a conciliatory attitude toward China and restore the status quo in Manchuria in accordance with the League's recommendations. Failing that, the next proposal would be a declaration calling for all members and probably all Kellogg pact signatories to remove their envoys.

The latter could be voted validly without Japan's approval for it would be only a recommendation, but officials believe it would have tremendous moral effect. It probably would be prefaced by a condemnation of the Japanese as a violator of the covenant and the pact of Paris.

If Japan is still adamant, the council carrying out plans now under discussion would consider ways and means of putting a boycott into operation.

This program, which is said to have excellent authority to be under consideration by several Government as well, if of course predicated on the premise that the Japanese army will continue its activities in Manchuria. Far Eastern experts insist that there is a moderate group in Japan which is doing its utmost to curb the power of military elements.

The League is obviously counting on the support of America in executing these steps. A Tokio report that the United States Ambassador had informed Foreign Minister Shidehara of his Government's approval of the council's recent resolution was received here with great satisfaction.

The League of Nations had before it today China's story of the killing of more than 120 Chinese soldiers in active fighting and military operations by Japanese troops over a considerable Manchurian area and demand from the Nanking Government that the League act to stop the "incendiary activity" of Japan.

"This can't go on forever," a Chinese official told the Associated Press. "If we keep refusing to fight we will soon be pushed out of our own country and the Japanese will be in complete control. The Chinese General, Ma Chanshan, has a strong army, he said, 'but is trying to carry out his order to engage in battle with the Japanese.'"

China's account of the activities since Nov. 1 includes description of almost continuous fighting, moving of troops, armored trains and cars, artillery fire, airplane reconnaissance and bomb attacks.

It is contained in two notes from the Nanking Government presented to the League secretariat by Dr. Alfred So, Chinese spokesman.

"Actively Provoking" Clashes. The note says Japanese troops are "actively provoking" armed clashes about the Nonni River bridge, within 45 miles of Tsinan and less than 30 miles from the Chinese Eastern Railway.

"According to an urgent message just received from my Government," Dr. So says, "Japanese troops on the morning of Nov. 4 told Gen. Ma they purposed immediately to occupy Tsinan Station north of the Nonni River and on the boundary of Heilungkiang Province."

"At 2 o'clock the same afternoon Japanese troops in Chinese dress and accompanied by mounted bandits fired on the Chinese camp; two Japanese airplanes circled over the camp and threw bombs killing more than 20 Chinese officers and soldiers."

Within the last few days, the note continues, six Japanese trains arrived at the bridgehead and Japanese airplanes and "all allies" were trying to force an engagement.

On Nov. 5, it says, from 500 to 600 Japanese soldiers crossed the river carrying mounted guns and aided by a dozen airplanes, attacked the Chinese troops, killing more than 100. This report, it is explained, was based on a telegram received from the Provincial Government at Heilungkiang.

Recently, Dr. So says, the Chinese Government agreed to Japanese demands that the Nonni River bridge be repaired, but Ma Hayashi of the Japanese command informed the Provincial Government that the South Manchurian Railway had decided to repair under protection of Japanese troops.

Misunderstanding Caused Clash. Ambassador Debutchi Says. By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A "misunderstanding" was given by Japan today as the cause of the latest fighting between Japanese and Chinese in Manchuria.

After a visit to the State Department by Ambassador Debutchi, Secretary of State Stimson said that had been no change in American policy and declined to make any representations which were sent to Tokio yesterday.

As he put it, this Government is "acting independently through the diplomatic channels and reserving complete independence of judgment as to each step, to co-operate with and support the other nations of the world in their objective of peace in Manchuria."

The Japanese version of the Nonni River incident in the North Manchuria, in which many casualties were suffered on both sides, said that, although Gen. Ma Chanshan, the Chinese commanding officer, had promised he would not attack the Japanese who were repairing the railroad bridge, some of his troops opened fire.

The Japanese Ambassador said the troops on the Nonni River would be withdrawn and that soon as the repairing of railroad bridges is completed in a week or 10 days.

"I don't believe Tsinan will be captured," he said, referring to an important city about 25 miles north of the point where the fight took place.

Debutchi also expressed the view there would be "no serious complications between the Russians and the Japanese."

Murphy has assumed leadership in this respect. We have enough money to carry us through Dec. 31 and hope we will not have to curtail anything materially next year. It is up to the superintendent to make recommendations for any curtailment."

Murphy does not anticipate serious financial worries for the schools. He said there was plenty of money to pay this year's salaries and that there was no intention of cutting salaries, reducing the number of teachers or employees or depriving the pupils in any way. "We will simply practice economy as much as we can," he added.

Supt. Gerling does not believe much curtailment of expenditures will be necessary, but that practicable economy must be practiced. He agreed there would be no salary cuts or discharge of teachers. "The frequency is greater than usual, he pointed out, and the revenue from this year's State income tax for the schools is likely to be reduced from $1,600,000 to $500,000."

Murphy resides at 3125 Utah place and is vice president of Festus J. Wade Jr. & Co., investment bankers. He was elected to his first six-year term on the board in 1912 and to his fourth last spring. In 1918 the board made him its president for a year. Murphy is the only avowed Democrat now on the board. He has been active in advocating helpful legislation for the schools and opposing harmful laws; he has been known as a friend of the teachers and a student of school finances. The board president has no authority greater than that of any member, except the appointment and removal of this gives him little practical advantage. He is looked to for leadership and considered the board's spokesman.

Hollins, a lawyer, who indicated that he would abide good naturedly by the board's choice, said, however: "In my opinion the board made another mistake, which the people will not understand, in electing a president who is not a candidate and not in line for office. I have nothing against Mr. Murphy." Other members said they had no personal objections to Hollins but felt Murphy was better fitted.

Some members have disliking Hollins' advocacy of full publicity for all board discussions.

Chaucer Chooses Murphy to Head School Board

Oldest Member in Point of Service, Who Was Not Candidate, Beats Rollins 7 to 5.

OFFICIAL VOTE TUESDAY NIGHT Defeated Aspirant Is Selected for Re-Election as Vice-President—Financial Problems Ahead.

Richard Murphy, ranking member of the Board of Education in point of service, will be the board's president for the next year, if the board follows its action of ratifying the vote of caucus. In a caucus held yesterday afternoon Murphy was chosen by a vote of 7 to 5 over Vice President Myrt A. Rollins. It was decided to re-elect Rollins as vice president.

The official vote will be cast when the board meets Tuesday night. Rollins had counted on eight votes for himself and Murphy was not a candidate. Several members told Murphy last Monday, however, that they intended to elect him.

All 12 members were at the caucus, an executive gathering. It was reported that those voting for Murphy were Emil J. Barth, the retiring president; Mrs. Elias Michael, Mrs. E. R. Kroeber, Howard G. Atwell, Ben Weidle, A. S. Werre, Mayer and Dr. David C. Todd. Murphy voted for Rollins, who voted for himself, and it was reported that Arthur A. Blumeyer, Henry P. Schmeier and Dr. Soien Cameron supported Rollins.

CAUCUS CHOOSES MURPHY TO HEAD SCHOOL BOARD

Oldest Member in Point of Service, Who Was Not Candidate, Beats Rollins
7 to 5.

OFFICIAL VOTE TUESDAY NIGHT Defeated Aspirant Is Select- ed for Re-Election as Vice-President—Financial Problems Ahead.

Richard Murphy, ranking member of the Board of Education in point of service, was the board's choice for the next year, if the board follows its custom of ratifying
the vote of caucus. In a caucus last night, Murphy was chosen by a vote of 7 to 5
over Vice President Myrt A. Rollins.
It was decided to re-elect
Rollins as vice president.
The official votes will be cast
when the board meets Tuesday night. Rollins had counted on eight votes for himself and Murphy was not a candidate. Several members told Murphy last Monday evening that they intended to elect him. All 12 members were at the caucus, an executive gathering.
It was reported that those voting for Murphy were Emil J. Barth, the resident president; Mrs. Elias Michael,
Mrs. E. R. Kroeger, Howard G.
Spook, Ben Weidie, A. S. Werremyer and Dr. David C. Todd.
Murphy voted for Rollins, who voted for himself. A. Blumensky, Henry P. Schneider and Dr. Solon Cameron supported Rollins.
Balloting was on slips of paper,
without nominations. Rollins declined to vote on motion to make the election of Murphy unanimous and the voters adopted it. Rollins was undecided whether to cast his vote for Murphy Tuesday. He said he had counted on Barth, Dr. Todd and Weidie to support him. The slips were rechecked at Rollins's request. On the first ballot, of the president Rollins got six votes
and it was reported that Schroeder, Dr. Todd and Werremeyer received two each. On the second ballot
Rollins was the choice, 9 to 2.
Statement by Barth.
"Some members feel that a trying year financially is coming for the schools," Barth said today.
"They feel that Murphy is the man
for the job because of his service
in office before and his familiarity with school legislation. There are considerable delinquent taxes and we don't know how tax collections
will work for next year's revenue.
I am afraid we will be hard pressed for money. Murphy has assumed leadership in this matter. We have enough money to carry us through Dec. 31 and we will not have to curtail anything materially next year. It is up to the superintendent to make recommendations for any curtailment."
Murphy does not anticipate serious financial worries for the schools. He said there was plenty of money to pay this year's salaries
and that there was no intention of cutting salaries, reducing the number of teachers or employees or declining the pupils in any way. "We will supply practice economy as much as we can," he added.
Supt. Gerling does not believe that curtailment of expenditures
will be necessary, but that reasonable economy must be practiced.
He agreed there would be no salaries or discharges. Tax delinquency is greater than usual, he stated, and the revenue from the State income tax for the schools is likely to be reduced from $200,000 to $100,000.
Murphy a Democrat.
Murphy resides at 3725 Utah
and is vice president of Fes-
ter, Wade Jr. & Co., investment brokers. He was elected to his first six-year term on the board in 1912 and to his fourth last spring.
In 1918 the board made him its president for a year. Murphy is the board's elected Democrat now on the board. He has been active in advancing helpful legislation for the schools and opposing harmful laws. He has been known as a friend of the teachers and a student of school finances. The board has no authority greater than that of any member, except the appointment of committees, but Murphy has been looked to for leadership and considered the board's spokesman.
Rollins, a lawyer, who indicated
he would abide good naturedly
the board's choice, said,
"In my opinion the board made another mistake, which the people will not understand, in electing a president who was not a candidate and not in line for re-election. Other members said they had no personal objections to Rollins but felt Murphy was better fitted. Some members have distinguished Rollins' advocacy of full publicity for all board discussions.

the coal fields ended abruptly
today in a controversy between Dreiser and Herndon Evans, publisher of the Pineville Sun, who was being questioned.
Four other witnesses had preceded Evans before the Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners.
Dreiser announced his belief the newspaper man's sympathies lay with the mine operators rather than the workers, and questioned
Evans at length on personal matters including his religion, and his income. Finally he asked whether Evans thought it fair that he should have an income between $50 and $75 a week while the miners of the district worked for $30 to $50 a month.
Evans said his business had fallen off 60 per cent during the depression, and added he believed economic conditions made it necessary for all businesses to accept reduced incomes.
"Now may I ask you some questions," the witness asked.
"Certainly," replied Dreiser.
"You have written a very famous American novel," Evans said.
"May I ask what your income in royalties amounted to?"
"Yes," Dreiser returned. "Two hundred thousand dollars; probably more."
"What is your average income annually?"
"Approximately $35,000."
"Do you give any of it to charity?"
"No."
Evans remarked he thought he could show that on an income of $50 to $75 a week he had done more for charity, and along civic lines, than Dreiser at $35,000 a year.
"Does that represent your theory of equity?" Evans asked.
Charles Rumford Walker, acting as secretary, broke in at that point to say there were miners waiting to be heard.

BRIDEGROOM DIES IN AUTO COLLISION AFTER CEREMONY

Charles F. Edwards Killed
in Crash of Two Cars in 7600 Block on Page Bl.
Bride Is Injured.

Charles T. Edwards, 29 years old, an unemployed soda dispenser, was killed at 1:30 a. m. today
in an automobile collision at 7600 Page boulevard, three hours after he had been married at Clayton.
Edwards' bride, who was Mrs.
Louise Hell, 5443 Clemens avenue, suffered shock and bruises, and is at Midland Hospital.
Edwards was driving east on Page in an automobile belonging to Mrs. Anna Lieber, 1821 Kennett place, mother of the bride.
Another machine, driven by John F. Weiss of Silver Lake, Kan., pulled in from the side of the road,
going in the same direction. There was a collision and the machine containing Edwards and his bride upset. Edwards was pinned beneath the car, suffering a fractured skull. He was pronounced dead at St. Louis County Hospital.
Mrs. Hell and Edwards were married at Clayton Courthouse at 10:30 p. m. by the Rev. B. V.
Powell, a Methodist minister. Edwards formerly lived at the Vandenlin Apartments, 3902 Lindell boulevard.
Weiss, who is held at Clayton pending an inquest tomorrow, described himself as a lecturer on metaphysics.

76-Year-Old Negro Killed by Auto; Driver Does Not Stop.

Charles Riley, 76, a Negro,
was killed when struck by an automobile, the driver of which did not stop, while wheeling a push cart
at 5800 North Broadway last night. He lived on East Railroad avenue and was on his way home
with his cart loaded with kindling and junk at 6:30 o'clock. George Beaman, 5023 Bulwer avenue, old police he warned Riley of the danger of walking in the street
when he saw him several blocks
from the point where he was struck. Police found particles of an automobile headlight near the smashed push cart. A passerby reported seeing a large green admiral speeding north in Broadway about the time of the accident.

Farmer Dies of Injuries After Crash at Melville.

John E. Craft, 74, a farmer, who resided near Melville, died today at St. Anthony's Hospital of a fractured skull suffered last Tuesday in a collision between his automobile on Highway No. 61, at Melville.
Craft was riding with his son
and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Craft, when their car was struck by the other machine. Mrs.
Craft suffered minor injuries.
Mrs. Rose Lester, 5141 Kensington avenue, suffered internal injuries, and Mrs. Rebecca Starkes, 5155 Kensington, was bruised
when an automobile in which they were riding collided with another machine at Seventh and Chestnut streets last night.
Mose Morice, a laborer, 3101
Washington boulevard, suffered a fractured skull yesterday afternoon when struck by an automobile at Leffingwell avenue and Morgan street.

LAID OFF AFTER 20 YEARS STEEL WORKER KILLS SELF William J. Brown of Granite City Is Found Hanging in Garage.

William J. Brown, employee of the Commonwealth Steel Co., who was laid off some months ago after 20 years of service, ended his life
yesterday at his home, 2322 Cleveland boulevard, Granite City.
Brown closed the doors of his garage, started the engine of his automobile and hanged himself to one of the car door hinges. He left a note giving detailed funeral instructions. He is survived by five daughters and two sons, who told Coroner Mercer he had been despondent since he was laid off.

CORONER GETS JAIL SENTENCE IN DOG TRACK ROW

Judge Bernreuter Imposes
50-Day Term for Failure to Serve Injunction—Appeal Likely.

Coroner Edward Mercer of Madison County, Ill., was sentenced to 30 days in jail for contempt of court by Circuit Judge Bernreuter
after a hearing today at Edwardsville. He was released on bond pending appeal.
The charge against him grew out of the efforts of Judge Bern-reuter and Judge Miller to close the dog track operated by the Madison Kennel Club near Collinsville. Mercer, when ordered to serve an injunction on the track
officials, took no action.
"The public would laugh if I were to fine you," Judge Bernreuter told him after a hearing today.
"The dog track would pay the fine."
The only way I can punish you is to send you to jail."
Mercer is a Granite City undertaker. His defense was that he had to go to Quincy last Sept. 7,
the day he was ordered to serve the injunction, to assist his son who was involved in a civil suit.
In the fight to close the dog
track Sheriff Peter Fitzgerald, who would ordinarily have served the injunction issued by Judges Bernreuter and Miller, was restrained from doing so by their colleague, Circuit Judge Brown.
The two judges opposed to the dog track then instructed the Coroner
to serve their order.
After several days of confusion Judge Brown dissolved his injunction, and the dog track was closed. A special grand jury, impaneled by Judges Bernreuter and Miller has completed its investigation of the track and returned indictments charging conspiracy against its officials and State Attorney Bohm.

Plane of Latest Design, Says Company Executive.
NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 6.—Gene Vidal, vice president of the Ludington Air Line, Inc., last night said an investigation had been started into the crash of the company's transport liner at Camden.
"The express plane, Lockheed Orion, lately acquired, was of the latest and most improved design,"
he declared.
"As it approached Central Airport, Camden, it passed over the field at about 2000 feet and circled to the left as it glided for a landing. Eye witnesses report that as it swung into the field from the southeast, the plane's lights were seen."

NAN BRITTON PLANS APPEAL IN LIBEL SUIT

Jury Decides Against Her at Toledo on Claim of $50,000 Damages.

By the Associated Press.
TOLEDO, O., Nov. 6.—Nan Britton, author of "The President's Daughter," has lost her $50,000 libel suit against C. A. Klunk, Marion (O.) hotel operator, who helped distribute the book, "The Answer to the President's Daughter."
A Federal Court jury late yesterday found "no cause for action"
in Miss Britton's suit, which contended that the book Klunk circulated defamed her character.
Miss Britton, who, in her book,
declared the late President Warren
G. Harding was the father of her 12-year-old daughter, announced
she would appeal to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary.
The verdict was returned after an hour and 10 minutes of deliberation, during which three ballots were taken.
The trial was one of book against book. "The President's Daughter" was published in June, 1927, four years after President Harding's death. A year later, "The Answer to the President's Daughter," written by the late Joseph De Barthe, was published, denying Miss Britton's story and making charges against her.
Counsel for Klunk argued that the allegations in "The Answer"
were true.

EDWARD T. USTICK, OFFICER OF STATIONARY FIRM, DIES

Edward T. Ustick, chairman of the board of directors of the George D. Barnard Stationery Co., died this afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. Patterson Bain, 5321 Enright avenue, of the infirmities of age. He was 85.
Mr. Ustick was one of the founders of the stationery company and a former president of the company. He had been in failing health for some time and became seriously ill three days ago.
Besides Mrs. Bain, he is survived by another sister, Mrs. Amanda Patrick of Bowling Green, Mo.; two brothers, Dr. John T. Ustick of Chicago and William Ustick of Frankfort, Mich., and two sons,
Edward T. Ustick and Prof. W. Lee Ustick of Goucher College, Baltimore, Md.

turned on. A few seconds later, they heard it hit the ground and simultaneously flames burst from the motor. A careful investigation into the cause of the accident has already been started, but information already obtained indicates that the fire did not start while the plane was in the air."

Dr. Witter, Noted Missionary, Dies.
By the Associated Press.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 6.—
Dr. William E. Witter, 78 years old, a Baptist missionary noted for his word in translating Christian literature into hitherto unwritten tongues of the savage tribes of Assam, India, died yesterday at his home here. He retired five years ago.

FOUND GUILTY OF SLAYING

19-YEAR-OLD STENOGRAPHER

Milwaukee Man Says He Shot Her
to Keep Her from Appointment With Another.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 6.— Arvin Anderson, 19 years old, formerly of Duluth, Minn., was convicted by a Municipal Court jury here late yesterday of second degree murder for the confessed slay-ing of Mabel Olen, 19-year-old stenographer, whom he said he had hoped to marry.

Judge George Shaughnessy announced he would sentence the prisoner tomorrow. The verdict carries a penalty of 14 to 25 years in state prison, with eligibility to parole after seven years.
Anderson, a lodger at the Olen
home, testified he accidentally shot
the girl in her bedroom Sept. 12
when he attempted to dissuade her from keeping an appointment with another man. He originally pleaded not guilty by reason of temporary insanity, but the plea was withdrawn after Anderson testified the shooting was accidental.

McAdoo in Book Criticizes War-Time Statement of Hoover

Says Food Administrator Gave Out "Astounding Interview" on Shortage and Unjustly Blamed Railroads for It.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Herbert Hoover is criticized for having "greatly alarmed" the country during the war by "dire prophecies" of a food shortage, in an autobiography of William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury from 1913 to 1918.

The son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, in a book published today which he calls "Crowded Years," also says of Mr. Hoover.

"His chief distinction had been acquired in distributing free food to the Belgian people in 1915 and 1916—a celebrity easily won, I fancy, as I judge from long observation that the job of giving away things requires very little wear and tear on one's ability."

"After this accomplishment Hoover was appointed Federal Food Administrator by the President, and that started him on his road to the White House."

In another reference to Mr. Hoover, McAdoo tells how the administration during 1918 was keeping from the public, "for fear of its effect on the morale of the allies," the fact that there was only a two weeks' supply of food left in England and that railroads had been reduced all over Europe."

Hoover's "Astounding" Interview.
"About the time conditions began to improve, through the work of the Railroad Administration," McAdoo writes, "Hoover gave an astonishing interview."

In it, McAdoo says, Hoover declared the shortage was extremely serious and blamed the railroads. "At that time," the book continues, "the Railroad Administration (of which McAdoo was the head) had the matter well in hand, and the problem was being solved rapidly. Hoover must have known of this, as he had every opportunity to be well informed."

After declaring the interview alarmed the country, McAdoo says: "No doubt his (Hoover's) statement was promptly communicated to Germany, through the secret news service of our enemies, and gave comfort to their waning hopes."

Then he relates that after an unsatisfactory exchange of communications, Hoover appeared at his office with "his legal adviser, Dr. Glasgow of Philadelphia."

"Glasgow did all the talking," McAdoo writes. "Hoover sat with downcast eyes, like a diffident schoolboy. Beyond the greeting when he came in and his goodbye, I do not recall that he had anything to say. Glasgow told me, on Hoover's behalf, that Mr. Hoover regretted his statement."

McAdoo says he told the attorney Mr. Hoover should make his complaints to the proper authorities and not to the public.

"Mr. Glasgow said while Mr. Hoover made a midday examination of the floor, that Mr. Hoover would do that in the future. Mr. Glasgow finished his say, Mr. Hoover completed his inspection of the floor, and they took their departure."

The book describes the late Warren G. Harding's "Senate speeches as an army of pompous phrases moving over the landscape in search of an idea."

Against Debt Cancellation.
McAdoo takes a firm stand against cancellation of the debts.

Amplifying an idea advanced by Lord Rothermere in 1919, he suggests that England and France turn over to the United States their possessions in the West Indies and French Guiana. That would pay about half their debt, he says.

The balance he would have liquidated by having the two countries

buy, with Government bonds, stock in their own steamships, telephone and telegraph lines, railroads and manufacturing industries and turn them over to this country.

To prevent crippling flow of gold, he would have the United States agree not to accept any dividends for 10 or 20 years, the return instead to be reinvested in the industries.

McAdoo, in a preface, thanks W. E. Woodward for assistance in preparing the autobiography.

"It was clear that, burdened as I was with an active law practice," McAdoo said, "I could not do the work without assistance. The book has occupied most of our time for more than a year and half."

BOUCLÉ

A Rich Man's Overcoat at the Richman Brothers Price of $22⁵⁰

One of the first things that a newcomer to Richman Brothers discovers is that a low price is no barrier to fine quality. We recognize no limitations, even at our limited price of $22.50. A fine BOUCLÉ, for example, is a rich man's fabric. It's custom tailored all over America in overcoats that sell up into three figures. It's one of the handsomest weaves that ever gave Winter an argument!...

Rich men wear it and Richman Brothers customers are going to wear it... You don't have to be a man of resources to own one... but you do need Richman Brothers resources to make it possible to own one at $22.50.

BOUCLÉS are all luxury, at a price that's all Thrift!... self or velvet colored in blue, Oxford, or brown... plain back or belted back. If the coat doesn't make good, WE WILL!

We've elected to talk about Bouclé Overcoats today because they've been selected by good dressers for fashion leadership this Fall. But our selection also includes Chinchillas, Whitneys, Meltons, Vicunas, Shetlands, Plaidbacks, and a world of other fabrics and styles... Your choice

Richman Brothers Tuxedo Suits... including dress vest at no extra cost... are an inexpensive investment in luxury. We offer you all the quality and elegance of expensive garments at a price that makes it a pleasant economy to buy them. They're all

AL AND RALPH CAPONE
ARE UNITED—IN JAIL

Latter Expected to Start Tonight for Federal Prison at Leavenworth.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The Capone brothers slept last night in the Cook County jail. Al, under 11 years' sentence for violating the income tax laws, was there because he can't decide in which jail to spend his time while awaiting an appeal. Ralph is under a three-year sentence for the same offense, and will leave at 6 p. m. today for Leavenworth penitentiary to start serving his term, the U. S. Marshal's office announced. They were in separate cells. Al was in a hospital cell, where he reads detective novels. Ralph was in the general lockup.

Ralph surrendered to the United States Marshal shortly before 2 p. m., when his bond might have been forfeited. His attorney, George N. Murdock, turned him over to Acting Marshal Edward King with the question: "Do you know this gentleman?"

"Sure, I've known Ralph for 10 or 12 years," said King. "I swore him in as a Special Deputy Sheriff about 10 years ago. Joe Esposito brought him in."

Later King explained that when he was Assistant Chief Deputy Sheriff, Diamond Joe, now slain, brought Capone to the Sheriff's office to be made a special deputy so that he could carry a revolver.

New Wabash Head Honored.

Walter S. Franklin, newly elected president of the Wabash Railway Co., was honored guest at a dinner given last night at the St. Louis Country Club by L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific Lines. About 100 railroad officials and other business men attended.

CATHOLIC RELIEF CAMPAIGN GIFTS REACH $257,827

Reports Received From 75 Per Cent of Prospective Contributors in All but Five Church Districts.

Archbishop Glennon's emergency charity fund today amounted to $257,827, with reports having been received from 120 parishes where 75 per cent of the prospective contributors have been solicited. No reports have come from five parishes.

The Special Gift Committees have reported donations of $24,876. The Rev. John J. Butler, director-general of the campaign, said many special gifts had been received through the parishes, the donors wishing the parishes to receive credit for them. Forty-nine parishes have passed the $1000 mark.

"The campaign is already a success beyond our fondest hopes," Archbishop Glennon said. "The prayers of Catholic people have been answered. Our prayers now shall be in thanksgiving."

The Rev. John J. Loneragan, in a radio talk yesterday, said that although unprecedented success is indicated for the campaign the amount raised is still far from adequate to meet the emergency and urged those who have not yet done so to contribute.

Paul Bakewell Jr. said the appeal is being made to all regardless of creed, "to help those who are unemployed, and to whom starvation is not a spectre, but a threat, fear not a phantom, but a fact."

Cavaliere Alberto Alfani, Italian Consul, spoke over WEW in his native tongue and then in English, urging those of Italian origin to contribute to the fund, even if they could spare but little.

Reports of contributions from parishes include:

Cathedral of St. Louis, $29,681; Holy Family, $2818; Holy Innocents, $1178; Immaculate Conception (St. Louis), $3593; Blessed Sacrament, $5522; Holy Name, $2562; Holy Rosary, $1257; Holy Trinity, $1921; Sacred Heart, $1085; Nativity, $1183; Our Lady of Perpetual Help, $2345; Our Lady of Sorrows, $2726; Resurrection, $1200; St. Alphonsus, $1039; St. Anthony of Padua, $3486; St. Augustine, $2249; St. Cecilia, $1559; St. Cronan, $1147; St. Edward, $1093; St. Engelbert, $2950; St. Francis de Sales, $2384; St. James, $1733; St. John the Baptist, $1196; St. Leo, $1224; St. John and James, $1515; Corpus Christi, $1214; St. Peter, $3088; Annunziata, $1194; Immaculate Conception (Maplewood), $1832; St. Ann, $2006; St. Paul Apostle, $1498; Little Flower, $1498; All Saints, $2036; St. Margaret, $6192; St. Mary Magdalene, $4031; St. Mary and Joseph, $1186; St. Matthew, $2350; St. Peter and Paul, $1212; St. Philip Neri, $1528; St. Pius, $5814; St. Roch, $6872; St. Rose, $3500; St. Stephen, $1207; St. Theresa, $2662; St. Thomas of Aquin, $2405; St. Wendel, $1370.

ABATEMENT PLEA DENIED

IN FOX THEATER BUILDING SUIT
Trustees for Bondholders Contended Court Was Without Jurisdiction.

Pleas in abatement of defendants in the temporary receivership of the Fox Theater Building, which owns the Fox Theater Building, were overruled yesterday by Circuit Judge Roskopf.

The objections were made by the realty company and St. Louis Union Trust Co. trustee, for bondholder, contending the court was without jurisdiction to appoint receivers, as a similar suit, previously filed, had precedence. It was also contended the action was without notice to the trustee, who was preparing to take appropriate steps for the benefit of all the bondholders when a special group got receivers named.

The receivers, A. L. Storr and Edwin B. Meisner, were appointed by Circuit Judge Hartmann, Oct. 14. Subsequently the case was removed from his court on a change of venue petition filed by the trustee. Overruling the objection, Judge Roskopf explained that the first petition, which was filed by Thomas J. O'Meara, also a bondholder, did not state a cause of action; further the issue in the case and the suit in which the order was made, were so different it could not be held there was a conflict of jurisdiction between them.

BANK ACCOUNTS OF ANOTHER WALKER MAN UNDER SCRUTINY

Seabury Investigating Affairs of Charles F. Kerrigan, Assistant to the Mayor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Bank accounts of Charles F. Kerrigan, assistant to Mayor James J. Walker, are under scrutiny by the Hofstadter Legislative Committee which is investigating city government.

Samuel Seabury, counsel to the investigative committee, also wishes to question Kerrigan regarding reported appearances of Russell T. Sherwood as the Mayor's representative on the Sinking Fund Commission on matters involving phony leases. Seabury corresponded with Kerrigan concerning Sherwood before the latter was sought in Mexico City to appear before the Legislative Committee.

Charles A. Buckley, city member, was questioned by Seabury and an associate. Buckley later said the examination related to his bank deposits and business affairs.

C. E. ROLVAAG, NOVELIST, DEAD

Minnesota College Professor Wrote "Giants in the Earth."

NORTHFIELD, Minn., Nov. 6.—O. E. Rolvaag, novelist and for more than 20 years a professor at St. Olaf College here, died suddenly today from a heart attack. He was 55 years old.

Prof. Rolvaag's novels, written in Norwegian on Northwest themes, were published in Norway and were rated as "best sellers" in that country. Later several were published in English. One of his best-known writings was "Giants in the Earth," which told of pioneer days in South Dakota, where Rolvaag moved when he came to this country.

In 1926 Prof. Rolvaag, who was born in Norway, was made a Knight of St. Olaf by King Haakon of Norway. He retired from St. Olaf College last August to devote his time to writing.

Communist Ends Life in Cell

By the Associated Press. SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 6.—Christoff Drakiew, treasurer of the Communist party in Bulgaria, committed suicide by hanging in his cell today. He was among 44 who were arrested in a raid yesterday. He left a note saying: "I give my life for the party."

Progressive Party Meeting. A meeting under the auspices of the Independent Progressive Party of Missouri will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Barr Branch Library, Lafayette and Jefferson avenues. Mayor M. E. Kirkpatrick of Granite City will speak on "Why We Need a New Political Alignment."

Eastern Star Elects Officers. By the Associated Press. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 4.—The convention of the Grand Chapter of Eastern Star ended here yesterday with the election of Mrs. Mildred K. Schenck, Port Arthur, Ont., as Grand Worthy Matron. Detroit won the 1934 convention over Indianapolis. John Hammill, Des Moines, Ia., was named patron of the order. Mrs. Frances H. Nashville, Tenn., was elected Worthy Associate Grand Matron.

COMMUNITY FUND SPEAKER URGES SYSTEMATIC GIVING

Donald Danforth Tells Captains of Employer Who Recommends Workers
Pledge 1 Pct. of Income.

Donald Danforth, chairman of the commercial division of the Campaign Committee which will seek $3,000,000 for the Community Fund and Citizens' Committee in a drive beginning Monday, told campaign captains and keymen last night of a business executive who has recommended to his employees that they contribute 1 per cent of their incomes to the fund "and suggested that he prefers employees who have a sense of civic responsibility."

"If the employees of that organization adopt the 1 per cent plan," Danforth said, "they will give four times as much this year as they did last."

Systematic giving of a definite percentage of income, preferably collected regularly by authorized deductions from salary checks, was recommended by several speakers
as the most satisfactory method of making donations.

Case of Five-Fold Increase.
Employees of one concern, who gave $270 last year, expect to increase their contributions to about $1500 this year, Danforth said, by following the systematic plan of giving 1 per cent of their salaries.
He told of another business house
in which the employees voted unanimously to give 1 per cent of their incomes.

L. C. Cox, chief clerk of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, said St.
Louis employees of that line who gave one-half of 1 per cent of their salaries for five months last year were able to raise $10,000 to help
former employees in need.

Gale F. Johnston, chairman of the campaign, said 125,000 persons in St. Louis are unemployed, and of these 85,000 have been without work for a year or more. Family resources are being wiped out, he said, and relief demands are three times as heavy as they were last fall.

Food Just the Beginning.
Food is just the beginning of relief, Robert W. Kalso, director of the Community Fund, declared.
"You have got to follow the food
into the kitchen," he said. "You have got to put the family on its feet and re-establish it as a going concern." Hospitals, clinics and citizenship agencies, he said,
must be financed so that they can help material relief agencies in re-establishing healthy, normal family life.

Frank J. Bruno, professor of sociology at Washington University, told members of the University City Kiwanis Club that unless adequate relief is available "our city will become an impossible one in which to live, because of suicides, disorders and despair that will result."

Contributions to the Community Fund and Citizens' Committee, he said, may be looked on as a means of protection against these unpleasant possibilities. "We should also look on them," he said,
"as a means of keeping up morale and doing justice to men who have contributed their labor to the wealth we enjoy today."

Citizens' Committee Clothing
Bureau Will Be Open Monday.
The Clothing Bureau of Citizens'

Committee, now transferred to more spacious quarters at 2218 Locust street, will not be open for distribution until Monday.
The Bureau's supply of men's and children's clothing has been depleted, and in a radio talk today Mrs. C. E. Ward Stewart appealed for contributions. They may be left at the bureau at any time, or a truck will call for them. Donors telephone to Central 3365.

Nearly $8,000,000 Raised in 32
Community Fund Campaigns.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Nearly $8,000,000 has been raised by community chest campaigns in 32
cities, the Association of Community chests and councils has reported to Walter S. Gifford and Owen D. Young, heads of presidential relief and unemployment committees. The total is 12.3 per cent more than the amount raised by the same cities last year. Twenty-four of the 32 communities exceeded their goals.

FIRST FLIGHT ACROSS U. S. 20 YEARS AGO

C. P. Rodgers Made It in 49
Days—Killed in Crash
Soon Afterward.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Calbraith P. Rodgers 20 years ago yesterday outlanded the country by completing the first transcontinental flight. His time from Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., to Pasadena, Cal., was 49 days. Starting from the Brooklyn race track in his Burgess-Wright biplane, the birdman from Havre de Grace, Md., stuck to it through all kinds of adventures. He smashed against a hickory tree at Middletown, N. Y., collided with a barbed-wire fence at Red House, N. Y., raced a black eagle across a stretch of Texas, broke up a circus performance at Lordsburg, Ariz., made a forced landing in a desert and was troubled by "etheral asphyxia."

He was wrecked so many times that when he finished all that remained of his original plane was the vertical rudder and drip pan. All its other parts had been replaced.

A special train, carrying his wife and mother accompanied him, and he found delight in beating the train into stopping places. Once in a while, however, he would get off his course, for he followed the railroad tracks, and the forks bothered him.

But when he landed at Pasadena, Nov. 5, 1911, he had added 1555 miles to the world record for cross-country flight. His longest non-stop hop was from Stoval Landing, Ariz., to Imperial Junction, Ariz., 113 miles. He made it in 125 minutes.

A few months after the transcontinental flight, when the country was still ringing with his fame, he was killed in a crash in the surf off Long Beach, Cal. He had been having some fun swooping among a flock of seagulls. On the way back to the pier something went wrong.

He was a cousin of Commander John Rodgers, heroic skipper of the naval seaplane PN-9 No. 1, which in 1925 drifted for nine days on the Pacific after the failure of the fuel supply forced it down on an attempted flight from San Francisco to Hawaii. Rodgers and his men finally were rescued by a submarine, but the commander lost his life in 1926 in an airplane crash at Philadelphia.

U. S. STILL ADVISES CAUTION IN COMMERCE WITH RUSSIA

Commerce Department Says Inquiries About Business Procedure Have Declined.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Regardless of the five-year plan, the American Government still is advising firms dealing with Soviet Russia to be as cautious as a good banker should be.

The Commerce Department for several years has suggested to business houses which have asked how best to insure themselves against possible losses in dealing with Russia that they get enough cash in advance to cover costs of raw material and labor. Officials said yesterday the same advice was being given now when requested, although inquiries have declined lately.

PREMIER OF QUEBEC OPPOSES ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT NOW

Declares Canada Can't Spend Huge Amount to Assist U. S. in "Exploitation."

By the Associated Press.

QUEBEC, Nov. 6.—Opposition to large expenditures by Canada at this time for the development of St. Lawrence water power was voiced yesterday by Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec.

In debate in the Quebec Legislature, the Premier said: "Canada in this period of depression is not in position to warrant the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars which will materially assist the United States to exploit millions of horsepower of the St. Lawrence River."

DRIVERS UNDER 20 CAUSE 15.6 PCT. OF ACCIDENTS

Insurance Companies Say They Do Not Respond Actively to Fear Stimuli.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—A survey of the National Association of Automobile Mutual Insurance Companies today said 15.6 per cent of all accidents involved drivers under 20 years of age.

Reporting that there are 136,000 motorists in the country under this age, the association said the reason why their youth constituted a hazard was because young persons do not respond actively to fear stimuli.

Union Market Celebration.

The Union Market Merchants' Association will celebrate the sixth anniversary of the opening of the market tomorrow. An orchestra will play in the market between 2 and 6 p. m. Market Master Stoner said there would be special food displays. The market was opened by the city on Nov. 5, 1925. Its hours are 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. Saturdays and 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. other week days.

Washington Drug Store Padlocked.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Dr. Walter P. Napper's drug store was ordered padlocked here yesterday. It was the first order of the kind against a Washington drug store. The Prohibition Bureau told the Court that it had revoked Napper's authority to fill liquor prescriptions, but that since that time sales of liquor continued to be made in the store.

MUSSOLINI TO CALL ON THE POPE MONDAY

Visit Will Be Sign of Restoration of Italian-Vatican Accord.

By The Associated Press.

ROME, Nov. 6.—Premier Mus-solini's state visit to Pope Pius XI,
arranged as a public demonstration that the church and state in Italy once more are in accord, was set today for next Monday.

The Premier will be received with honors consistent with his high office when finally he makes his long-deferred call at Vatican City.

Since the accord between the Pontiff and the Premier was completed Sept. 2, Mussolini has intended making a visit of state as evidence of peace with the church and that Fascism truly respects
the church, but he told friends that he was waiting "until the time comes."

By that, he was understood to mean he wanted to make sure the peace was working smoothly, that there might be no further friction.

Two weeks ago negotiators agreed upon next Monday for the exchange of courtesies, and that date was finally confirmed today.

News of the decision was received from a high authority shortly after the Premier had visited St.
Peter's basilica in connection with the ceremonies attending the marriage of Mario Ciano, daughter of Count Ciano, Italian Minister of Communications, to Massimo Magistrati, diplomat.

The wedding took place at the Church of St. Theresa and later at the tomb of the Apostles.

It was the second public appearance of the Premier at the basilica.
A year and a half ago his daughter, Edda, was married there to Count Galeazzo Ciano, brother of the bride of yesterday.

Donna Rachela, wife of the Premier, who rarely appears in public, was a member of the party at the basilica. Only authorized visitors were allowed to enter and Vatican detectives stood guard.

The peace that will be celebrated Monday put an end to a three-month controversy between the Premier and the Pope over religious youth organizations. These organizations, which had been closed at the Premier's order, were allowed to reopen under restrictions limiting them to religious activities.

NATIONAL HORSE SHOW OPENS
BEFORE 10,000 AT NEW YORK

Two U. S. Army Mounts Win First Military Jumping Event
With Ease.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The United States Army last night sent out two of its star jumpers to win the first military jumping event at the fourty-sixth national horse show.
Contesting against the pick of the officers and horses from four other nations, Maj. Harry D. Chamberlain and Capt. William Bradford scored a perfect performance on Suzanne and Tan Bark over the jumps in Madison Square Garden.

Suzanne and Tan Bark skinned over the difficult obstacles so easily that many of the crowd predicted victory in the military championship event Tuesday night. The United States has never won the international military trophy, although it frequently has finished a close second or third. France,
the Irish Free State and Canada tied for second place with only one and one-half faults.

A crowd of 10,000, the largest opening night crowd in recent years, turned the occasion into a sales event. After the playing of the national anthems of the five nations and the receiving of the salute of the competing teams by Major-General Hanson E. Ely, the crowd stood in silent tribute to the late John McEntee Bowman, for many years president of the National Horse Show Association.

ELECTION PLEASES W. C. T. U.
Dry Expected to Head House Judiciary Committee.

By The Associated Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 6.—The Women's Christian Temperance Union sees an advantage for the dry element in Congress if the House is organized by the Democrats.

"Organization of the House of Representatives by the Democrats,"
the National W. C. T. U. said in a public statement, "would be a gain for the drys inasmuch as the chairman of the Judiciary Committee under a Democratic organization would be Congressman Hutton Summers of Texas, a dry; whereas a Republican House would place Representative L. C. Dyer, a wet, of Missouri, at the head of the committee to which will be referred prohibition repeal and modification bills."

Bulgaria Accepts American's Offer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Minis-

his Government has accepted an offer of Chester D. Pugley, New institute of international affairs in Sofia. Pugley's offer provided that the institute would be under auspices of the Bulgarian Government and would be held during 1932 or 1933 at the University of Sofia. The New Yorker has made similar offers to other European Governments.

Planned weeks in advance—ready today and tomorrow!

Most stores would call this a "sensational sale". We consider it just another good example of how much more we can save for our customers, because we make the clothes we sell.

The values in the Special $25 Week-End are the result of deliberate planning and plenty of hard work. They are not hurriedly prepared "odd lots". We happen to be one of the largest users of fine fabrics in the world. So when woollens took a nose-dive some weeks ago, we were offered the first chance to get the pick of the market. Our buyers went direct to the mills themselves. And they got what they wanted—thousands of yards of brand new suitings and overcoatings, at a whale of a saving! Then our own factory went to work, and did just about as sweet a job of careful tailoring as you've ever seen.

Result: . . . a grand lot of well-styled, long wearing suits and overcoats that can hold up their heads in much more expensive company . . . all at an absolutely unheard-of price for such fine quality! See them today or tomorrow!

How New York's $19,000,000 Reforestation Plan Will Operate

Details of 11-Year-Program for Acquiring and Planting Land Unsuitable to Farming.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The reforestation amendment to the New York State Constitution, adopted by the voters at Tuesday's election, provides for the expenditure of $19,000,000 during 11 years, to acquire for reforestation lands unsuitable to agricultural use.

The amendment, now to become part of the Constitution, embodies the State's enlarged reforestation program, prepared through years of study and experiment by the State Reforestation Commission.

In the campaign just ended, the amendment had the endorsement of the Republican and Democratic parties, of the State conservation authorities and of conservation and forestry experts. It was opposed by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith. It directs the Legislature to appropriate, in each of the 11 calendar years following its adoption (1932-42, inclusive), money for the acquisition by the State of land, outside the Adirondack and Catskill parks, suitable for reforestation, to reforest the land and to manage the forests. The appropriation for the first year is fixed at $1,000,000, and this is to be increased annually by $200,000 for the next five years. For the remaining five years of the 11-year term, the appropriation would be the same as for the sixth year, $2,000,000.

What Opponents Objected To.

The clause of the amendment on which opposition chiefly centered was the following:

"The lands of the State, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest reserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing in this section shall prevent the State from cutting, selling or removing the trees, timber, forest products and other materials on any lands hereafter acquired with the moneys herein authorized within the forest preserve counties but outside of the Adirondack and Catskill parks as now fixed or hereafter extended by law."

Former Gov. Smith, in opposing the amendment, argued that it would put the State into the lumber business, and the expenditure involved could bring profit only to the lumber industry; that no provision was made for reforestation of denuded lands within the forest preserve; that it would open the Adirondack and Catskill parks to invasion; and that it would "saddle present taxpayers with a heavy burden for a doubtful experiment which at best can produce nothing for 30 or 40 years."

Argument of Proponents.

The argument made in support of the measure by Gov. Roosevelt, the conservation authorities and the Republican and Democratic legislative leaders was that it would put 1,000,000 acres of idle land, abandoned and useless for farming, to profitable use through the planting of useful forest trees. It has been estimated that the State contains 4,000,000 acres of such abandoned land—sub-marginal land, it has been termed.

An effective reforestation program must be continuous, as nurseries must be developed to provide the trees, and the examining of land titles requires time and care. Hence the schedules of appropriations, increasing for the first six years.

The amendment, it was argued, gives the park and forest preserve lands the same protection against timber cutting or other commercial use that they have had heretofore.

State Senator Charles J. Hewitt is credited with originating the plan embodied in the amendment. He introduced at Albany a few years ago a resolution proposing to bond the State for $100,000,000 for the purchase of abandoned farm land and for planting it to trees. Legislative committees decided that so large a bond issue was unadvisable, but public sentiment in support of the plan caused the framing of the constitutional amendment now adopted.

Using Abandoned Farms.

The abandonment of farms in this State has been an increasing development of the last half-century. It has gone on at the back doors of the State's largest cities. The abandoned area, which includes parts of most of the counties of the State, is in large part land which should never have been put to agricultural use. Present reforestation measures, by which about 30,000,000 trees a year are set out, would require about 200 years to restore the State's forests.

Based on the experience of Germany, Switzerland and other countries which have systematically preserved their forest areas, the direct and indirect benefits promised from this measure are numerous. It will furnish additional recreation areas for the motoring public, in various sections of the State. It will protect stream flow and water levels, the forests tending to regulate the flow and to prevent floods and erosion. It will provide more and better hunting and fishing places. It will furnish building and industrial materials.

Trees used in the reforestation program will be grown from seed in great nurseries. After the seedlings have been developed from two to four years, they are planted on the abandoned lands. They are set six feet apart each way, making 1216 trees to the acre. As the growth advances, the trees are thinned out, to give growing space to the better specimens, until the number of trees to the acre is 300 to 500. Trees for pulp wood can be grown in 25 to 40 years, for lumber in 30 to 60 years, and for posts, poles and cross-ties in 20 to 50 years.

Expected Profit.

Evergreens, or conifers, are used in reforestation because they grow quickly, and are planted more easily and cheaply than the hardwoods. They will produce more wood to the acre, and of the kind needed for paper pulp and other industrial use. Other trees are used, the choice depending on the natural characteristics of various tracts.

The returns to the State from lumber and pulp wood, it is expected, will pay for planting, maintenance, interest and overhead charges of the State forestry system. In beauty spots, such as the tracts along streams, highways and lakesides, the trees would not be cut down. To demonstrate the necessity of expanding the timber supply, it has been shown that the State produces about 120,000,000 board feet of lumber a year, and consumes 3,500,000,000 feet a year, spending $40,000,000 on freight charges to bring in lumber from other states and from Canada.

Farmers of the State, as represented by the State Grange, endorsed the amendment.

BAR ON ANGLE PARKING ON DELMAR APPROVED

Committee Also Would Keep Alleys Clear in Grand Bl. Theater District.

A bill to prohibit angle parking, permitting only curb-side parking, in Delmar boulevard, for three blocks, between Clara avenue and Hamilton boulevard, was approved by the Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen yesterday. Many motorists have complained that the angle-parking practice has caused congestion and hazards and reduced the room for heavy traffic. Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, in recommending approval of the bill, agreed with this view.

The committee also approved, on Brooks' recommendation, a bill to prohibit parking in alleys between Grand boulevard and Spring avenue, from Lindell boulevard to Enright avenue. Brooks said alley parking in this theater district had become so prevalent that a serious fire hazard resulted. Some parking-lot owners, charging 25 cents for space, move cars into alleys when business is brisk, Brooks reported.

This caused Alderman Wimer to remark: "The owners of parking lots are getting away with murder. They don't pay a license to do business and all these restrictions we are placing on parking are making them rich. I heard one fellow was making $800 a month."

A bill is to be introduced in the Board of Aldermen today to authorize the customary prohibition of daytime parking on principal downtown streets during the Christmas shopping season.

Another bill to be introduced today would change the name of Twelfth street, for one block, between Washington and Lucas avenues, and its continuation, High street, for six blocks, between Lucas and O'Fallon street, to Twelfth boulevard. This is in preparation for completion of the widening and extension to Twelfth boulevard, to Twenty-first and Palm streets. The section north of O'Fallon is not opened yet. Traffic must stop before crossing a thoroughfare designated as a boulevard. A detached section of Twelfth street, for 22 short blocks, between Morgan and Branch streets, would be changed under the bill to Hadley street, in memory of Herbert S. Hadley, who was chancellor of Washington University and Governor of Missouri. This artery, whose southern end is a short distance east of High street, will not be part of the boulevard.

J. L. Kirkland, Oil Man, Dies.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 6.—John L. Kirkland, 74 years old, oil operator, died last night in a hotel here where he had made his home for the past 24 years. He operated large holdings in Texas and Oklahoma, one of his largest enterprises being the John L. Kirkland & Son Co., Tulsa. He also was interested in the Benedum-Trees Oil Co., of Pittsburg, Pa.

LOUIS LA BEAUME PRESIDENT OF CITY ART MUSEUM BOARD

Louis La Beaume, vice president of the Board of Control of City Art Museum in Forest Park, was elected president yesterday, succeeding the late William K. Bixby. La Beaume, an architect and member of the firm La Beaume & Klein, had been acting president some time.

He has taken an active part in the museum's affairs, particularly in construction of the period rooms, and the Gothic Court soon to be opened there. Horace Swope was elected to the board to fill the vacancy left by the recent death of Frederick W. Lehmann. No one was chosen for Bixby's place. Max Kotany was elected first vice president, succeeding La Beaume, and Edward A. Faust second vice president.

Dail Increases Income Tax.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Nov. 6.—The Dail today adopted a supplementary budget boosting the income tax to three shillings six pence (87 cents) to the pound and doubling the present gasoline tax to four pence (8 cents) a gallon. Finance Minister Ernest Blyth introduced the budget to meet a deficit for the current year of more than $3,000,000. He said there would be a drop in the revenue from the duty on liquor of $6,700,000, due principally to decreased consumption.

"SO TIRED I COULD BURST INTO TEARS!"

The Plait of Women Who Are "Acid"

There must be something wrong when the lightest tasks exhaust you. There must be something wrong when your daily duties so tax your nerves that you "go to pieces," and feel as if the only relief is in a good cry. More often than not, people who lack "pep" and ambition and are "always tired" are victims of an acid condition. The true way to help correct acidity and intestinal putrefaction is by introducing oxygen into the stomach. Oxygen, as medical science knows, is a marvelous antacid and internal antiseptic. And now it is possible to introduce oxygen into the stomach by means of an amazing, harmless white tablet, called Magnesia Oxidosa. Developed in Germany by the world's foremost pharmaceutical house, Magnesia Oxidosa stands as one of the great medical discoveries of all time! Upon contact with the stomach acids, these tablets liberate nascent or active oxygen. This preparation neutralizes excess acid, counteracts the putrefactive process and sweetens and purifies the whole intestinal tract. All the distress and misery are relieved and a new sense of vigor and well-being is restored.

5-Day Acidity Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your run-down condition and that persistent feeling of tiredness. Make this 5-day acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxidosa from any good druggist. Take two after each meal for 5 days. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peak of your stomach and nerves. If 5 days use of Magnesia Oxidosa doesn't make you feel decidedly better return the balance of the bottle and the druggist will promptly and cheerfully refund your money.

128TH FIELD ARTILLERY'S REUNION ON ARMISTICE DAY

Meeting of World War Veterans to Be Held at Battery A Armory Wednesday.

The fifth annual reunion of the World War Veterans' Association of the 128th Field Artillery Regiment will be held next Wednesday, Armistice day, beginning at 6:30 p. m., in Battery A Armory, 1221 South Grand boulevard. The 128th was composed largely of St. Louisans but one of its companies came from Kansas City and another was made up of residents of Farmington, Flat River and St. James, Mo.

Old Battery A of this city was the nucleus of the regiment, which was inducted into Federal service Aug. 5, 1917. In the following month the organization went to Camp Doniphan, Ok., for training. It left there May 10, 1918, for foreign service, arriving in France in June after a short stay in London. The 128th spent a month at Feneu, near Angers, after which it was ordered to a camp for artillery practice.

In August the regiment was sent into the Vosges Mountains, opposite Colmar and Strassbourg. Two weeks later it was ordered into the St. Mihiel sector and participated in this drive. The guns of the 128th commenced the artillery fire for the attack on Sept. 26 in the vicinity of Vauquois Hill. The regiment continued to participate in the Argonne drive until Oct. 3, when its division was relieved by the First Division. After a few days of rest the regiment was sent into the line between Verdun and Metz, where it remained until the armistice was signed.

The 128th Field Artillery was the first of the St. Louis troops to return.

Ex-President of Hamline Dies.

By the Associated Press. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 6.—Dr. George H. Bridgman, 90 years old, president of Hamline University in St. Paul for 29 years, died Wednesday night after a short illness. He retired in 1912.

DEFAULT JUDGMENTS ON AUTO INSURANCE

6500 Policy Holders in Reciprocal Concern Lose by Court Ruling.

Default judgments against 6500 policy holders of the defunct Federal Automobile Insurance Association, a reciprocal concern, with headquarters in Indianapolis, are being entered in the Circuit Court. They were granted Monday by Judge Ossing, who was informed that the total amount with interest is about $400,000.

None of the defendants appeared to contest the claims, although previously some had contended that nothing was due as all assessments against them as subscribers were paid before the association failed.

The claims arise from an extra assessment under the terms of the contracts with the subscribers, the purpose being to create a fund to liquidate claims and other obligations of the defunct concern, including expenses of a receivership. The judgments granted by Judge Ossing are against policy holders living in Missouri. Similar suits have been filed in other jurisdictions.

In March, 1928, George W. Olds was appointed receiver by a court in Indianapolis. Thereafter Rodwe H. Abeken was named as ancillary receiver to handle the Missouri claims and he was directed by the late Judge Sale, then on the bench, to proceed against the policy holders. He filed a petition embracing 11,000 defendants, but before the case was called dismissal was entered as to a large number. Service was obtained on the State Insurance Department and one defendant, which, according to C. A. Geers, representing the receiver, was sufficient service to cover all defendants. It was pointed out that as the insurance association was a reciprocal concern its virtual owners were the policy holders. Under the law service in suits against insurance concerns is made at the State Insurance Department.

SINGING SUGGESTED TO HOOVER FOR RELIEF OF UNEMPLOYMENT

National Music Clubs Offer Aid in Community Programs to Stimulate "Fighting Spirit."

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 6.—Community sings like those during the war to stimulate the "fighting spirit" of the American people were offered to President Hoover by the music clubs of the nation as a contribution to unemployment relief this winter.

The board of directors and state presidents of the National Federation of Music Clubs, meeting here, telegraphed the offer of co-operation to the President.

The federation called on music clubs throughout the country to organize community sings and people's choruses with units among all nationalities and classes, believing morale can be maintained through music and that countrywide sings will dissipate social unrest.

Immediate action was asked so that people everywhere will "sing to serve" and open their hearts and pocketbooks to those suffering from unemployment.

Ralph Korn of New York, chairman of amateur orchestras and bands, presented a resolution which was adopted, calling for an American music program for unemployment relief to be given by every music club in the United States during December.

7500 WORKERS EMPLOYED ON HIGHWAYS IN MISSOURI

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 6.—The State Highway Department Nov. 3 had completed construction of 432.9 miles of concrete paving, 14 miles more than the mileage expected to be completed by the last of the year. This made a total of 1546 miles of new road work completed, including 1100 miles of gravel road and 13 miles of miscellaneous type roads. At this time the department has under construction 267 active road projects.

More than 5000 men are at work for contractors working on State road projects, of which 2950 are listed as local labor. Between 2500 and 3000 are working directly for the State Highway Department. Department figures show that an average of approximately 11 men are employed in keeping roads in condition in every county of the State, or more than 1200 men in the entire State.

OPERATORS DISCUSS COAL PLAN

Take No Definite Action at Lexington (Ky.) Meeting.

By the Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 6.—Forty coal operators representing ten bituminous coal-producing states took no definite action yesterday on a plan for stabilization of the industry, but adjourned to meet again Nov. 20 in Cincinnati. The operators met in a closed session throughout the day, discussing problems of the coal industry and attempting to arrive at some workable plan for operating the mines on a fair basis for both operators and employees.

A cold does 3 things "Pape's" relieves them all

A cold always affects you in at least three ways. Air passages are inflamed and irritated. Perspiration is checked. Bowels are irregular with acid wastes from faulty elimination. So doctors say you must do three things to be rid of a cold.

Pape's Cold Compound does all three! It reduces inflammation and swelling of the mucous membrane; it induces perspiration; opens the bowels. Chew one of these pleasant tablets and see how quickly nasal breathing stops; head clears; discharge becomes easy. See how that achy, feverish, weak feeling disappears, and "Pape's" doesn't stop with killing cold germs. It activates bowels and removes germs and acid wastes from the system. All drug stores—35c. Just remember "Pape's".

OHIO CITY JUDGE ACQUITTED
Portsmouth Man Accused of Shortage; Woman Clerk Convicted.
 PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 6.—
 Former Municipal Judge William
 R. Sprague was acquitted yesterday of an embezzlement charge growing out of an alleged shortage in his accounts. The jury deliberated more than three hours. Sprague, who resigned following his recent indictment, made no comment on the verdict.
 Mrs. Marguerite Clark Tidd, former clerk in Sprague's office, was convicted of a similar charge.

WAGE CUTS ASSAILED

BY EDWARD J. FILENE

Nothing So Harmful in Restoring Buying Power, Boston Merchant Says.

By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Assailing wage cuts as harmful to business, Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, said today that nothing would improve conditions more than "putting people back to work and restoring buying power."
 "Nothing is so harmful to business conditions as reducing wages and salaries," Filene told the special Senate Unemployment Insurance Committee.

He said every employer should be required to take out unemployment insurance for his employees either in a system set up privately or through the Government. This would sustain purchasing power over bad periods, he said, adding:
 "All this talk of fitting production to demand is nonsense."

In his own business, Filene said,
 no one had been discharged and no
 wages had been reduced.

He said this policy had been pursued for the sake of the business
 itself as well as for the employees.
 Instead of saving in wages, expenditures had been cut through reductions in waste, he said.

Filene warned there was "enormous resentment all over the country against combinations, not only among unemployed, but among those who have lost their life savings."

"This enormous resentment," he said, "is going to take the shape of more radical legislation than we have had for a long time."

He said unemployment insurance bills already were being considered in many states and unless the proper legislation were enacted
 the insurance system would be wasteful and would lead this country toward the dole.

He said every employer should have the right to set up his own unemployment system under State regulation or else be compelled to protect his employees through a State agency.

Filene said the fundamental trouble with England's unemployment system was that the Government had attempted to mix charity with insurance. The charity should have been kept separate,
 he said.

The Boston merchant said the world was only at the beginning of the machine age and the growth of production would be very rapid.
 Mass production, he added, was based upon the high buying power of the masses and it was essential for employers to realize that.

TESTIFIES JUDGE FORCED SEWER CHIEF TO RESIGN

St. Ferdinand Supervisors' Secretary Says Mulloy Asked President William F. Hecht to Quit.

"YOU KNOW WHY," COURT IS QUOTED

Deposition Is Made in Suit to Restrain Collection of Preliminary Taxes of District.

Depositions were taken yesterday on the affairs of the St. Ferdinand Sewer District, which attracted attention early in 1930 when William F. Hecht, president of the District Board of Supervisors, resigned three weeks after a suit for $3803 for "money had and received" was filed by Charles C. Keck, former engineer of the district, against P. H. McAvoy, an employee of Hecht.

Hecht resigned Feb. 15, 1930, announcing that district business had become so heavy that it interfered with his private employment as general manager of the Mount Lebanon Cemetery Association. McAvoy was a salesman for the concern.

Yesterday, however, Henry J. Bangert, secretary-treasurer of the Board of Supervisors, testifying in the suit of John H. Behle to enjoin the district from collecting preliminary taxes, disclosed that Hecht resigned three days after the repeal of the Ralph sewer law last spring, questioned Bangert closely about the incident, but was unable to elicit further information about the reason for Judge Mulloy's demand. Bangert said the Judge was very earnest during the conference.

"He was pretty angry, wasn't he?" inquired Mooney. "I guess he was."

"Any books thrown around?" "I don't remember that."

Judge Mulloy, for whom McAvoy acted as bodyguard during the 1928 campaign when Mulloy ran for office, said after the Keck suit was filed that he had broken with McAvoy a year previously when he learned McAvoy was supposed to have a 46 per cent interest in Keck's engineering firm.

"As Judge in whose court the St. Ferdinand district was incorporated, I could not continue my association with McAvoy under those conditions," he said at the time, adding that he had implicit confidence in the district supervisors.

Mulloy Confirms Story.

Asked today for a statement concerning Bangert's testimony, Judge Mulloy admitted the truth of the testimony, but declined to comment further.

Mooney asked Bangert why the district had levied a preliminary tax of 10 cents per 100 square feet, the legal maximum, which would net the district $426,000, when outstanding indebtedness is only $250,000.

"We didn't know just how much to levy," Bangert replied. "We figured every tax bill would be contested so we decided to levy the full amount and if there was a surplus, to refund it proportionately. In fact, we had passed the resolution to rite the levy soon after the district was incorporated in 1929, so we just let it stand."

"Do you mean that you made that levy before the district extended its area from 4700 acres to 12,000 acres?" Mooney asked. "Yes."

Didn't Expect to Collect.

Mooney contends the district was without authority to certify its books to the County Collector for the collection of taxes against the entire area of the district, when the levy was made before the major portion, about 7500 acres, was acquired.

Bangert admitted that at the time the levy was voted by the Supervisors they did not expect it would be collected. He said they had counted on a bond issue to pay all expenses, so that the several thousand acres of farm land not benefited by the sewer would not have to pay the preliminary tax of $43 an acre. The repeal of the law, however, made necessary the assessment of the tax to pay St. Louis banks which supplied credit to the district under a contract whereby they in return would have exclusive privilege of buying the bonds of the district.

ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

IN AUTO KILLING IN COUNTY
Floyd Brown Freed by Jury in Death of Charles J. Hoelscher on Manchester Road.

Floyd Brown, a mechanic, 4348 Delmar boulevard, was acquitted of manslaughter by a jury in Circuit Judge Nolte's Court at Clayton yesterday.

Brown's automobile killed Charles J. Hoelscher, a painting contractor of 1127 North and South roads, Brentwood, last June 7, while Brown was being pursued as a speeder on Manchester road.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

He testified that he was going about 35 to 40 miles an hour and that he swerved the machine to avoid Hoelscher, and that Hoelscher apparently became confused and leaped in front of it.

Driving to Florida at 97. By the Associated Press.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Eli R. Dusenberry, accompanied by Miss Mary Tenney of Waterloo, have left their home here on an automobile trip to Florida. He is 97 and his wife 91. The couple have been making the jaunt to their winter home in Daytona Beach for several years, and Dusenberry always does the driving. They will celebrate their seventieth wedding anniversary New Year's day.

WOMAN WHO SHOT LEGISLATOR FREED

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The grand jury has refused to indict Ruth Jayne Crainmer, whose apartment former State Senator Roy Yates of New Jersey was shot. Yates resigned from the State Senate and declined to make any charge. The grand jury filed a dismissal of the complaint of felonious assault against Miss Crainmer, who was arrested on Aug. 14.

LINER STATEMAM'S RIGGING DAMAGED BY TERMINAL FIRE

Catches From Blaze at Hoboken Pier—Freight House and 14 Box Cars Destroyed.

By the Associated Press.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Nov. 5.—The one-story frame terminal of the Hoboken Manufacturers Railroad and 14 box cars were destroyed today by fire. The foremast and the rigging of the Holland-America liner Statendam were caught by the flames, but tugboats towed it from its pier to the middle of the Hudson River, and extinguished them. Officials said the liner would sail on schedule at midnight. The Stevens Institute of Technology was threatened for a time, when sparks ignited the roof of a dormitory. The fire followed an explosion of borate of potash on a freight car. Firemen said friction in loading the barrels of potash caused the fire. The pier, at the foot of Fifth street, Hoboken, escaped damage. A large amount of merchandise in the ruined freight station and in the box cars was consumed. The Hoboken Manufacturers Railroad, known as the Shore Railroad, is a belt line connecting piers with trunk line railroads.

SLAYER OF BOY IS EXECUTED

By the Associated Press.

FORT MADISON, Ia., Nov. 5.—Joseph A. R. Altringer, 23 years old, of Dubuque, was hanged at the State prison today for the killing of Earl Robert Fuller, 12-year-old Dubuque boy.

His last words were: "Well, so long, everybody."

CONGRESSMAN'S CAR KILLS BOY

Earl C. Michener of Michigan Involved in Accident.

PARMA, Mich., Nov. 5.—An automobile driven by Earl C. Michener, Adrian, Representative in Congress, yesterday struck and killed an 8-year-old boy who was walking along United States Highway No. 12 near here.

Robert Moe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moe, was returning to school for his spectacles and was walking with his hand before his face, as a protection against the wind. When Michener sounded his horn the boy apparently became confused and ran in front of the car. The boy was thrown into a guard rail and died instantly.

FAMILY ROUTED BY FIRE

Bed-Ridden Woman Among Those Saved From Flames.

George Debonnaire and his family were routed from their home, 6108 Elizabeth avenue, in their night clothing early today when the house, a frame building, caught fire. Mrs. Debonnaire aroused their four children, Viola, 19 years old, Catherine, 17, Bernice, 14, and George, 8 years old, while Debonnaire carried his aunt, Mrs. Emily Burhaest, who is bed-ridden, to safety. They sought shelter at the home of a neighbor.

Firemen said the fire apparently started in a pile of rubbish in the basement. The damage was estimated at $700. Debonnaire is a stationary fireman employed at the City Sanitarium.

BURGARS RANSACK 3 HOMES

Articles Valued at $450 Taken at One Place.

The home of Joseph Keller, 3216 Watson road, was entered by burglars last night in the absence of the family and robbed of articles valued at $450, including an electric clock, clothing, jewelry and a collection of 600 old coins.

A window was broken at the home of Cavani Verdino, 5453 Elizabeth avenue, by burglars who took clothing and jewelry valued at $250. Clothing and jewelry valued at $275 were taken from the home of Mrs. Edith Kesse, 4718A South Grand boulevard.

F. C. LAKE ESTATE $104,000

Inventory of Property of Nugent Co. Officer Filed.

An inventory of the estate of Fred C. Lake, an officer of B. Nugent & Bro. Dry Goods Co., who died Oct. 18, was filed in Probate Court today. It lists assets valued at $104,762.

Stock in Lake, Inc., a Delaware corporation, with a par value of $37,554 is listed, as is the family residence 4360 Westminster place, carried at $15,000. Mr. Lake left his estate in trust for the benefit of his widow, Mrs. Louise Rogers Lake, naming her and the Boatmen's National Bank as trustees.

MOSCOW, Nov. 6.—Fourteen years after the October revolution

Soviet Russia looks back on its dreams of industrialization and credits itself with steady progress toward their fulfillment.

That it still has a long way to go to attain its objective of surpassing within a decade advanced capitalist countries is acknowledged. But its industrial advances, compared with those of Czarist days, cannot be doubted if official figures are to be credited.

Under the aegis of Lenin that the country must be changed from a backward agricultural to a highly industrialized-agriculturalized nation, Russia's renaissance is being unfolded.

Without going into the social and political aspects involved in reconstructing the country from an absolute monarchy into the world's first worker's and peasant's republic under the dictatorship of the proletariat, an official summary of industrial achievements during the 14-year period, especially for the Associated Press, divides industry in the new Russia into three stages.

The period of recovery from 1917-1922 when the economic life of the country was at its lowest ebb from the effects of World War and civil war was the first. Next came that of reconstruction, or rehabilitation, in 1922-1927. Then that of development, or expanding the industrialization of the nation.

Turning Point in 1921.

Introduction of Lenin's new economic policy in 1921 was the turning point. Until that time the industrial paralysis of the country had grown from bad to worse. In 1918 industry yielded only one-fifth of the return in 1913; in 1919 one-fourth, and in 1920 less than one-fifth. Such an important branch as metal production only 2 per cent of the pre-war level.

The new economic policy, which put an end to military Communism and invoked instead banking and other capitalist facilities, laid the foundation for the first year of industrial growth in the official statistics showing that in the succeeding five years, 1922-1927, reconstruction was so rapid that industry not only reached pre-war levels but surpassed them by 5 per cent.

From this point was but a step to the five-year plan, under which capital investment in industry was increased from 1,300,000,000 roubles (about $50,000,000) in 1924 to $2,965,000,000 (about $118,250,000) in 1929. By the close of 1929 industrial production as a whole had more than doubled that of the peak of Czarist Russia.

Calling attention that the first two years of the five-year plan exceeded expectations in a total production of heavy industry amounting to $2,420,000,000 roubles (about $121,000,000) instead of the $2,350,000,000 roubles (about $117,500,000) called for in the program, the official statement added:

"The first two years of the five-year plan have proved that the estimates are considerably less than the real possibilities latent in the industrial system of the U. S. S. R. Fulfillment of the plan now has become possible in four instead of five years. It is true that the first months of this year did not yield results expected but the steady growth from one quarter to another showed that the plan was a real one."

A Triumph for Machines.

"Separate branches of industry, especially the machine building field, can without exaggeration be said to have attained such growth as hitherto was unknown in the history of industry. The result has been that several important branches such as oil, electric energy and agricultural machine building already have completely fulfilled the original plan for five years."

The survey neglects to mention transportation, the backwardness of which has been a serious obstacle to other phases of the plan. It then takes up new construction, showing that 59 new enterprises were added in 1928, 87 in 1929, 290 in 1930 with a total capital investment of 4,605,000,000 roubles (about $230,250,000) and that already 225 of the 518 scheduled for this year have started operating.

THREE STAGES OF CHANGE TRACED

Country's Possibilities Un-

Moscow Now Says.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Nov. 6.—Fourteen years after the October revolution Soviet Russia looks back on its dreams of industrialization and credits itself with steady progress toward their fulfillment.

That it still has a long way to go to attain its objective of surpassing within a decade advanced capitalist countries is acknowledged. But its industrial advances, compared with those of Czarist days, cannot be doubted if official figures are to be credited.

Under the aegis of Lenin that the country must be changed from a backward agricultural to a highly industrialized nation, Russia's renaissance is being unfolded.

Without going into the social and political aspects involved in reconstructing the country from an absolute monarchy into the world's first workers' and peasants' republic under the dictatorship of the proletariat, an official summary of industrial achievements during the last period, especially for the year 1930, is being published. This divides industry into the new Russia into three stages.

The period of recovery from 1917-1921 when the economic life of the country was at its lowest ebb from the effects of World War and civil war was the first. Next came that of reconstruction, or reestablishing and reorganizing those portions of industry which could be salvaged in 1921-1927. Then came the period of development or expanding the industrialization of the nation.

Turning Point in 1921.

Introduction of Lenin's new economic policy in 1921 was the turning point. Until that time industrial production of the country had grown from bad to worse. In 1918 industry yielded only one-tenth of the return in 1913; in 1919 one-fourth, and in 1920 less than one-fifth. Such an important branch as metallurgy produced only 10 percent of the pre-war level.

The new economic policy, which put an end to military Communism and invoked instead banking and other capitalistic facilities, laid the foundation for a rebirth of industry. This is illustrated in official statistics showing that in the succeeding five years, 1922-1927, reconstruction was so rapid that industry not only reached pre-war levels but surpassed them by 5 percent.

From this point was but a step to the five-year plan, under which capital investment in industry has increased from 1,200,000,000 roubles (about $250,000,000) in 1923 to $2,650,000,000 (about $1,482,000,000) in 1930. By the close of 1930 industrial production as a whole had more than doubled that of the peak of Czarist Russia.

Calling attention that the first two years of the five-year plan exceeded expectations in a total production of heavy industry amounting to $2,420,000,000 roubles (about $1,210,000,000) instead of the $2,250,000,000 roubles (about $1,125,000,000) called for in the program, the official statement added:

The first two years of the five-year plan have proved that the estimates are considerably less than the real possibilities latent in the industrial system of the U. S. S. R. Fulfillment of the plan now has become possible in four instead of five years. It is evident that the first months of this year did not hold results expected, but the steady growth from one quarter to another showed that the plan was a real triumph for machines.

Separate branches of industry, especially the machine building, had without exaggeration been said to have attained such growth as had been unknown in the history of industry. The reason has been that several important branches such as oil, electric energy and agricultural machine building already have completely exceeded the original plan for five years.

The survey neglects to mention transportation, the backwardness of which has been a serious obstacle to other phases of the plan. It then takes up new construction, showing that $3,000,000,000 roubles were added in 1928, $7 in 1929, $20 in 1930 with a total capital investment of 4,005,000,000 roubles (about $2,002,500,000) and that already 225 of the 518 scheduled for this year have started operation.

RUSSIA IN TRANSITION—No. 24

Soviets Strive for Classless State by "Liquidating" Groups Not Clearly Friendly to Regime

Disfavor of Government Is Turned on Land-owning Peasants, Clergy, Intellectuals, Traders and Liberals.

By Raymond P. Brandt.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., September.

SOVIET RUSSIA has more external and internal enemies than any other country. This accounts for her suspicion when dealing with the outside world, and the downright persecution of "class enemies" within the republic, called "liquidation of opposing forces."

In any attempt to analyze present-day Russian psychology great consideration must be given to the deliberately fostered war spirit evident everywhere throughout the Union. The anti-German propaganda spread in the United States during and after the war was insignificant compared to the constant warlike exhortations the Russians are subjected to by newspapers, periodicals, theaters, cinemas, lectures and radio programs. The object partly is to increase industrial production; partly to frighten the enemies of the new Republic. There has been a slight letup this year, particularly in the instance of the old intelligentsia. Whether this marks a definite trend is problematical.

The key to the question of enemies is found in a favorite marching song of the Red Army with the refrain: "Who is not with me is against me; He is my enemy and he must fall." This two-part classification of mankind is typical of Soviet teaching, and it is carried out more consistently than its biblical counterpart. All who do not support the proletarian state are "class enemies," rather than enemies of Russia. By the Soviet definition there can be no neutrals in the class struggle, and Liberals are more to be feared than Conservatives.

Classifying "Enemies."

Within the borders of the union, the "class enemies" are divided into many groups. The largest is composed of kulaks (comparatively well-to-do peasants) and former traders. Then there are the priests, the old officers and officials under the Czar, and the old Liberal intelligentsia—the Mensheviks.

Since the revolution other groups have developed. One is made up of the unrepentant Trotsky followers; another includes that indefatigable class, who, regardless of background, resist social, political and industrial regimentation because of their temperament.

All of these groups have been "declassified," that is, have had their economic and social supports withdrawn from them and are now virtually outcasts, with the exception of the old intelligentsia, who were given a new lease on life by Stalin's famous speech this summer. Most of the members of this group, Stalin said, had learned their lesson and should be encouraged to help in the rebuilding of the country. Stalin, the realist, saw that the country needed their knowledge and training, and with the Soviet political regime now firmly established he was willing to give them more freedom. Many were released from prisons and some were given cash indemnities.

Different groups have been singled out for special "liquidation" since 1917. Just now the kulaks are feeling the brunt of government displeasure. At first the old aristocracy, the bourgeoisie and the clergy were the targets because of their participation in the Civil War.

"Liquidating" Their Opponents

When the writer was with the Hoover relief organization in White Russia in 1922-23, the Russian members of the administration were served by the Government with long questionnaires. The most fearful item was: "Give the names, addresses and occupations of your parents." This information, said the Russians, was demanded for reprisal purposes. Persons with proletarian background had no fear of such questions.

In 1927-28 the traders and speculators who had flourished under Lenin's New Economic Policy were "liquidated." They had been led to believe in 1921 that private enterprise was to be encouraged and many made comparatively large paper profits. When the Government decided that it was strong enough to do without the efforts of these private individuals it quietly taxed them out of existence. Exorbitant taxes were imposed and the Government bought out whatever stocks it wanted at its own price. There were no private bidders.

When the 5-year Plan, with its great industrial expansion, was started the Government did not know how far it could trust the old technicians. With much delicate machinery coming into the country the danger of sabotage was always present. The Government constantly watched the old engineers and managers. Sabotage was treason and was punished by death.

"Liquidation" of the kulaks became widespread in the autumn of 1929 when the program for collectivization of farms got under way. The campaign against the kulaks caused terrible suffering. Social and economic pressure was applied without mercy to individuals. Families that had spent years in developing meager plots of land saw all their property confiscated

ENVOY GIVES BOOK OF WESTERN VIEWS TO HINDENBURG

German President Had Ex-pressed Desire to Visit Grand Canyon and Yellowstone.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Nov. 6.—President von Hindenburg's desire for knowledge of the Western mountains of the United States was satisfied today when Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett gave him a bound volume of 24 views of Yellowstone, Yosemite, Zion and Grand Teton National Parks and the Grand Canyon.

The volume, which was encased in a box made of Oregon red pine, was given through the co-operation of President Hoover and the United States Department of the Interior.

"Some months ago," Sackett said, "I asked President von Hindenburg jokingly if he would not like to visit America and he replied enthusiastically that one of his dearest wishes was to see the Yellowstone Park and the Grand Canyon of the Colorado."

"During my visit to Washington last spring I mentioned the incident to President Hoover, who suggested that the Department of the Interior might prepare a collection of pictures for the President of the Reich. Secretary Wilbur did the rest and the volume arrived a few days ago."

GANDHI SUGGESTS HE TALKED WITH KING ABOUT WEATHER

"Only God Gives Encouragement," He Declares When Asked About Indian Independence.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 6.—Mahatma Gandhi intimated that the conversation between himself and the King yesterday consisted mostly of pleasant questions and answers about the weather and its effect on a man so recently come from India.

Asked if the King had given any encouragement to his hope for Indian independence, Gandhi looked, by his hands palm to palm and said, "only God gives encouragement, not Kings."

Wearing a loincloth and shawl, Gandhi attended a formal reception at Buckingham palace. It was the first time he met George V, and he seemed to like it immensely.

"The King and Queen were most friendly and gracious," he said. "I also liked the Prince of Wales."

Before the function was half over Gandhi abruptly left the palace, for he has no patience with social gatherings, and the conversation usual on such occasions bores him.

The guests were not required to make any obeisance before the King and Queen. Such a gesture would have been distasteful to Gandhi when the King, dressed in morning attire, offered his hand. Gandhi shook it heartily and after bowing, raised both his hands in front of his chest in the manner of a Buddhist priest—the most decorous form of Indian greeting.

His shawl was gossamer, and it had been freshly washed by Miss Madeline Jinks (Mira Behn), his British-born disciple. While the other partook of tea, cakes and ice cream, the King provided Gandhi with a bowl of boiled goshum.

TOKIO DENOUNCES 'FORGERY'

So Characterizes Reported Plan for Japanese Domination.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Nov. 6.—A Foreign Office spokesman today denied the authenticity of a document published abroad by newspapers which described it as a memorandum of plans for Japanese domination in the Pacific presented to the Emperor in 1927 by Baron Tanaka, then Premier.

He characterized it as a "patently blatant forgery," and said Chinese delegates at the 1929 meeting of the Institute for Pacific Relations had attempted to circulate the same "pernicious" document.

Why Shaw Is Suppressed.

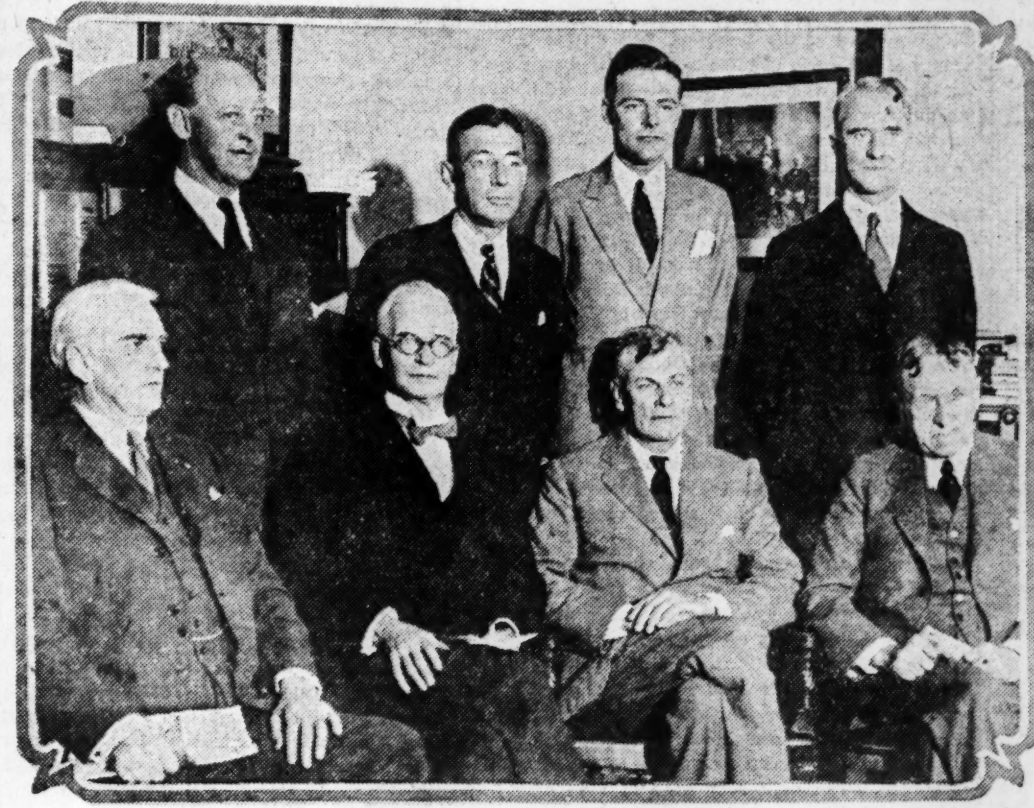

In this connection it is interesting to note that despite the arousing demonstrations this summer in Moscow and Leningrad for Shaw, his dramas are not played in Russia and his writings are not available in the ordinary bookshops that display huge stacks of translations of your parents. This information, said the Russians, was demanded for reprisal purposes. Persons with proletarian background had no fear of such questions.

FOR NON-AGGRESSION PACT

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Nov. 6.—A committee of the European Union Commission today was studying the economic non-aggression pact proposed by Maxim Litvinoff, Foreign Commissar of Soviet Russia, adjourned tonight, after endorsing the general idea underlying the proposal.

It will meet again in three months, meantime examining the Soviet suggestion in certain details "which do not seem likely to be acceptable to a majority of the committee members." The committee recommended that, "in their economic relations, states should be guided only by the necessities of economic life and not by considerations explicitly derived from differences in political and social systems."

Navy League Board Backs Gardiner Against Hoover

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The five-member committee appointed by President Hoover to investigate Navy League charges against him, at work today, found Government departments effectively co-operating to make the task easy.

Since President Hoover made public the charges of the Navy League that he was "ignorant" of naval affairs and that his policies were undermining national defense and declared in reply that they would be disproved by records, his aids have been active. Files have been combed for facts. As a result the committee, headed by John Hays Hammond, mining engineer, has before it a mass of collated evidence attacking in detail the political arena, and he has studied the present situation, and an intensity that is truly remarkable.

EX-KAISER BUSY STUDYING CHINESE-JAPANESE DISPUTE

Marks Position of Troops With Flags on Large Map in His Home at Doorn.

By the Associated Press.
DOORN, Holland, Nov. 6.—A large map of the Far East has been placed in the study of Wilhelm II, former Emperor of Germany.

Little flags indicate exactly where the Japanese and the Chinese troops are stationed.

He summons experts from Germany to tell him all about the underlying causes and about the implications of the dispute. One of those recently invited to Doorn was Maj. von Mosdorf, one of the editors of the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung of Berlin, who is a specialist on Chinese-Japanese relations.

RADICALS STILL OPPOSE LAVAL

Resolution Adopted at Party Convention in Paris.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Nov. 6.—Continued opposition to Premier Laval in the French Parliament was expressed yesterday in a resolution adopted by the Radical and Radical-Socialist party at its convention here.

The resolution calls on Radical Deputies and Senators to remain in opposition to the Laval Cabinet in so long as the Government's major policy in Parliament is unchanged. The possibility of collaboration in the future with certain moderate groups, however, is not excluded.

Selection of Admiralty Lord
Who Has Actual Sea Experience Is Violation of Tradition.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 6.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has announced a Cabinet of 20 members that is hailed in Government circles as a "truly national team." Eleven members of the new Ministry are Conservatives, four are from the National Labor party, and five belong to the two wings of the Liberals that are supporting the MacDonald Government.

One of the most important posts—Chancellor of the Exchequer—went to Neville Chamberlain, Conservative, and advocate of protective tariffs. This was a recognition of the preponderance of Conservative protectionists among the Government backers in the House of Commons. Those looking at the Government from the party view said, however, that Chamberlain would be balanced by the Liberal, Walter Runciman, at the head of the Allied Department of the Board of Trade. Runciman's mind is open on the tariff issue.

The new Cabinet is composed of the following members: Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald (National Labor); Lord President of the Council, Stanley Baldwin (Conservative); Chancellor of the Exchequer, Neville Chamberlain (Conservative); Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon (Liberal); Lord Privy Seal, Philip Snowden (National Labor); Secretary of State for India, Sir Samuel Hoare (Conservative); Home Secretary, Sir Herbert Samuel (Liberal); Secretary of the Dominions, J. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Panics of 1857 and 1873.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
The following account of the panics of 1857 and 1873 was published in 1913 and contains information which I think at present will interest your readers:

"In 1857 prices were low. Wheat sold for 37 cents a bushel. The reason for the low prices was the lack of currency, the failure of the banks and loss of confidence. Everything went down with a crash.

"We had the loosest banking system of any civilized country that ever existed. Each state chartered banks and authorized them to issue notes in the shape of paper money. The bills in use in Illinois were issued by Georgia banks; it is probable the Illinois banks exchanged their issues for Georgia bank bills in order to avoid presentation for redemption.

"During this period, men relied on a bank reporter published every month, giving the value of bills issued by the banks of the various states. None of these bills was worth par. A silver dollar was worth more than a gold dollar, and did not circulate. An odd fact of the time was that two half silver dollars were not worth a whole one. The payment of several thousand half dollars in one transaction occurred at that time, because it was cheaper to pay in halves than in whole dollars.

"After September, runs began to be made upon the banks, and one after another in rapid succession the banks became unable or refused to redeem their issues. Bills in circulation in Illinois were called 'stump-tail' money. The fall in the price of all commodities brought ruin to many men. Laborers were thrown out of employment and there was much distress. The conditions were nothing near as bad, however, as in the subsequent panic of '73.

"The country quickly rallied from the panic of '57, and, notwithstanding the wildcat money system and the subsequent panic, the census report shows that the decade preceding the war was one of the most prosperous the country had ever known, and I think the rapid growth of industry was due to the Walker tariff passed in 1846, the only tariff for purely revenue purposes this country has ever had. It continued in force until after the war and so popular had it become that in 1856 one of the three parties dared declare against it.

"During the War between the States, the Government made paper money legal tender for the payment of debts, public and private. The value of the paper currency depreciated until it required $2.50 in gold to purchase $1 in gold. Money was abundant; everything moved along at high pressure for a time.

"In 1873 the great panic was on and all confidence in the financial public and people to meet their obligations seemed to disappear. There was a mad rush of each man to cover to save himself. Mortgages were foreclosed, payment on all obligations was demanded and enforced, the Sheriff's were called upon to sell property and in consequence the prices of property went still lower. During the five years of hard times following the panic of 1873, more real estate was sacrificed at forced sale than during the 40 years prior to that period. The period of depression lasted five years."

Defends Killing of Hawk.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
PROPOS of the letter concerning the killing of a hawk which chose the Civil Courts Building for its deprecations, allow me to enlighten the writer on the subject.

This hawk not only destroyed numerous and harmless migratory birds, but left their carcasses on the building to decay. If, in destroying this hawk, one saved the lives of numerous other birds more acceptable to the public, it seems as though a service has been performed.

MICHAEL CHANITZ JR.
An Answer to Mrs. Hancock.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
FOR a person reared in an American home and always making American ideals the governing principles of her home and community life, Mrs. George W. Hancock of Cape Girardeau, whose letter criticizing our policies appeared in this column recently, presents quite a problem. How can a person with American ideals advocate the abolition of the greatest of all American ideals—freedom of speech and press?

While I disagree with Mrs. Hancock's views, I would not deny her the right of freedom of speech, since expressed thought is made harmless by exposing itself to clarifying influences. Even if she could place the public press under "the same" regulatory authority "as our other utilities," we really would have nothing much to fear.

If Russell Dearthmont hasn't retrograded since I knew him, he possesses the honesty, sense of justice and plain common sense to realize that good economy cannot permit the public utilities to drain off more than their fair share of the country's wealth. The country can produce just as much wealth (plenty for all) and any unfair grabbing of lions' shares prevents the nice adjustment of the whole economic structure.

The unemployed can use their leisure to no greater advantage than in making a careful study of the best type of man to have on the reception committee when Mrs. Hancock and her followers arrive at our legislative halls.

FLORENCE S. EARLING.

THE MANCHURIAN POWDER MINE.

Both Japanese and Chinese authorities declare there is no war in Manchuria. No war has been declared, but there is desultory warfare by Japanese and Chinese troops. The latest clash, at the Nonai River bridge near Tsitsihar, indicates a grave situation which may break into war at any moment.

The Japanese troops sent to Tsitsihar to guard the engineers and workmen engaged in repairing the bridge, which had been destroyed by rebellious Chinese troops, clashed with the Chinese troops of Gen. Mah, war lord of the Province. There were two accounts of the cause of the clash, the Japanese asserting that an overwhelmingly superior force of Chinese troops attacked the Japanese guard; the Chinese asserting that the Japanese delivered an ultimatum to Gen. Mah, and fired the first shots. There were heavy casualties on both sides, and the Japanese have ordered fresh troops to Tsitsihar.

The clash precludes any possibility of the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Manchuria outside of the privileged zone of the South Manchurian Railway before Nov. 16, the date fixed by the League of Nations Council for withdrawal. It may be put down as a certainty that Japan will not withdraw so long as attacks are made on Japanese nationals and Japanese property. The security of its nationals and property in Chinese territory is the first condition laid down by Japan for withdrawal. So we may look for continued occupation by Japanese soldiers of Manchurian territory until assurance of security is given Japan.

Where shall the assurance of security be obtained? There is practically no effective Chinese Government in Manchuria. The power of Gen. Chang Hsueh-liang has been broken, and there is no substitute except the military rule of the Governors of the northern Province. They are intriguing for advantageous position, and the movements for independence by Chinese Generals complicate the situation. Manchuria is in a state of chaos so far as government is concerned. The only semblance of government in China is the government of the Kuomintang party at Nanking, and an independent branch of that party claiming to be the Government of China, at Canton. Both of these party governments have their hands full dealing with each other and putting down bandit and Communist insurrections. They are practically powerless to maintain order in Manchuria, so that maintaining order and security for both Chinese and Japanese in Manchuria seems to be in the hands of Japan, whose influence heretofore has been in favor of peace and order in that territory. Japan will not yield her possession of the South Manchurian Railway and the concessions involved in it, which are the basic cause of Chinese resentment and hatred, but insists that China shall affirm the validity of the treaties under which this property is held and operated, and cease violating the treaties. The truth is that both peoples are now ruled largely by hate, fomented by Chinese anti-Japanese propaganda and boycotts, which are heavy obstacles against the establishing of peace and order.

Both Japanese policy and repeated declarations and a knowledge of Japanese aims in Manchuria are assurance that Japan does not want territory but peace and order in Manchuria, which will supply Japan with raw materials for manufacture. But can that policy be maintained under the present reign of chaos? Chairman Briand of the League of Nations Council says that he has obtained the assurances, four of them at least, demanded by Japan, but his claim is based solely on promises from Sze, the Chinese representative before the League. His promises, however, have not been backed up by any effective action, and the Japanese naturally place no reliance upon them. Experience has demonstrated that little dependence can be placed upon Chinese pledges and promises, mainly because the power to carry them into effect is lacking. Some more effective method of bringing about reconciliation will have to be adopted by the League Council if peace is to be assured.

There is another factor in the Sino-Japanese conflict. That is Russia. The present clash occurred on the branch railway connected with the Chinese Eastern and the South Manchurian railways in the Northwest, near the Russian border. Japan paid for the construction of the railway, but it has been under Chinese control. The official position of Russia seems excellent. The Soviet denies any mobilization of troops, and disclaims any intention to interfere, but expresses the view that any attempt by Japan to seize and hold Manchurian territory would be unfavorably regarded. The Soviet press, however, is spreading reports of Japanese intentions and ambitions, and practically declares that the Japanese have a definite plan to seize and hold China and the Philippine Islands. All of these rumors and reports may be laid to a desire of Communist Russia to stir up suspicions and animosities among the capitalist nations that have interests in the Orient. The charge is ridiculous on its face, but it carries venom. It does not help the situation. Japan holds that the traditional ambition of Russia to gain ascendancy in Manchuria and an all-year port on the Pacific is still active. These views of the Russians and the Japanese do not work for peace, whatever the peace intentions of the two may be.

Taking all things into consideration, the prospect for real peace is not hopeful. It is dark. Unless the Japanese can get together with whatever governments there may be capable of dealing with Manchurian conditions for an agreement and settlement; or the nations interested in preserving peace in the Orient can find means to bring them together, conditions are leading toward a practical state of war. There is danger to world interests, and if anything is to be done in the way of outside mediation, it should be done quickly and with energy.

ST. LOUIS' CHAIN GANG.

It is a surprise to many St. Louisans to learn that the chain gang still survives in this city; at least, as a means of conducting prisoners through the streets on their way to the train that takes them to the State prison. This medieval practice belongs to the day when offenders were placed in the public stocks with a placard stating their crimes, to be a target for gibes and decayed vegetables hurled by passers-by. It belongs to the day when felons were branded on the forehead, so their offenses might be duly advertised, even should they reform. We live in an age when the criminal is viewed as an erring personality, subject to treatment, along with his punishment, that may lead him to good citizenship. For a first offender, such a parade in shackles through crowded streets may well be the last straw in embittering him against society.

The Sheriff should find it practicable to conduct his charges from the city jail in the same way they came there—in a patrol wagon. If he fears escape in this manner, a police escort or use of an armored truck would avert the danger. A chain gang marching through the streets of a modern city is a brutalizing anachronism.

VIOLENCE IN THE MILK DISPUTE.

On the eve of an alleged inquiry into the milk dispute, a truck near Arbuckle Corners, Ill., was held up by five men, who tied its driver to a tree and dumped 150 gallons of milk, which had been collected for the Pevely Dairy Co. This is the latest of a long list of outrages committed upon the Pevely milk truck drivers and farmers doing business with the dairy. These outrages include not only the dumping of large quantities of milk and the disabling of motor vehicles, but attacks with firearms that, in some cases, have all but resulted fatally.

In granting a permanent injunction restraining members of the Sanitary Milk Producers Association from interfering with milk shipments to the Pevely Dairy Co., Judge FitzHenry said:

I know something of the distress of the whole farming population. It is deplorable. But no matter how serious your situation is, it does not give you the right to take the law into your own hands.

To this may be added that whatever hope or expectation the farmers may have that they might win public opinion to their side of the controversy with the Pevely Dairy Co. is gravely damaged by these outbreaks of violence.

Co-operative marketing of farm products, as many believe, is the solution of the ills of agriculture. At any rate, it deserves, and is getting, a trial. One of the main purposes of the Agricultural Marketing Act, passed by the last Congress, was to stimulate its growth throughout the United States. The local dispute between farmers and the Pevely Dairy Co. is thus but a single phase of a national movement. It is only natural that this movement should suffer opposition. The similar fight of wage earners to form themselves into trades unions was won only after a century of struggle, and the successful outcome was merely delayed by the sporadic violence that occurred.

The farmers must remember, in driving toward their objective, that their adversaries have rights and privileges which must be respected. There is nothing to compel the Pevely Dairy Co. to do business with a co-operative if it does not care to do so. As Judge FitzHenry said: "There isn't any law in this land that compels a man to buy something that somebody else wants to sell." If the farmers are wise, they will refrain from violating the rights and privileges of the Pevely Dairy Co., in order to gain what they conceive to be their own.

MAUDE ADAMS AGAIN.

What enchanting memories the thought of her name on the theater billboards once more must bring crowding back to the grayed heads! She brought Barrie to the American stage in the gaslit era, and together they reigned supreme. "The Little Minister" was the play of the latter '90s and she was its Babbie, the captivating gypsy, belonging, "not to Scotland, but to the realm of Oberon and Titania," who stole away the orthodox heart of the dominie of Thrums. Another decade and she had taken out citizenship papers in fairyland as Peter Pan, sending thousands of children, large and small, matinee and night performance, into sheerest joy with the timeless story of the boy who never would grow up. For 20 years she was the darling of the footlights. Now she has returned as Portia and the introducer of a new lighting system. But the circumstances are inconsequential. What counts in November, 1931, is that she is back, for, whatever her present role, Maude Adams is the elfin of the treetops and star dust, who gave us the only sure formula for eternal youth.

THE CITY AND NATURAL GAS RATES.

Information thus far brought out by the administrative committee on natural gas leaves open the question of proper rates to be charged consumers in St. Louis after the Laclede Gas Light Co. starts mixing manufactured and natural gas and serving a fuel of higher heat value than the present product. The Aldermen have learned that Laclede is to buy natural gas for the first two years on the basis of 26 cents a thousand cubic feet, plus the actual cost of transmission through the intermediate pipes of the Missouri Industrial Gas Co. It was said by the president of the Laclede that its affiliated company, Missouri Industrial Gas, would make no profit out of the transaction. After two years, Laclede still may be able, but as time passes the rate may rise to 31 cents—a provision to take care of possible added cost in getting the gas out of the wells.

It appears, from these facts and others brought out by this committee, that Laclede will be able to purchase natural gas delivered into its mains about 31 per cent cheaper than its cost of manufacturing gas of equivalent heat value. So great a cost reduction would not apply to the product as mixed for distribution, because Laclede must still produce a large amount of manufactured gas in order to avoid unbalancing the load on the pipe line. Another reason for maintaining the manufacturing plants in operation is to insure the city against interruption of its gas supply in case of possible failure of the pipe line.

The guarded statement of the Laclede company to the committee gave little information on rates to consumers. It promised a "development rate" for home heating, with the object of building up a new and extensive volume of sales. It held out the hope of lower general domestic rates if there is a satisfactory increase in volume, but made no immediate promise.

It was said the executives of Utilities Power & Light Corporation, the holding company which owns Laclede, are working on a new rate schedule to be filed with the State Public Service Commission. If these executives have in mind the ultimate welfare of their own company, they will make the rates as low as good business practice will permit, and they will not be too quick to give all the reduction to the home heating customer and none to the small consumer, who uses gas only for cooking.

Although under the law the city has no control over the rates, it may nevertheless bring before the Public Service Commission all information it believes pertinent to the fairness of the rates. In any event, the administrative committee has done well in providing for public discussion of the many factors involved in the introduction of natural gas in St. Louis.

Well, good-by, Al, and farewell, Herbert.

WRONG WAY TO SETTLE THE MILK DISPUTE.

Hoarding, International and Domestic

Despite recent flow of gold from U. S. to Europe, we still have more than enough; foreign banks have been seized with hoarding mania, just as domestic concerns and individuals have been possessed by it; this is an acute disease of panic, and grows upon itself; normal functioning can be restored only by action of Government.

From the New Republic.

A MONTH ago the economy of the world was holding so much of the monetary supply of gold. For years the problem has been how to keep from getting too much, and how to redistribute what we had. Today people are asking whether the dollar is to go the way of the pound because an outflow of gold has actually begun. Such is the irrationality of panic. In spite of its evil effect, it is irresistibly comic.

Why anybody should have lost confidence in the gold value of the dollar is inexplicable in the face of the known figures. In recent weeks, about $500,000,000 of gold has been exported from New York or earmarked for foreign accounts. That left a reserve of $4,424,000,000, more than we had in 1923, and even $100,000,000 more than at the peak of the 1929 boom. We have more than double the amount established by law as a legal minimum for the reserve against Federal Reserve notes outstanding. We could lose over $2,000,000,000 before any question of forbidding the export of gold could arise.

If a redistribution of our gold has been held an essential in world-wide prosperity, why is not the present movement a wholesome influence? The reason is that it has not arisen in the "normal" course of trade and investment. International shipments of gold are ordinarily employed merely to create a balance of payments, when other items are not even and credits do not cover the difference. We have been getting gold since the war, because the balance of payments has almost continually run in our favor.

Nobody, in the end, profits from one-way trade. The essential thing has been, not so much to get the gold back to the countries which had too little, as to create the trade conditions under which the gold would normally flow back to them. Under such conditions, the foreign banks which received the gold would presumably use it as a basis of expanding currency and credit, thus assisting a restoration of prosperity. But at present, the gold exported or held here under foreign earmarks is not being so used. It is being hoarded, just as if it were drawn out by a nervous depositor in this country.

Foreign drafts on our gold at present are emptied by precisely the same motives, and have the same effects, as hoarding at home. And hoarding is being practiced from the bottom of financial society to the top. The man whose ready funds have once been tied up by a bank closing, or who has been frightened by the steady flow of bank failures, is likely to keep his cash instead of depositing it. Every gathering provides its stories of individuals who have converted their ready resources into gold.

Industrial corporations are cutting wages rather than drawing on their surpluses, and are keeping on hand large cash reserves which they refuse to spend. Banks themselves are so fearful of runs that they hold large stores of currency, decline to lend even on normally good business risks and keep their money in nothing but the most liquid of securities and quick assets. Foreign Governments nervously guard their reserves. And the President of the United States, faced with the common restriction of income, slashes expenditures in every possible direction, rejects all pleas to spend more for the common good and fears either to tax or to borrow more than he must—though the Government is the one great agency in the situation which has the power to increase its income of its own volition and is able to put money in circulation whether customers are ready to buy its products or not.

Hoarding is an acute panic symptom, and a symptom which itself aggravates the disease. It sets up a vicious circle like the vicious circle of a neurotic patient. His fears make him sick, and the sicker he feels, the more his fears injure him. It is no good to tell him that his sickness has an imaginary source—he feels just as badly as if he had swallowed Paris green. Ordinary stimuli do not bring the usual responses. The personality tends to disintegrate. So it is with our economic society. The ordinary assumptions of confidence are swept away.

When confidence exists, each man, acting in his own interest, acts in such a way as to keep the economic machine going, or even to expand its activities. But now people who keep their cash by them, companies which refuse to spend and banks which decline to lend, though they are undoubtedly acting prudently as far as their respective interests are concerned, all combine to depress the life of the whole system and destroy its tissues of value. No one of them dares act differently, since he cannot depend on others to follow his example, and if they do not act, he may be lost. Panic hoarding demonstrates with how tenuous a band our individualistic economy is tied together.

To break out of the vicious circle requires a powerful agency of collective effort. Nothing short of the Government of the United States can do it. But the Government, under President Hoover, acts tardily and with only a sluggish imitation of the full force it might exert. If only it could be started on a program of spending and borrowing and taxing to something like the extent of the possibilities, money would begin to flow, markets to improve, prices to rise and confidence perhaps to be restored. By talking too much and acting too little, by an excessive and timorous caution about disturbing confidence, Mr. Hoover has so far disturbed confidence more than any President in a generation. It is true that he has lately begun to act. But the danger is that by a succession of delayed and insufficient acts he will finally destroy any power he has to lead the country out of panic.

The time has long passed when a wholesale degree of inflation can be brought about by banking or private measures. If anyone is to begin to pump money into the arteries of trade, the Government must do the job. The administration should substitute the immense moral power of example for the discredited instruments of preaching, and show by what it does that panic is unnecessary.

The Polish Corridor

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I SHOULD appreciate your publishing the following extract from E. Alexander Powel's "Thunder Over Europe" regarding the Polish Corridor. This will tend to clarify the issue. Mr. Powel says:

"Nowhere else in the world, so far as I am aware, can be found a frontier which artificially cuts off a riverian people from the river. Yet it was evidently not the intention of the treaty makers entirely to bar from this great waterway a population of 2,500,000, for a paragraph of the Versailles Treaty explicitly states: 'The Principal Allied and Associated Powers will at the same time draw up regulations for assuring the population of East Prussia to the fullest extent and under equitable conditions access to the Vistula and the use of it for themselves, their commerce and their boats.' This guarantee has been carried out... and how! Near the village of Kurzenbrack, the East Prussians are permitted access to the Vistula over a distance of four meters—157 inches! Even this permission is contingent, however, upon the production of a special Polish visa, to obtain which the applicant must journey to Dirschau, 12 miles away. Imagine a peasant farmer being compelled to make a round trip of 24 miles, plus the usual delays at the passport office, if he wishes to drive his cattle to the river for water!

"Near Kurzenbrack is—or, rather, was—the great Muensterwalde Bridge. It was one of the largest spans in Europe, carrying a railway line, two roads for vehicular traffic and footways. The only bridge across the Vistula between Polish and German territory, it was of great commercial importance. Under the terms of the Polish-German agreement of 1925, there was a contractual obligation on the part of Poland to maintain this bridge, but in the spring of 1931, in spite of German protests, demolition operations were begun and the bridge was closed to traffic. In order to cross the river, therefore, the East Prussians must either depend on ferries—which cannot operate in winter on account of the ice—or make a detour of nearly 50 miles.

"There is another and more serious aspect to the Vistula situation. On the East Prussian side of the river, near Marienwerder, there is a broad expanse of low-lying alluvial land. This area was reclaimed from swamps with enormous patience and effort by the colonists, mainly Germans and Dutch from the Low Countries, who settled here during the Middle Ages.

"To protect these farms, the Vistula, like the Mississippi, must be kept rigidly within its fixed channel. Under German rule, this was done by means of an elaborate system of dikes, supervised by a Government corps of engineers and experts, who maintained constant vigilance in order to prevent disastrous inundations. But the Poles, who now control both banks, have, either from negligence or for financial and political reasons, permitted the accumulation of deposits of silt and sand, thereby endangering navigation and threatening the dikes with destruction.

"Granting sovereignty over the Vistula to Poland without international responsibility has not only destroyed the immense economic value which this great river formerly possessed, but it has placed in the hands of the Poles a weapon which they have not hesitated to employ against their neighbors."

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

TO BE BRIDESMAID

A DINNER dance in an inclosed Colonial garden built adjoining the Bridlepath Hunt Club will be given tonight by Mr.
and Mrs. Charles E. Bascom, 52
Portland place, in honor of Miss Caroline Kennard, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Richard Scruggs Kennard, and Miss Marjorie McKittrick, daughter of Walter McKittrick, two of the popular debut-antes of the season.

The setting for the party was built to house the hunt ball following the Bridlepath sleepchase races a fortnight ago, with the predominating color notes changed
from the autumn shades of yellow and bronze, to pink and white, and innovations in lighting introduced.

One of the exits of the clubhouse proper has been rebuilt to represent a Southern Colonial doorway
opening on to a pillared gallery, lighted by Japanese lanterns. Pink roses appear to climb the walls, and garden furniture is arranged in groups.

Steps from the piazza lead into a garden where tables will be set for dinner, enclosed by a low red brick wall, outside of which Southern smilax and foliage tied with red and white balloons will add color to the scene. At the far end of the inclosure may be seen the stables of the mansion, and in its court yard an orchestra will play for dancing.

Two long tables, each seating 35
guests, are to be arranged down
the center of the room. Pink damask will cover each, and pink roses surrounded by Colonial silver candelabra filled with lighted pink tapers will form the centerpiece.

Overhead a great revolving mirror
ball will reflect the shades of rose.
Mr. and Mrs. Bascom will entertain 12 of their friends at a smaller table.

The host and hostess will receive their guests in the living room before a background of flowers. Miss McKittrick will be gowning in red satin, and Miss Kennard will wear yellow.

Additional young women
guests will be Miss Caro Holmes, Miss Ann Ferriss, Miss Helen
D'Arcy and her guest, Miss Dwen
Kearney; Miss Eleanor Conant,
Miss Jane Bond, Miss Marian Foley, Miss Marjorie Capen, Miss Sara Benoit, Miss Ellen Walsh,
Miss Mary Bolland Tausig, Miss Jacquelin Chapman, Miss Mary Lucas Hart, Miss Eleanor Hoblitzelle, Miss Caroline Simpson, Miss Jane
Perry Francis, Miss Katherine
Boyd, Miss Amelia Overall, Miss Janet Kauffman and Miss Louise Goddard.

Preceding the Bascom party Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Lucas Hunt will entertain 50 of the debutantes and their escorts at an informal tea at their home, 4915 Pershing avenue,

in honor of their cousin, Miss Mary Lucas Hart; Miss Eleanor Conant
and Miss Caroline Simpson. An old-fashioned silver cup, which has been in the Hunt family for many years has been filled with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums as the center decoration for the table.

The guests, in addition to the guests of honor, will be Miss Caroline Kennard, Miss Ellen Walsh, Miss Sara Benoit, Miss Marjorie McKittrick, Miss Eleanor Hoblit-zelle, Miss Jacquelin Chapman,
Miss Marjorie Capen, Miss Caro

Two parties have been arranged for Miss Caroline Kennard. She will make her debut at a dinner dance to be given at the St. Louis Country Club Christmas eve, with her grandmother, Mrs. Daniel Casey Nugent, as hostess. The party has been changed from Dec. 19. Mr.
and Mrs. Harry Brookings Wallace, 4976 Pershing avenue, uncle and aunt of the debutante, will give a dinner dance for her, also at the Country Club, Dec. 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Maestre, 439 Westminister place, will have
as their guests over the week-end
Mr. and Mrs. Berry McAlester of Columbia, Mo., who will arrive tomorrow. Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Keller of Carrare will give a dinner for 40 guests, which will be attended by the visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Keller recently returned home after spending the summer in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gale
Barstow of the Chesterfield apartments will have as their guest for the Thanksgiving season their niece, Miss Edith Margaret Behr, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Leslie Behr of Lake Forest, Ill. She will arrive Nov.
25 for Miss Eleanor Hoblitzelle's debut ball Thanksgiving night to be given at the St. Louis Country Club by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hoblitzelle of Philadelphia, formerly of St. Louis.

Miss Behr will remain over the week-end to participate in the Thanksgiving parties here, and will make her debut at the Casino Club
in Chicago during the Christmas holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Barstow are planning a party for the visitor
during her stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bernard Behr, who made their home until recently on Wydown terrace, are expected in New York in a few days after a six weeks' trip abroad, and will come to St. Louis in mid-November for a short visit. They will make their home in New York.

Former St. Louis Teacher Dies.

Miss Mary K. Goodall, a former
St. Louisian and a public school teacher here for more than 20 years, died Tuesday at her home at St. Petersburg, Fla. Miss Goodall, who was 91 years old, was a sister of the late Mrs. F. G. Goodard of St. Louis. Before leaving St. Louis
30 years ago, she taught in the Pea-

LEGAL DEPARTMENT STATE OF MISSOURI CITY OF JEFFERSON

Jefferson City, Missouri,
November 4th, 1931.

NOTICE:

I am calling the people's attention to the fact that information has come to me that untrue and unwarranted statements derogatory to and reflecting upon the financial condition of the banks and trust companies of this State have been and are being indulged in and circulated in violation of our Criminal Code.

Section 4120 R. S. Mo. 1929 is a criminal statute and imposes severe punishment, to the extent of a fine of not exceeding $1,000.00 or imprisonment in jail for a period not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, upon any person who shall make, utter,
circulate or transmit to another or others any untrue statement derogatory to the financial condition of any bank or trust company or other financial institution in Missouri, with intent to injure any such institution, or who shall counsel, aid, procure or induce another to originate, make, utter, transmit or circulate any such statement or rumor with like intent. All such rumors and statements are, in my opinion, made for no other purpose than to injure.

It is the duty of every citizen to whom any such derogatory statements are made, to promptly report

CHARLES A. GREATHOUSE DIES;

INDIANA DEMOCRATIC LEADER

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—Charles A. Greathouse, Democratic National Committeeman from Indiana died here yesterday, almost two weeks after he had undergone an operation for gall stones. He was 62 years old and lived in Indianapolis.

Death ended a three-year period of gradually failing health. Mr. Greathouse spent much of the last 36 months of his life in hospitals or sanitariums.

How to Avoid Headache

Just when you're planning to go out and have a good time, along comes "sick headache" and the day is ruined! "Ninety-five per cent of temporal headaches," writes a great specialist "come from one common (and easily remedied) trouble: self-poisoning."

The waste from the food you eat floods your body with dangerous poisons, and headache is only the first of the symptoms that prove this condition is present.

Soon comes dullness, loss of pep, lack of ambition; sallow skins, blotchy complexions, wrinkles. And all so unnecessary!

Our bodies are supposed to protect themselves, you know, against the food-waste poisons by means of a natural fluid (secretion of the glands of the colonic membranes). This fluid fights these poisons and carries them away. If the modern way of living robs us of this fluid, we soon show it by feeling miserable. What can we do?

Your doctor will tell you "take the natural substance (not a drug or medicine) which acts just like the protective body fluid." This is Nujol, colorless and tasteless as pure water, harmless even to a little baby.

Astonishing as it may seem, if you will take a spoonful of Nujol every day for a while you will almost certainly feel better, work better and enjoy life more. The way to brimming, happy health is really very simple and very cheap. Get the crystal-clear bottle today at any drug store and prove it yourself!

McDONALD NAMES CABINET CHIEFLY OF CONSERVATIVES

Henry Betterton (Conservative); First Commissioner of Works, William Ormsby-Gore (Conservative); Secretary for War, Lord Haldane (Conservative); Lord Chancellor, Lord Sankey (National Labor).

Simon's Selection a Surprise. Perhaps the most surprising appointment on the list was the selection of Sir John Simon for the foreign office. Sir John is one of Britain's greatest lawyers and is leader of the "National Liberal Group."

As a cabinet minister Snowden must sit either in the House of Lords or the House of Commons and there is no doubt in any one's mind of his elevation to the peerage shortly.

In the position of Lord President of the Council, Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party, will be available for constant consultation with MacDonald, and the peculiar composition of the national Government is expected to make constant consultation necessary.

A Gilbertian Heresy. One startling breach of tradition is the selection of Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell as First Lord of the Admiralty—he has had practical experience at sea.

Winston Churchill was not included in the new ministry, a development that caused considerable surprise.

The average age of the new Cabinet is 57, compared with 60½ for the first National Government and 60 for the last Labor Cabinet.

Sir Donald MacLean, who is 67, is the oldest member, being the senior of Snowden by a few months. Sir Archibald Sinclair, 41, is the youngest. Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister and William Ormsby-Gore still are in their forties.

MRS. HOOVER DISPLEASED

Further Voice Tests Planned for Today Canceled.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Inquiries to determine the source of the "rumor" that Mrs. Herbert Hoover was having voice tests made were started today by White House personnel.

Mrs. Hoover was displeased at published reports yesterday of sound power tests being set up in the executive mansion to determine which range of her voice was most effective. Further tests planned for today were canceled. Newspapers and photographers were questioned concerning the source of their information that such tests were being made. It was said at the White House that Mrs. Hoover did not plan to hear the results of the first test.

ILLINOIS YOUTH ADMITS KILLING IN HOLDUP

Stepson of Wealthy Resident of Winnetka Arrested in Chicago.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The police announced today that Edward Roehl, 17 years old, stepson of a wealthy resident of Winnetka, had confessed he shot to death E. Russell Thompson, Evanston broker, when Thompson was slow in raising his hands during a holdup a year ago.

Thompson was shot as he turned slowly from the bar of the Lake Avenue Tavern, north of Glenview on the Waukegan road, Nov. 26, 1930.

The youth was one of six men and three women arrested Wednesday night in a raid on an apartment in front of which Roehl was loitering. In his pocket were a pistol and dumdum bullets, and a map of Carthage, N. Y., showing the location of the First National Bank and the roads leading to the Carthage Fairgrounds. Roehl said he and a youth, who was arrested later, intended to rob the bank and escape in a stolen airplane.

Roehl admitted today he led four masked men who held up the Lake Avenue resort, and police said he confessed killing Thompson.

Roehl is the stepson of Robert J. Douglas Jr., North Shore resident and officer of a storage company.

TOLLS ON ST. CHARLES BRIDGE TO BE ABOLISHED THIS MONTH

The St. Charles Bridge carrying U. S. Highway No. 41 over the Missouri River will be freed of tolls some time this month, Probate Judge Hodgdon of St. Louis County announced today.

He is chairman of a citizens' committee that bought the bridge from a private company in July, 1927, for $1,250,000, with permission to pay the purchase price out of tolls.

Up to last June 30 the amount paid off was $1,087,733, including $120,505 which had been earned in the first six months of this year. This left $162,267 due and the committee has received a refund of $70,485 in Federal income taxes, which reduces the amount needed for the balance of the purchase price to $91,772. Judge Hodgdon said the committee, which has had to maintain and operate the structure out of toll income, now has "practically" the cash needed for the final payment. It will not wait until the next payment is due, Dec. 31, to turn the money over, he added.

George W. Huskinson, chairman of the board of the Prudential Casualty and Surety Co. and president of the Prudential Finance Corporation, fell dead at the northwest corner of Sixth and Olive streets at 11 o'clock this morning. Death appeared to be due to natural causes.

Identification was made by Mr. Huskinson's nephew, Paul L. Temple, vice president-secretary of the Prudential Casualty and Surety Co.

Both companies have their offices at 110 North Ninth street. Mr. Huskinson, who was 63 years old and not married, commuted daily from Alton, where he resided in the Stratford Hotel. He was State Insurance Commissioner for Illinois under Gov. Small.

INQUIRY SOUGHT IN DELAY IN FIRE ALARM INSTALLATION

Alderman Kaufmann to Ask for Investigating Committee of Five Members.

A resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of five Aldermen to investigate the delay in equipping city institutions with adequate fire alarm protection will be introduced in the Board of Aldermen today by Alderman Kaufmann, Twenty-fifth Ward.

As has been told, a bill to repeal the ordinance authorizing the expenditure of $150,000 for a fire alarm system is now pending. Kaufmann calls attention to the emergency clause in the ordinance, which was passed by the Board of Aldermen last Feb. 6. His resolution requests an investigation of "the unwarranted delay in carrying out the provisions of this ordinance," and suggests that the committee make a full report of fire hazards in city institutions. He describes the institutions as "crowded beyond capacity."

PETITIONS COURT TO ORDER

SPECIAL E. ST. LOUIS ELECTION

Citizen Begins Suit to Compel Filing of Vacancy Caused by Death of City Judge Cook.

Application for a writ of mandamus to compel East St. Louis officials to call a special election to elect a City Judge to succeed Judge Silas Cook, who died last Aug. 17, was filed in St. Clair County Circuit Court yesterday. Circuit Judge Jesse R. Brown of Alton announced he would hold a hearing on the application Nov. 20.

The application was filed by Timothy A. O'Connor, an East St. Louis attorney, on behalf of O. Piery Harcourt, described as a resident of East St. Louis. The writ would be directed against Mayor Doyle, City Clerk Zierrath and Commissioners James P. Crowe, A. P. Lauman, John Hallahan and John T. Connors.

The petition alleges no primary has been ordered although Judge Cook died with more than a year of his term remaining.

Adolph Zurschelde, 42 years old, well to do hermit, ended his life yesterday by hanging in his one-room apartment here. His land-lord, Harry Moss, said that, although Zurschelde had $30,000 in old overcoats for bedding and other things, he had no money for his living.

CITY HALL RIVALRY FACTOR IN FATE OF ASSESSMENT BILL

With Neun and Nolte Favoring Reform Plan, Mayor's Opposition Is Indicated by Gehner's Attacks

BOARD OF ESTIMATE TO HEAR EXPERTS

Examiner for Comptroller Says Assessor's Changes Would Substitute 'Guesswork' for 'Uniformity.'

The scientific assessment bill, reported favorably by a committee of the Board of Aldermen, was before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment today, but was deferred until next Friday, when Assessor Gehner, City Counselor Muench, E. G. Schukel, of the comptroller's office and C. W. Atkins of the Bureau of Municipal Research will be invited to discuss with the board. The members of the Board of Estimate are the mayor, Comptroller and president of the Board of Aldermen.

The bill, introduced into the Board of Aldermen last June, provides for a system of uniform and scientific assessment of real estate, and lays down rules for such procedure. Approval of the Board of Estimate is required before the measure comes to a final vote of the Aldermen.

Comptroller Nolte and President of the Board of Aldermen were believed to favor the bill. Mayor Miller is not known to favor it, and his appointee, Assessor Gehner, attempted last week to "kill" the bill, while it was still in the hands of the Legislation committee of the Aldermen, by a series of changes which would have amounted to a new measure.

The committee approved the bill and did not accept any of Gehner's amendments. Gehner yesterday gave out a statement, repeating his objections to the bill, and citing City Counselor Muench's opinion that if it should be passed, the Assessor would not be bound by its requirements as he is a State official governed by State law.

Objects to Gehner's Changes. A counter-statement to that of Gehner was prepared by E. G. Muench, examiner of assessments for the Comptroller's office. Muench, who has made a study of Cleveland and St. Paul methods of scientific assessment, declared that Gehner's proposed changes in the bill would remove the elements which insure uniformity, and would leave assessment methods to individual opinion and guesswork.

Really conditions have changed since the question of assessment reform was taken up by business organizations more than two years ago. In the first discussions, it was assumed that scientific and uniform assessment methods would result in an increase, not in individual assessments, but in the assessment total. Alderman Wier, chairman of the special committee which prepared the present bill, said its effect would probably be to increase the total assessed valuation, thus giving the city a needed increase in revenue.

More recently the view has been expressed that a revaluation would reduce the assessments on so many ground values, particularly downtown, as to lower the total assessed revenue. Charles Rippl, representing the Real Estate exchange, said recently that the real estate men would not approve a system unless it would give a fair return to owners of property which, he declared, is over-assessed.

Rivalries at City Hall. Another factor entering into the picture at this stage is the political rivalry of the City Hall. If a new measure were passed by the Board of Aldermen, President Neun of the board might receive credit for its passage, and to his advantage in his expected candidacy for Mayor in 1932. This would not suit Mayor Miller's following, which is opposing Neun's candidacy. Neun is expected to be defeated by Mayor, two to one, in the Board of Estimate, and should prove the assessment bill, the mayor could still veto it after its passage by the Board of Aldermen.

The bill had to be sent to the Board of Estimate because it contains an appropriation for installing a new assessment system. The appropriation probably will be increased from $10,000 to $50,000, as is agreed that the needed work would cost more than the former assessment. Gehner, in his amendment, proposed to employ a building expert and an expert appraiser. Schukel says that, under the assessment methods, the result would be merely to add two more men to the payroll.

CITY HALL RIVALRY FACTOR IN FATE OF ASSESSMENT BILL

With Neun and Nolte Fav-

cated by Gehner's Attacks

BOARD OF ESTIMATE TO HEAR EXPERTS

Examiner for Comptroller Says Assessor's Changes Would Substitute 'Guess-
work' for 'Uniformity.'

The scientific assessment bill, referred favorably by a committee of the Board of Aldermen, was before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment today, but was deferred until next Friday, when Assessor Gehner, City Counselor Joseph E. G. Schubkegel of the comptroller's office and C. W. Atkins of the Bureau of Municipal Research will be invited to discuss with the board. The members of the Board of Estimate are the Mayor, Comptroller and president of the Board of Aldermen.

The bill, introduced into the board of Aldermen last June, proposes for a system of uniform and scientific assessment of real estate,
and lays down rules for such procedure. Approval of the Board of Estimate is required before the measure comes to a final vote of the Aldermen.

Comptroller Nolte and President
Atkins of the Board of Aldermen are believed to favor the bill. Mayor Miller is not known to favor
it, and his appointee, Assessor Gehner, attempted last week to take the hands of the Legislation Committee of the Aldermen, by a series of changes which would be amount to a new measure.

The committee approved the bill
and did not accept any of Gehner's modifications. Gehner yesterday gave out a statement, repeating his objections to the bill, and citing City Counselor Muench's opinion that if it should be passed, the Assessor would not be bound by its requirements, as he is a State official governed by State law.

Objects to Gehner's Changes.
A counter-statement to that of Gehner was prepared by E. G.
Muench, examiner of assessments for the Comptroller's office.
Schubkegel, who has made a study of the Cleveland and St. Paul methods of scientific assessment, declared that Gehner's proposed changes in the bill would remove elements which insure uniformity and would leave assessment
subject to individual opinion and guesswork.

Really conditions have changed
since the question of assessment reform was taken up by business organizations, more than two years ago. In the first discussions, it was assumed that scientific and uniform assessment methods would bring an increase, not in all individual assessments, but in the assessment total. Alderman Wider, chairman of the special committee which prepared the present bill, said its effect would probably be to increase the total assessed valuation, thus giving the city a net increase in revenue.

More recently the view has been expressed that a revaluation would raise the assessments on so many ground values, particularly residential, as to lower the total and reduce revenue. Charles Ripple, representing the Real Estate exchange, said recently that the real estate men would not approve the system unless it would give net to owners of property which,
he declared, is over-assessed.

Rivalries at City Hall.
Another factor entering into the fight at this stage is the political rivalry of the City Hall. If a new measure were passed by the Board of Aldermen, President Neun of the board might receive credit for his leadership in his expected bid for Mayor in 1933. This would not suit Mayor Miller's following, which is opposing Neun.
Comptroller Nolte is expected to side with Neun, but if they should oppose the Mayor, two to one, in the Board of Estimate, and should through the assessment bill, the Mayor could still veto it after its passage by the Board of Aldermen.

The bill had to be sent to the Board of Estimate because it contains an appropriation for installing a new assessment system. The appropriation probably will be increased from $10,000 to $50,000, as it is agreed that the needed work will cost more than the former assessor, Gehner, in his amendments, proposed to employ a building cost expert and an expert appraiser. Schubkegel says that, under the men were versed in modern assessment methods, the result would be merely to add two more men to the payroll.

BOND HOLDERS TO TAKE OVER WATER PLANT AT CARTERVILLE

Federal Court Approves Cancellation of City's Bills.

CARTERVILLE, Ill., Nov. 6.—Bond holders of the water plant here are to take it over Nov. 15, according to a decision in Federal Court at Danville. The plant has been in the hands of a receiver two years.

Recently the bond holders made a proposition to the city to take over the outside plant and to maintain the inside pipe lines, cut the fire hydrant charge, to $1500 a year and cancel the city's present bills. The proposition was accepted.

J. N. SAYRE ON ENTRY OF U. S. INTO LEAGUE

Step Forward, He Says, If We Stipulate No Use of Arms
to Enforce Its Sanction.

Entrance into the League of Nations would be a step toward world peace "provided we stipulated that we would not use our armed forces to enforce any of the League sanctions," John Nevil Sayre, president of the periodical, "World Tomorrow," and vice president of the Committee on Militarism in Education, said yesterday at the City Club.

That statement followed his address in which he referred to the League only through its disarmament conference next February at Geneva, and was made in reply to a question as to whether the entrance of the United States into the League would further or retard the measures he had advocated, including recognition of Russia, remission of war debts, provided Europe gave up reparations, and acknowledgment that Germany was not solely to blame for the World War.

"Plus all the economic factors which caused President Hoover to declare the moratorium," said Sayre, "practically everyone in Germany has a moral objection to continuing the payment of reparations. They are based on the theory of the sole guilt of Germany in starting the war, which no one in Germany believes."

"Scholars in many countries have come to believe and state men have written that the theory is unjustified. Then, says the Germans, 'It is not just that we go on to pay reparations for 50 or 60 years.' Already, they say, they have paid in excess of the actual devastation in France and Belgium, and they object to the pensions and so on with which the reparations bill was padded."

Versailles Treaty "Straight-Jacket."

He said Germans regarded the treaty of Versailles, taking immense territorial wealth from Germany, as a straight-jacket, preventing the nation from playing its rightful part in the world.

"And then we have the burning question of disarmament," he continued. "We promised in the treaty of Versailles that, although we were forcing Germany to disarm, then, that was but the beginning of a general disarmament in Europe. Ten or 12 years have passed now and that general disarmament has not taken place. The Germans say that if we do not begin to fulfill the treaty by next February, we cannot expect them to disarm."

"We have certain trump cards, which will do no good if we simply go on holding them and refuse to play them. First the United States is in position to say to the countries in Europe that we will forgive their war debts, provided they remit German reparations in similar amount. If it is true that prompt action now will help preserve peace in Europe, restore prosperity and keep the Republic in Germany, it is worth all the payments of the next 50 or 60 years, even if we expected to be paid."

For Recognition of Russia.

"Obviously, we are not going to have peace in the world until we come to some settlement about Russia," he continued, remarking that many Europeans believed the Russian Government the most firmly established in Europe. "If our Government alone of the great Powers, refuses to recognize the Communist Government, Russia is the country that, more than any other except Germany, has been suffering from the effects of the Versailles treaty. The United States really wishes to spend less on armament, it would seem common sense that we should be on speaking terms with Russia before the disarmament conference convenes."

"Then we should make some move toward repudiating the charge that Germany was solely guilty in starting the war. A few years ago a commission was appointed by the Senate to make a report on the charge embodied in our separate treaty with Germany, but the commission's report is still buried in the Library of Congress and has never come before a committee."

"If psychology is an important thing, it would be worthwhile for the Senate to get out that report and, if it finds the charge seems false, to revise it, which would put it up to the people who signed the Treaty of Versailles and would strengthen the hands of the people who really want peace in Germany."

CHICAGO LIQUOR DEALER SHOT TO DEATH AT CIGERO CLUB

Junior Sweeping Floor and Singing Near the Body When Police Arrive.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Salvatore La Verdo, boyhood playmate of Jake Guzik, Dennis Cooney and other gangsters, was shot to death yesterday in the Italian-American Club in Cicero.

Cicero police said they had no motive to advance for La Verdo's death, but said he had been engaged in the liquor traffic. La Verdo, police records show, had been arrested in Milwaukee and New York for liquor law violations.

Police were notified of the shooting in an anonymous telephone call. When they arrived, Frank Cicale, janitor of the club, was sweeping the floor.

Cicale was singing "O Sole Mio." Ten feet away lay La Verdo's body. When questioned, Cicale replied: "No speak English."

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY LOGS

Missourian Was Unloading Timber to Build Home at Kennett.

KENNETT, Mo., Nov. 6.—Ted Harris, 25 years old, was killed yesterday when crushed under logs, he was unloading at Fry Mill, east of here. He was hauling the logs to a site where he planned to build a home.

He is survived by his widow and a 2-year-old daughter; a brother, Ben Harris, and his mother, of Kennett, and two sisters, Mrs. H. W. Thmann of St. Louis and Mrs. Joe Harper of Sarasota, Fla.

RESCUED FROM BURNING BED

BENTON, Ill., Nov. 6.—With her clothing and bedding in flames, fireman yesterday carried Mrs. Lillian Garrison to safety. The woman suffered painful burns. The fire apparently had started near the bed as other portions of the house were not ablaze.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS SWEEP STATE OFFICES

Majority for Judge Laffoon Largest Given Any Governor in 30 Years.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—Votes that piled up beyond the most sanguine hopes of Democratic leaders, swept Kentucky's State administration to the Democratic party. The majority given Circuit Judge Ruby Laffoon of Madisonville ranged above 60,000, or greater than given any Kentucky Governor in 30 years. Democratic leaders predicted it would reach 75,000 to 80,000 and Harris W. Coleman, Republican State Chairman, conceded defeat.

The 62-year-old jurist's defeat of Mayor William B. Harrison, Louisville Republican, 20 years his junior, came on the heels of a fight by the party last spring over the decision to nominate by convention instead of primary. Mayor Harrison had a bitter factional fight in his home county, but little of it was heard openly after the Republican convention overwhelmingly nominated him.

Returns from 361 of the State's 417 precincts gave Laffoon 136,419 and Harrison 274,986, a lead of 41,567. Laffoon swept his entire ticket into office and Democrats pulled up larger majorities in Senate and House than in many years. The trend indicated possibly 27 of the 35 Senators and nearly 70 of the 100 members of the House would be of Laffoon's party.

William C. Hanna, Shelbyville, Republican candidate for Railroad Commissioner, in the Second District, appeared to be the only member of his party, aside from Senators and Representatives, who had a chance. He held a scant lead over Oscar Vest, Carrollton Democrat, but Vest relied on Democratic precincts yet to come to swing him in only half the precincts had been counted.

The Democratic swing from the 1928 Hoover landslide, although it had been indicated in several Congressional elections and in the Democratic victory last year in the material campaign, was hailed by party leaders as a response to Judge Laffoon's plea for repudiation of the Hoover administration and that of Elihu D. Sampson, Republican Governor.

CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICEMAN HE'PED FINANCE COMMUNISTS

Spent Seven Years and His Own Money to Make Conspiracy Case.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Not only did Sergeant John Leopold of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sit for seven years in the councils of Communist leaders while he gathered evidence against them, but he also helped finance their work with his own money when their funds ran low, he testified yesterday in the trial of nine alleged Communists charged with conspiracy.

The officer told how during those seven years he spent much of his spare time in a close study of the Communist movement, so he might not be suspected of a lack of sympathy. He read many textbooks,
he said, and all the orders received from Moscow.

In spite of these precautions,
however, he said he was "called down for falling down on the job."
In order to reassure the Communists of his "loyalty," he then made it a practice to take part in all of the many demonstrations that were held. At one time he said, he used funds of his own to "hide the organization over."

Finally his associates learned his true identity and expelled him.
When the witness expressed annoyance at the failure of the Communists to give him a chance to "defend" himself, counsel for the men
on trial asked:

"Did you feel they should have given you an opportunity to explain?"
"Well, yes, I rather did," Leopold answered.

SUBDIVISION PROMOTION FIRM SUED BY LOT PURCHASER

Appointment of Receiver Asked for Better Built Home and Mortgage Co.

Suit for a receiver for the Better
Built Home and Mortgage Co., 308
North Sixth street, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stender and Rose Truskoski, purchasers of lots in one of the company's subdivisions.

They alleged the lots never have been freed of an incumbrance in the form of a Government tax lien, which was one of the conditions of the purchase. The petitioners conceded that the company has sufficient assets to meet all claims if the business is properly handled.

Charles DeLargy, president, explained that the Government tax lien would be issued in the near future.
The company is promoting subdivisions known as Larimore, North Pointe and The Hill of the Gateway. Judge Hartmann set the re-ceivership petition for hearing next Thursday.

WILL FORBIDDING HEIR TO GO INTO SALOON DECLARED VOID

Australian Judge Says Such Restriction in Bequest Is Unfair.

By the Associated Press.
SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 6.—The late William MacDougall's son now may enter a saloon and drink a glass of beer any time he desires.

William MacDougall, during his lifetime would not allow his son to enter a saloon and stipulated in his will that the son should not inherit his fortune if he disobeyed him after death. The equity court has decided the will was unjust.

KILLED BY WIFE'S NEPHEW INDIANA POISON KILLING

JURY UNABLE TO AGREE

By the Associated Press.
LEBANON, Ind., Nov. 6.—The jury which heard the trial of Mrs.
Carrie Simmons, charged with poisoning her 10-year-old daughter, Alice Jean, was discharged last night when it reported it was unable to agree on a verdict. The jury had been out nearly 48 hours.

The case was given to the jury
at 5:45 p. m., Tuesday, after a trial which started Sept. 28. The State contended Mrs. Simmons, 47-year-old wife of a Hancock County farmer, had inserted poison-filled capsules into pressed chicken sandwiches which she prepared for a family reunion picnic last June 21. Alice Jean, and her sister Virginia, 14, ate the sandwiches and died. Several other persons were made seriously ill.

BIG CLINE IN IMMIGRATION

Number for September, However,
Is Highest in Current Year.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—More immigrants arrived in the United States in September than in any month of 1931, but even the 5017
who landed were less than one-third of the number arriving in September, 1930.

The arrivals in September of this year were 1073 more than in August and compared with 17,792 in September, 1930. Labor Department reports list deportations in September at 1446, making a total of 4711 for the first three months of the current fiscal year. The largest number of immigrants—1142—came from Canada.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning.
I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE.
I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness.
For a steady diet, they want a cigarette
like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day
are changing to CHESTERFIELD.

Good... they've got to be good.

OUR FOREIGN FRIENDS OFFER THESE RECIPES

England, Scotland and Italy Contribute Appetizing Dishes.

From Italy and the British Isles
we draw this week's foreign recipes which include veal and eggs as prepared by Italians, Scotch short bread so good with jam or marmalade
for tea, and Cornish pastie, which is a savory combination of pie crust, potatoes and ham.

Italian Stewed Veal.
Brown one pound veal in two tablespoons olive oil and two tablespoons butter, season with salt and pepper and add one-half onion, a tiny bit of garlic, one small carrot,
and two stalks of celery all cut fine.
Mix one tablespoon flour smooth
with a little water and add one cup tomato juice. Cover meat with this and cook slowly until tender, adding water if necessary. Add one-half cup cooked mushrooms toward the end. Make a border of hot spaghetti around the platter on which meat is served.

Eggs Florentine.
In the bottom of a buttered baking dish, put a layer of cooked spinach which has been mixed with thick white sauce. Make depressions in the spinach like nests for as many eggs as desired. Into each nest drop an egg, season with salt and pepper, cover eggs and spinach with a little thick white sauce, and dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes until eggs are firm.

Scotch Short Bread.
Sift three and one-half cups flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-half cup sugar on a bread board. Break one cup butter in small pieces and work into dry ingredients by pressing with palm of hand until it is smooth.

Make the dough into a ball and roll out about three-fourths of an inch thick. Place in a pan with high sides to prevent the short bread from browning too quickly around the edges, and prick the surface with a fork. Bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes. Allow short bread to stand an hour or two before serving so that it becomes crisp and thoroughly set,
then break into pieces.

Cornish Pastie.
Make pie crust using a little less shortening than usual. Roll very thin and cut in strips. Fill center of each with raw potatoes sliced
very thin, same amount of ham,
minced cooked, and a little minced onion. Season, dot with butter, and fold crust over so that each pastie is sealed. Bake about 40 minutes in moderate oven. About four inches long and three inches wide is a good size for the finished pastie.

BEEF AND HAM GUMBO
IN RICE RING
Cook three-fourths pound cured
ham, diced, and one pound beef, diced, in a large, heavy skillet. Add two tablespoons chopped parsley,
one onion, one green pepper,
chopped fine; one-half cup chopped
celery, and cook for a few minutes.
Add one pint water and one quart
canned tomatoes, cover and simmer until meat is tender. Add one quart okra, cut crosswise, and seasoned with salt, pepper and celery seed,
and let simmer until okra is tender and stew has thickened. Serve the gumbo in a rice ring made as follows:

Rice Ring.
Wash one cup of rice well and sprinkle into four cups of rapidly boiling water, to which has been added one teaspoon of salt. Cook for about 20 minutes, or until the rice is tender and the water absorbed. Add two tablespoons of butter and two dashes of tabasco sauce. Put in a well greased mold.
Reheat in the oven, turn onto a round platter, fill the center with gumbo and serve at once.

BROWN BREAD
Dissolve one teaspoon of soda in one cup of sour milk. Mix together one cup of sorghum molasses, one cup of sweet milk, three cups of graham flour, not sifted, one teaspoon of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Bake in a moderate oven for about one hour. Remove from oven and allow bread to cool
before removing from pans.
If you have not the regular brown bread pans take one-pound baking powder cans and fill half full using the lid for cover. Grease
the regular pans, fill bottom of pan
full, put on top and fasten. Raisins or nuts added make the bread more palatable.

SUNSHINE CAKE
Boil one and one-half cup of sugar and one-half cup of water until it threads when dropped from a spoon. Pour the cooled syrup
in a fine stream upon the beaten whites of six eggs to which salt has been added, beating until cold.
Then add the well beaten yolks of the six eggs.

Sift one cup of flour and measure, add three-fourths teaspoon of cream of tartar, and sift three times. Fold very carefully into the egg mixture, add one teaspoon of orange extract. Pour into an ungreased foot pan and bake 50 to 60 minutes in a moderate oven.
When done invert to cool.

BRAN BREAD
Mix together one cup bran, one and two-thirds cups graham flour,
one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon salt, a scant one-quarter
cup sugar, one-third cup molasses,
one teaspoon soda, and a large cup
of buttermilk.
Mix dry ingredients first, and add others slowly, mixing very thoroughly. Make into one loaf and put in hot oven, then lower heat and bake for about an hour.

PRUNES AND APRICOTS FOR CREAM FUDGE

Prunes, apricots and other dried fruits nowadays seldom need soaking before cooking. Put fruit in pan with water to cover and simmer for 40 to 60 minutes, until tender. If cooked uncovered, the liquid will evaporate more rapidly, but the fruit will take a little longer to cook. Sweeten just before removing from the fire. Prunes are a good source of food iron, and are an excellent food to use raw or cooked.

Stewed prunes and apricots are a favorite breakfast fruit combina-

Nothing Better in Macaroni or Spaghetti Sauce

tion. Cook enough of each so that you can make an apricot cream pie or an apricot-prune cream pie for another meal. This is done by making the stewed fruit very thick with flour or corn starch and pouring it into a baked pie shell. Chill and serve with a thick layer of whipped cream spread over the top.

Chocolate Cream Pie.
Scald three cups milk. Beat two eggs. Mix one cup sugar with one-half cup cocoa, one-half teaspoon salt and five tablespoons cornstarch. Stir into the eggs and beat to mix. Gradually add the scalded milk, stirring constantly. Return to saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, smooth and creamy. Remove from fire, add two teaspoons vanilla extract and cool slightly. Bake pastry over an inverted pie plate, using a hot oven. Cool, fill with the chocolate mixture and chill. Cover with a thick layer of whipped sweetened cream before serving.

TWO DIFFERENT ICE CREAMS FOR SPECIAL OCCASIONS

Peppermint Ice Cream.

Heat one-half pint of single cream, add one-fourth teaspoon of salt and stir into this two-thirds cup of sugar. Mix with one pint cream and add sufficient coloring to make a soft green and enough peppermint essence for delicate flavor. Add one-half pint double cream. Use freezing mixture of one part salt and four to six parts of ice and turn the freezer slowly. After freezing, remove the dasher, pack the freezer with more ice and salt and let stand for an hour or more to ripen. If less rich ice cream is desired, use all single cream.

Peppermint Ice Cream.
Take one quart of single cream. Heat one cup of the cream to the boiling point, add one-half cup of sugar and one and one-half to two cups of ground peanut brittle and stir until well blended. Mix with the remaining cream and one-fourth teaspoon of salt. Use a freezing mixture of one part salt and four to six parts of ice and turn the crank of the freezer slowly. After freezing, remove the dasher, pack the freezer with more ice and salt, and let stand for an hour or more to ripen.

Jellied Apples.
Pare and core small firm apples. Make a syrup of two cups sugar and two cups water, colored with red fruit coloring or red cinnamon drops. Drop in the apples and simmer until they are transparent. Remove carefully from the syrup, place in individual dishes and pour the syrup around them. When cold the syrup will jelly. Serve with whipped cream as a dessert, or use with roast fowl or roast pork.

PLANNING THE MENU; RECIPES FOR WEEK

The Importance of Good Luncheons for School Children Is Stressed.

Children's home luncheons are important items in the week's menus published in this section and the noonday meals are planned to be particularly pleasing to the boys and girls who rush home for the brief midday period.

Too often they dash in, eat a little hurriedly and are off again without the proper nourishment so necessary to their welfare. A little thought, and above all, meals attractively served with an occasional novelty will make the luncheon interesting. Soup is always good for almost every child will eat it, and it is easily digested and nutritious.

So soups are to be found on the week's menus, and as a special treat oyster soup is scheduled for the Friday luncheon.

Monday a luncheon of cream of broccoli soup makes the main dish. This is made from the stalks and any leftover broccoli of Sunday. The bones of Sunday's chicken make the stock for the soup for lunch on Tuesday. Season it with celery and onion and thicken with rice. Canned chicken soup mixed with milk may be used instead of making the soup at home if more convenient, or for those times when there are no chicken bones for the stock.

Scrambled eggs on toast serve as the main dish on Wednesday. Eggs are a necessary part of every child's diet, but now that they are becoming a little more expensive than they have been during the spring and summer months, most of us will have to use them more sparingly. They should be served at least twice a week however—this week we use them poached for breakfast one morning, and scrambled for lunch. In addition there will, of course be some used for cooking, which will bring up the total amount used.

Creamy Rice Pudding.
Wash one-fourth cup rice and boil for five minutes in two cups boiling water. Remove from fire, stir in one can sweetened condensed milk, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon grated nutmeg and one cup hot water. Pour into a baking dish and bake in a slow oven for 40 minutes. Stir in one tablespoon butter and continue baking 40 minutes longer until the pudding is thick and creamy and slightly browned on top.

Baked Beef Hash.
Cut cold pot roast in slices and put through meat chopper, using medium knife. Measure, and to three cups chopped meat, add three cups chopped cold potatoes, one medium sized onion, chopped, salt and pepper to season, two tablespoons minced green pepper and one and one-half cups pot roast gravy. Mix and pack into a well greased baking pan, having the hash in a layer about one and one-half inches thick. Brush the top with melted fat and bake in a hot oven for 30 minutes until brown and crusty on top and hot throughout.

Luncheon Cookies.
Cream together one cup sugar and one-half cup shortening—at least half of which is butter. When well blended add 2 eggs and beat to a smooth, thick cream. Next stir in two tablespoons milk and one-fourth teaspoon grated nutmeg. Sift two and one-half cups flour with one teaspoon baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add to liquid mixture and mix well. Shape into a long roll, wrap in parchment or heavy waxed paper and chill thoroughly. Cut down in very thin slices and sprinkle each lightly with granulated sugar. Place on a greased baking sheet and bake 8 minutes in a hot oven. To make soft sugar cookies, follow this same recipe, using one and one-half cups sugar and one-third cup shortening. Roll to a scant fourth inch thickness, shape and bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes.

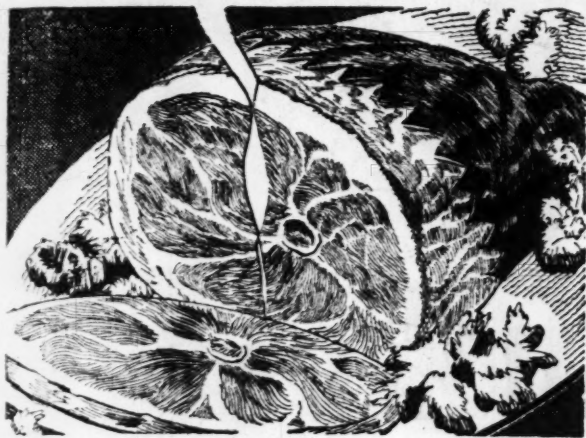

Pressed Chicken.
Boil one chicken until tender, pick the meat from the bones and remove all the skin; season with salt and pepper, boil liquid left in kettle down to measure about two cups; add one cup crumbled rusk rolled fine. Mix all ingredients and put in a deep mold; set in cool place two or three hours. Serve with hot buttered rusk.

Rye Wafers.
Flat, unsweetened wafers made of rye flour are delicious with salads and may be bought at many stores. Crisp them in a warm oven and serve with butter. They add the necessary contrast in texture, especially with fruit salads, and also are valuable for the bulk content they add to the meal.

Baked Eggs and Cheese.
Break the desired number eggs in a shallow, greased pan dish, add a few tablespoons cream and salt enough to season and sprinkle with a mixture of grated cheese and fine dry breadcrumbs. Set this dish in a pan containing hot water and bake at moderate even until the eggs are set and the crumbs are brown. Before serving add a few dashes

BAKING POWDER IN HIGH FAVOR AGAIN

Revival of Home Baking General, and Many Old Favorites Come Back.

Whether it is an economy measure or "back to the home kitchen"
movement, or, like the Empress Eugenie hat vogue, just something no one can explain, certainly there is a decided increase in home cake,
biscuit and other baking.

On all hands, women are talking of making this or that "like I used to make," and one woman last week said that baking powder now was a regular item on her store list—for the first time in years, she added.
Another woman gives us her recipe for "Grandmother's Lady Cake,"

which she found in an old cookbook the other day. It calls for two cups sugar creamed with one cup butter, the sugar being added very slowly. Then add one cup milk and one teaspoon vanilla, alternately with flour mixture, which includes three cups pastry flour sifted with three teaspoons baking powder and one tablespoon corn starch. Last fold in whites of five eggs beaten stiff. Bake about an hour in a loaf in moderate oven.
Ice with any favorite icing.

Fudge Cake.
And here is a rich dark cake
which is especially good when there are young people invited to a Sunday night supper, for fudge is dear
to the school taste.

Sift together two cups of flour
previously sifted, two teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Cream one-half cup butter, add one cup of sugar slowly, creaming again. Add two square of grated unsweetened chocolate, one beaten egg and a little vanilla. Beat all together, add three-fourths cup milk, beat and add slowly the flour mixture. Bake in loaf pan and ice.

BRAISED OXTAIL

One oxtail (cut in two-inch pieces), two tablespoons fat, two small onions, one carrot, one tablespoon chopped celery, two tablespoons flour, one cup hot water,
one cup tomatoes, three bay leaves,
three whole cloves, salt and pepper.

Saute the pieces of oxtail in the fat. Add the sliced onion, carrot and chopped celery, and brown all together. Sprinkle with browned flour. Add the hot water, tomatoes, bay leaves, cloves, salt and pepper.
Put into a casserole and cook slowly until the meat falls from the bones.

CREAMED SARDINES

Drain oil from one box of sardines, remove backbones and mash.
Melt one-fourth cup butter and add one-fourth cup stale bread crumbs and one cup milk.
Heat and add two hard-boiled eggs finely chopped, the mashed sardines, salt and paprika to taste.
Serve on toast.

Bond Bread now brings you
the one SCARCE vitamin!

...sunshine vitamin-D

HAPPIER HEALTH

YOUR physician or dentist, or the doctor who takes care of your baby, will tell you that good health, proper growth,
sound teeth and strong bones depend upon getting plenty of sunshine vitamin-D.

And yet sunshine vitamin-D is the scarcest of all the vitamins. Your daily food provides plenty of all the others.
But even the best diets have failed to furnish the amount of vitamin-D you need.

The direct ultra-violet rays of sunshine itself would be our best source of vitamin-D, if we could spend enough time outdoors. But we can't, or don't. That's why scientists sought a way to endow a food with enough sunshine vitamin-D.

They found the way and chose Bond Bread for this great honor. As a result,
just one or two slices of Bond each meal
now give you all the extra vitamin-D you need. No other bread brings you this health-giving protective vitamin. No other table food gives you enough.

Study the table at left. You can rely on what it tells you. And then ask your grocer for sunshine vitamin-D Bond Bread. It's the same home-like loaf whose delicious taste and firm texture are assured by exclusive Flavor-Peak Rising.

INTERNATIONAL FOOD EXPERT GIVES ADVICE

Mrs. Wallace Offers Many Practical Suggestions to St. Louis Women.

That good food habits are as important as other well regulated habits was stressed by Mrs. Lily Haxworth Wallace, internationally known diet and food expert, in a series of St. Louis lectures this week.

Mrs. Wallace, who is a former national president of the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science, and a graduate of the National Training School of London, is the author of a recently published cookbook, which is the last word in complete and widely varied cookery and home economics.

Food, she asserts, must not only be palatably prepared, but it must contain in proper proportions the basic elements needed to repair the constant destruction of tissues, and to help make strong bones, sound teeth and flexible muscles, and at the same time contain sufficient roughage.

Balanced rations, she believes, need not be a technical and difficult subject to the average woman, if only a little thought and attention are directed to establishing good food habits in her family through study of food values and careful preparations.

CABBAGE HINTS

Cabbage is one of the cheapest and best of vegetables, and is also one of the few that is good all year around. For the best flavor and in order to have the most possible food value, cook cabbage quickly and only long enough to make it tender. If the cabbage is cut in small pieces, this means about 10 minutes.

The strong odor that is so often objectionable when cooking cabbage can be avoided if the vegetable is cooked quickly in an uncovered kettle. The sulphur compounds which are responsible for the odor are not developed unless cabbage cooks a longer time and is closely covered.

APRICOT SNOW PUDDING

Mix six tablespoons of cornstarch with six tablespoons of sugar and a pinch of salt; combine with one-half cup milk. Scald two cups of water and add, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, afterwards occasionally; cook 15 minutes in double boiler, cool slightly, add juice of one-third lemon and whites of two eggs beaten stiff; mix well, mold, chill.

Serve with apricot sauce, made in the following way: Wash and soak one cup dried apricots. Cook in three cups of water until very soft. Rub through a sieve and put back in sauce pan, add sugar to taste and a bit of lemon juice.

Sweet Potatoes With Oranges.

This is fine with pork or chicken. Boil medium-sized sweet potatoes without peeling. When tender, peel and cut across in inch thick slices. Place in a well greased baking pan and on each slice put a slice of peeled orange. Sprinkle with light brown sugar and dot with a small piece of butter on each slice. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Baste with the juice that forms in the pan. Serve hot. Small slices of pineapple or rounds of apple may be substitutes for the orange.

Brussels Sprouts Salad.
Sprinkle French dressing over a quart of sprouts, cooked and drained, then cover and chill. At one side of salad plate lay thinly sliced tongue and pickles. Canned Brussels sprouts are as good as the fresh for salad.

Broiled Fillets of Fish.
Grease the broiler rack with drippings or bacon fat. Lay on it the fillets of fish which have been dipped into flour, then brushed over with oil. Cook under a very hot broiler until golden brown and serve with plain melted butter or creamed butter into which a drop of lemon juice and a tablespoon of finely minced parsley have been worked.

What will the years
BRING YOUR FAMILY?

SO OFTEN the health and happiness of a family is influenced by the foods they eat. Meals that lack "bulk" or Vitamin B frequently lead to constipation. This treacherous ailment often causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, and serious illness.

Your own family's happiness next month, next year, will be affected by the health-precautions they take today. Guard against constipation now.

Fortunately, you can obtain two correctives of common constipation ("bulk" and Vitamin B) in one delicious cereal. The "bulk" in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

The Vitamin B in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN tones the intestinal tract, and helps promote regular habits. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also contains twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is far better than pills or drugs, which bring artificial action, and often lead to harmful habits.

Two tablespoonfuls daily of this delicious cereal are usually sufficient to prevent and relieve most types of constipation. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal or use in cooking. Tempting recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

LIVER NOW A POPULAR ITEM ON MANY MENUS

More Frequently Served and Used in Rice and Potato Combinations.

In the past year or so, liver has become an important item of food.
Formerly, it was seldom served and then generally with a half apology.
Since many of the medical profession have advocated eating liver
as a factor in building up health, it appears much more often on the menu.

Liver and bacon is the time-honored method of serving this, but there are many other receipts which will permit much more frequent use of liver.

Scalloped Liver and Potatoes.

One pound liver, sliced thin, season with salt and pepper and brown lightly in two tablespoons of bacon fat. Slice thinly one quart of raw potatoes and one small onion minced. Place a layer of potatoes in a greased baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper, add some of the liver and onion, and continued until all are served. The top layer should be of potatoes. Pour on one and a half cups milk, cover and bake one hour in a moderate oven, or until the potatoes are tender. At the last remove the cover and allow the potatoes to brown on top.

Liver and Rice Loaf.

Cook one-half cup of rice in four cups of boiling water and do not drain; but let the rice absorb the water so as to form a sticky mass which will act as a binder for the loaf. Wipe one pound of sliced liver with a damp cloth. Sprinkle the liver with salt and flour and cook in two tablespoons of fat for about three minutes in a skillet.
Remove the liver and grind or chop
it very fine.

Cook one small onion chopped
fine, one cup of chopped celery,
or one-quarter cup chopped celery,
in the drippings for a few minutes, add two tablespoons of flour,
one cup of tomatoes, canned or fresh, and stir briskly until thickened. Then mix all the ingredients until thoroughly blended, form into a loaf with the hands on parchment paper, place in an open baking pan. Bake about 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Baked Liver.

Take a calf's liver and wash, scald, then roll in flour. Place in bottom of baking pan strips of cabbage on, put liver on top and lay strips of bacon on that. Put a little water in pan and bake in oven
for an hour, basting frequently.
Take liver from oven when done,
a put on hot serving dish; squeeze
juice of lemon in pan in which liver was baked. Add a little water and pour over liver, placing thin slices
of fried bacon around the edge.

CASSEROLE NOODLES WITH MUSHROOMS AND CHEESE

Cook four dozen egg noodles in boiling salted water until tender, then drain. Cook egg plant until tender and have two cups mashed.
Peel one pound mushrooms and cut in slices, cooking in four tablespoons butter for about 10 minutes.

Make a sauce of two cups milk,
one tablespoon flour and one-quarter pound cream pimento cheese.

Place half of noodles in greased baking dish, cover with half of egg plant, then half of the mushrooms.
Pour half of prepared sauce over this, then add remaining ingredients in like layers, pouring last of sauce over top. Bake about 45 minutes in moderately hot oven.

CUP CAKES

Sift one and two-thirds cup cake
flour, add one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Cream one-third cup butter, add one cup sugar slowly, and cream until light. Add two eggs well beaten.
Add flour mixture alternately
with one-half cup milk, beating after each addition. Add one teaspoon vanilla. Pour into greased muffin pans, filling about two-thirds full. Bake in moderate oven about 25 minutes.

Ginger is not as much used as it might be for flavoring. It is a delicious addition to many items, and is given to show just how good a little touch of ginger is.

Mix two tablespoons corn starch
with one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon ginger. Add two cups water and cook until thickened. Put in double boiler and cook slowly for about 15 minutes more. Take off and stir in one teaspoon vanilla and one tablespoon butter.

Ginger Muffins.

Mix and sift one and three-fourths cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon each of cinnamon, ginger and sugar. Stir in one unbeaten egg, one-half cup sour milk and one-half cup molasses. Blend all well, and add one-fourth cup melted shortening. Bake about 20 minutes in greased muffin pans.

Gingerbread.

Cream one-half cup sugar and one-half cup of mixed lard and butter. Add one beaten egg and one cup molasses. Sift together two and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon each of ginger, cinnamon,

one-half teaspoon each of cloves
and salt. Add one cup hot water last and beat until smooth. Bake in moderate oven about 35 minutes.

Walnut Coffee Filling.

Cream together one cup butter and one cup powdered sugar. Add two tablespoons of strong coffee
and one cup of chopped walnuts
and spread between cake layers.

DUMPLINGS FOR CHICKEN AND MEAT STEWS

Put one tablespoon butter in steaming pan, add one cup milk, and when butter is melted and milk
scalded, stir in quickly one cup
flour, stir and cook until it leaves side of pan. Remove from fire and cool for a few minutes, then beat
in one well-beaten egg.

Mold into balls about size of an egg and drop into chicken or meat

liquid which should be boiling.
Cover and cook about 10 minutes,
keeping it covered all the time.
Dumplings should be dropped in just in time to cook before serving
so that they will be very hot.

Grilled Sardines With Mustard.

Under the broiler flame, grill
sardines and season with a dash of lemon juice. Spread fingers of toast or crisp biscuits with butter and mustard. Serve the sardines on the toast or biscuit.

Baked Turnips With Cheese.

Peel turnips and cut in small pieces. Cook in salted water until tender, drain and mash. Season with salt, pepper, butter and sugar.
Put a layer of turnips in a greased baking dish, then a layer of grated cheese. Repeat until all the turnip is used. Cover top with a layer of cheese. Sprinkle with paprika
and bake in a hot oven 20 minutes, or until the cheese melts and begins to brown.

SOURMILK BISCUITS

Put one quart flour one teaspoon soda, a little salt, a heaping tablespoon of mixed lard
and butter, and when well mixed add one cup sour milk.
The dough should be as stiff as bread dough. Knead for 10 minutes until perfectly smooth. Mould into little rolls and flatten with the rolling pin. Sink the tops with a silver fork, the bake for about 15 minutes.

Hot Roast Beef Sandwich.
Arrange sliced roast beef on buttered bread from which crust has been removed. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and grated horseradish.

Cover with second slice of bread
and pour gravy over sandwich.
Dried Pea Soup.
Boil one quart dried peas which have been soaked overnight before with three chopped onions, three potatoes, pepper and salt for three hours, mash them all and press
through a sieve, the thicken with flour and butter, gently browned.
Have some toast bread cut into dice and fried in butter. Put these in the tureen, then pour over them
the soup.

THE GUESTS LIKE LUNCHEON PATTIES

Sweetbreads and Oysters, Chicken and Other Fillings Are Appreciated.

Nothing more delicious for the guest luncheon than patties and they rather simplify the menu
problem, for not much else is required beyond a simple salad, coffee and ices and little cakes for dessert.

Chicken is rather the more obvious patty filling, but there are many others also.

For economy patties which really are good, dice cold cooked veal, heat in a white sauce, flavored with minced green peppers, and fill patty shells. Tuna fish in white sauce with canned peas is also a cheap
patty filler.

But for the luncheon when one
can forget economy and elegance, chicken or sweetbread and oyster
patties are suggested.

Chicken Patty.
Dice cooked chicken when cool.
Make a sauce of two cups of milk blended with four tablespoons butter into which four tablespoons flour have been rubbed. Season with salt and pepper. Warm chicken in sauce, adding one-half cup cooked mushrooms, a little pimento
and a dash of paprika.

Sweetbread and Oyster Patties.
Boil a pair of sweetbreads in salted water for 30 minutes and then place in cold water to chill.
Cut into cubes. Cook 24 oysters in their own juice until they curl.
Drain and add to the sweetbreads.
Make two cups well seasoned white sauce, add oysters and sweetbreads
to it. Pour into heated patty shells, sprinkle tops with chopped parsley
and serve immediately.

RAISIN BREAD

Mix and sift together two cups
flour, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, three teaspoons ginger, one teaspoon salt, and one teaspoon baking powder. Put one cup molasses and one-third cup shortening in saucepan and heat
slowly until well mixed.

Beat one egg, add one-half cup sweet milk, then molasses mixture and dry ingredients. Bake in greased shallow pan in moderate oven for about 25 minutes.

RAISIN CHARLOTTE RUSSE
Soak seedless raisins in orange juice for several hours, then drain off all juice. Allow one cup of raisins to one pint of cream. Whip cream and flavor with one teaspoon vanilla extract; add four tablespoons powdered sugar and the raisins.

Line sherbet glasses with split
lady fingers or thin slices of sponge cake and put the charlotte russe
in the center. Garnish the top with raisins.

FRIED SCALLOPS

One pint scallops, fresh or canned, salt and pepper, corn flake crumbs, beaten eggs.
Wash the scallops, drain and dry them thoroughly. Season fine corn flake crumbs with salt and pepper,
dip the scallops in beaten egg, then
in the crumbs, and fry in hot fat (350 degrees Fahrenheit) for two minutes. If preferred, they may be simply seasoned and rolled in flour and then fried. Serve with tartar sauce.

QUICK CHARLOTTE RUSSE

Put a pint of cream on ice for half an hour. Line a mold with lady fingers. Then beat cream until thick like butter. Add gradually one cup granulated sugar, then one teaspoon vanilla and the whites of three eggs beaten very stiff.

Fill the lady finger mold and pack in ice or put in mechanical refrigerator for about two hours before serving.

Marshmallows and Bananas

Peel and split bananas, and place flat side up in a baking pan. Cut marshmallows in halves, using two whole or four halves to each half of banana. Place on the split banana, and bake in a moderate oven about 10 minutes, until marshmallows are brown.

PORK IS GOOD FOR A TWO-SOME MEAL

Tenderloins, Spare Ribs and Sausage Suggested for the Small Meal.

A large pork roast is out of the question, of course, for the family
of two, but breaded pork chops, tenderloin stuffed and baked with a cream dressing, sausage and spare ribs are all good now that colder weather has come.

Sweet potatoes, fried apples or apple sauce always seem to be especially good when served with pork.

One important thing to always remember when cooking pork in any form is that it must be thoroughly and slowly cooked. Otherwise it is not easily digestible.

Tenderloin costs a little more than other forms of pork, but every bit can be eaten. To bake, split the tenderloin and rub with a little butter. Combine bread crumbs, a little minced onion and celery, melted butter and boiling water to make right consistency.
Spread on the tenderloin, season
with salt and pepper, fold and tie with a string. Bake about 50 minutes in hot oven. Put a little hot water in bottom of the pan, and baste with it.

Spare Ribs.
This is an inexpensive dish, but as there is a lot of bone in spare ribs you will have to make allowance for it in buying. Buy about two pounds for two persons; this will probably be in two strips.
Wipe with a damp cloth, spread
one section with the following mixture, cover with the other piece of meat and tie the two sections together.
For the filling mix 1 cup bread-
crumbs with 1 cup chopped apples,
1 tablespoon chopped onion, salt and pepper to season, and 1 tablespoon sugar. Before baking rub the outside of the spare ribs with 2 tablespoons flour mixed with salt and pepper. Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes until brown, then reduce the heat and cook for 45 minutes longer until very tender.
Baste with the fat in the pan every 10 or 15 minutes.

Sausage With Apples.
Buy 1/2 pound sausage meat and shape into 4 flat cakes. Core 2 firm, tart, apples and cut across in half, then slice without peeling.
Boil 1/2 cup sugar with 1/4 cup water for 5 minutes, drop in the apple rings, add 1 teaspoon butter and cook slowly until the rings are tender but not broken—takes about 5 minutes. Mix 1 tablespoon flour with 1/4 teaspoon sugar, dip sausage cakes in this and then broil for 8 minutes until well browned. Arrange the apple slices on a hot platter and place a sausage cake
on each.

ORANGE NUT SHERBET

Take two cups sugar, one and one-half cups water, one pint
cream, one and one-half cups
orange juice, six tablespoons lemon juice, two teaspoons grated orange rind and one and one-half cups
powdered peanut brittle.
Cook sugar and water five minutes, cool and add other ingredients and freeze. This amount makes two quarts.

Cookie Dough

To save rolling and cutting of cookies, form the dough into a loaf
or bar and cut off slices to bake.
This dough may be kept in the refrigerator and used as needed, or it may be cut and baked all at once.

ONE OF THE 106 MAJOR MARKETS IN-CLUDED IN THE FOURTH EDITION OF
"A Study of All American Markets"

SUCCESSFUL SALES AND ADVERTISING PLANS ARE BASED ON FACTS. Sales and advertising executives will welcome the 4th edition of "A STUDY OF ALL AMERICAN MARKETS."

THIS new edition fulfills the need for an accurate commercial census and was published so that broad and impartial market data might be available for the entire United States and the territory of Hawaii.

Included in this new fourth edition, which has over 700
pages, are listed the 1930 population figures and characteristics, bank deposits (savings), passenger car and commercial vehicle registrations, together with a tabulation of 24 major classifications of retail business enterprises, classifications of 7 wholesale businesses, and a tabulation of 6 classifications of chain store outlets. The chain store figures have been secured direct from the headquarter offices of the chain store companies and represent the most complete chain store count ever assembled.

Specially drawn maps of the 106 major market areas, a complete set of state maps together with a large U. S. map, form one of the best group of market maps available to sales and advertising executives today.

How to Obtain a Copy

The gratis distribution of this book is limited to seriously interested sales and advertising executives concerned with the utility of newspaper advertising. To others, Major Market Newspapers, Inc. reserves the right to charge the production cost of $15.00 per copy. All inquiries must be

BILLIKEN "SHOCK-TROOPS" OPEN AGAINST LOYOLA TONIGHT

SOUTHERN TEAM CHANGED ABOUT SINCE DEFEAT BY DETROIT U.

Carnegie Tech Signs to Play 1932 Billikens

ACCORDING to advice from New Orleans where the St. Louis U. Billikens play Loyola of the South tonight, Carnegie Tech has signed for a football game with the Billikens at St. Louis, Nov. 12, 1932. Acceptance of the date by Carnegie was received after the game had been approved by the Billiken Athletic Board.

Carnegie Tech is no stranger to St. Louis. The Tartans played St. Louis in 1925 and won, 15-2, and in 1929, engaged the Washington Bears and won, 19-0.

The signing of Tech is the first move to be made by St. Louis U. for a "bigger and better" schedule in 1932.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 6.—Loyola's Wolves have a home to pick with the St. Louis Billikens tonight, when they renew football relations under the lights of Loyola stadium. That 28 to 0 defeat suffered by Loyola on the occasion of the Billikens' last appearance here, in 1922, still ranks.

Coch Clark Shaughnessy's outfit somewhat wiped out that setback last season when they invaded St. Louis and returned home with a 14 to 7 victory.

But this year with the Billikens boasting their strongest offensive in over 20 years, Shaughnessy's eleven will have a hard battle on hand.

Billikens Work Out. The Missourians rolled into town yesterday carrying a squad of 37 players and were taken to the scene of tonight's battle, where they went through a color drill, passing, punting and signal calling.

They appeared in fine condition and are ready in their attempt to take the lead in the Loyola-St. Louis grid series. Tonight's fray will be the rubber contest of the two eleven's, each being credited with a victory.

Coch Chlie Walsh of the Billikens announced that he would send in his "shock troops" during the first quarter, hoping to wear down Shaughnessy's renovated forward wall.

Walsh will insert his fast-stepping back field at the start of the second period, but if the Wolves get the jump, the Billikens' first stringers may enter the game sooner.

That's Walsh's plan of battle. Shaughnessy will send in his "new" first stringers and if they don't hold up under the strain, in will go the veterans who lost their jobs after the pack's trouncing in Detroit last Saturday.

The Billikens will not lack supporters for tonight's battle for a special train bearing 200 followers arrived in town today to view the game.

St. Louis will show one of the finest eleven's that the pack will meet all this season and Shaughnessy is trying to get the local back in the win column before their battle with Santa Clara later in the season.

It will be the first test for Loyola's revamped lineup which has converted backfield men into line men and second stringers into starters.

Percy Booth, hard running half-back who has been playing fine football in that position all this season, has been dropped into one of the tackle positions and should give added speed to the Loyola forward wall.

Pittsilliams, Gruber, Wheeler, Benit and Secher are the other "inexperience" men who will start against the Billikens. Only Lopez, Love, Chachere and Mock remain of the starting lineup that went against the Titans, and Smith has been shifted from a tackle out to an end position.

Important Contests Will Be Played in Four High School Football Leagues This Week

By Harold Tuthill.

The leaders in the four major high school conferences in the St. Louis district will have their positions assailed by challengers over the week end, although two of the schools, Roosevelt and Kirkwood, will be idle.

The inter-sting games are on tomorrow's program, the feature being the Cleveland-Soldan battle in the City League. The Public Schools Stadium, starting at 1 o'clock. The second game of the doubleheader between Beaumont and Central, at 3 o'clock, should be close.

Soldan Is Undefeated. Soldan, undefeated in three games and tied in the fourth, must be considered a serious contender for the city championship, despite the showing made by Coach Jimmy Cook's team in the open league game against Central. The West Enders will be up against a strong eleven in Cleveland and judging by form, Cleveland is three touchdowns better than Soldan.

It is doubtful whether Earl Hahn & Company can score three times on Soldan, a feat which no team has been able to do since Little Rock, Ark., won from the West Enders, 2 to 6, in 1929. This season Soldan's goal line has been crossed only once, by St. Louis University High, the score of the game being 15 to 6 in Soldan's favor.

Coch Bert E. Penenga is puzzled as to the starting Cleveland lineup. Anyone of three guards may start at the left side of Dan Cubbage, the center and five backs are available for the injured Willard Hahn's place at left half. The reserves are Kracke, Russell Rapp, Charles Koch, Jim Davis and John Grasso. Hahn will be out for the season from injuries received in a scrimmage with Maplewood earlier in the week.

Bob Scanlan probably will get the first call for the left guard job, although Penenga may change his mind and use either Bill Kilpatrick or Ralph Bentzinger.

Beaumont Team Crippled. In the second game, Central is given a good chance to defeat the crippled Beaumont team. Coach Merrill Bailey's Mid-City eleven has put up a good battle in both of its games and the development of Carl Newman, Ralph Dorsey, Cliff Wright and Cliff Marik, will supply Bailey with an offensive that may go places.

Since Ray Toberman has been placed on the casualty list, Coach Burns Franklin has shifted his Beaumont lineup so that Godfred Rau will start at the fullback position and Ed Gebhart at half. Barney Fink will take over the right guard job vacated by Rau. Ed Minges will be the starting quarterback.

The championship of the Preparatory League will be at stake tonight when the Christian Brothers College eleven defends its hold on first place against St.

NOTRE DAME IS 6-1 CHOICE TO WIN FROM PENN

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Although Georgia is unbeaten while New York University was tripped up by Oregon last week, the Southern eleven is only a 6 to 5 favorite over the Violet for tomorrow's game here.

Heaviest wagering here has been on this game and on the California-Washington and Bucknell-Georgetown contests. The California-Washington battle is regarded as a toss-up. Bucknell is a 5 to 5 choice over Georgetown.

Other odds were quoted today by J. S. Fried & Co., local betting commissioners, as follows:

Harvard 5 to 2 over Dartmouth; Notre Dame 6 to 1 over Pennsylvania; Northwestern 3 to 1 over Minnesota; Southern California 3 to 1 over Stanford.

Alabama is a 4 to 1 choice over Florida and Ohio State is favored at the same odds to take Navy. Fordham has been installed a 3 to 1 choice over Detroit.

Pittsburgh is a 4 to 1 over Carnegie Tech; Michigan 3 to 5 over Indiana; Illinois 2 to 5 over Wisconsin; and Nebraska, 3 to 1 over Iowa.

GIRL GETS ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE WITH WILDCAT GRID STAR

By the Associated Press. EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 6.—Ken Meenan, star Northwestern half-back, may be expected to play his last football game here tonight. Saturday—for his worries over a secret marriage are ended.

Meenan was married to Miss Helen Major, daughter of the representative of an Eastern woolen goods concern last August. Yesterday she appeared in Superior Court, asking annulment of the marriage on the grounds that she was not of age when the rapid-fire nuptials were celebrated.

The judge granted her petition. Her plea was granted, but Meenan's worries were not over until he learned that he had not violated a university rule, the penalty for which is expulsion.

There is a rule at Northwestern against student marriages, but it does not apply if the marriages are contracted during the summer vacation. Miss Major and Meenan were wed in August, and the fact that he played in five games this season in his favor. He is from Oak Park, Ill., but lives at the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house on the Northwestern campus.

PHIL TODT SENT TO ST. PAUL BY MACK

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, announced last night the transfer of Phil Todt, first baseman, to St. Paul of the American Association. Todt is being sent to the Minor League club to complete the deal whereby O. L. Walcott, St. Paul first baseman, is brought to the Athletics.

Todt was obtained by the Athletics in February, 1931, when he was purchased from the Boston Red Sox for the waiver price. He played in a number of games this season and was used several times as a pinch hitter.

AUTO RACING CARD SCHEDULED SUNDAY

Another automobile racing program will be held Sunday afternoon at the Upper Creve Coeur Lake track, in which drivers who participated in the programs of the past two Sundays will perform again.

Twenty-two entries have been filed for the eight events. The feature of the program will be a 15-mile sweepstakes race.

Gunners to Use Senn at Center In Game Sunday

A line that will include two men weighing well over the 200-pound mark is named for the starting eleven of the Chicago Panthers, booked to play the Battery A Gunners in the professional football game at Grand Stadium, Sunday afternoon.

Right Guard Ryan, from Loyola, is listed at 230 pounds, and Left Tackle Boyle, from Columbia, weighs 210 pounds. Besides these two beefy boys, the Panther reserve list includes Burris, an end from Chicago, at 222 pounds; Valnowski, tackle, 206; and Pavlov, a tackle, 206. These weights mean that the Panthers will have a big advantage in pounding the Gunners.

Halfback Ray Gallivan, former Illinois star, will have a teammate from that university alongside him in the backfield, in the person of Snyder.

For the former University of Illinois players are on the roster of the Chicago club, and four from Loyola of Chicago.

A change at the center position for the Gunners is imminent. Bob Miller, ex-Missouri U. player, probably will go to his regular position at guard, and Emmett Senn, late of Washington, likely will take over the center job. Senn has been working at the berth this week and Coach Jimmy Conzelmann likes him at that job, as he has a lot of weight and is a good passer.

Practices tomorrow afternoon will wind up the preparatory work of the Battery aggregation for the third game of their season.

Bears Depart for Grinnell; Freshmen Trim McKendree, 25-7

By J. Roy Stockton.

Coach Al Sharpe and his Bears of Washington University depart for Grinnell, Ia., this afternoon, to face an important test tomorrow in their Missouri Valley Conference game with the Grinnell Pioneers. These same Pioneers suffered defeat at the hands of the Billikens, 43 to 6, and unless the Bears can make a respectable showing on the Grinnell gridiron, they will have to look forward to a beating at the hands of St. Louis University Thanksgiving day.

Washington has shown steady improvement in recent weeks and some followers of the squad actually give the boys an outside chance to beat Grinnell. However, the Pioneers have a real football star in Hank Thomas, and the Bears will have to show more than their usual speed and speed to make their usual astuteness as diagnosticians if they are to stop Grinnell's triple threat quarterback.

It was feared for a time that the Bears would have to go into the battle with a depleted line, but their regular fullback, but it was found that his thigh injury was not acute and he was given permission to play. Coach Sharpe also was cheered by the improvement in the condition of Dave Miller, another experienced backfield performer. Miller had been given up as lost for the season, but his knee stood up in recent practice sessions and Sharpe announced last night that he expected to use Dave in part of tomorrow's game.

Thomas Is Man to Stop. As suggested, the Bears will need all of their speed and defensive skill to stop Hank Thomas. That "raw meat" football warrior stood out as one of the best athletes on the field while the Billikens were trouncing the Pioneers. He can pass, kick and run, and though he weighs less than 160 pounds, he can make an opposing line think that he weighs a couple of active tons.

Grinnell, according to Line Coach Gale Bullman, plays basketball with a football. In other words, the Pioneers have a confusing aerial attack, with numerous receivers drilled to snare passes on the run, passes thrown from all angles. Thomas is the spearhead of this aerial attack, and according to dispatches from Grinnell, the quarterback has been shooting passes all over the lot in practice for the game with the Bears.

Bear Freshmen Win. Washington's football future looked a little brighter today, as a result of the Bear freshmen's fine showing in their victory over the McKendree College "B" team yesterday afternoon. Coach John Davis' yearling squad won, 25 to 7, and several of the first year men looked like fine prospects. In fact, several could step in immediately, if the rules permitted, and help the varsity eleven.

Dave Blumberg, the sturdy ball carrier from Memphis, made two touchdowns, and Brown and Koerner each made one. Seeger and Miller performed well in general, and Nicholas, a former Principia athlete, made an excellent showing at center.

Brown made a 70-yard run in the second quarter for the first time, and Blumberg intercepted a pass and ran 40 yards to score. A bad punt, on which the Bear yearlings actually lost ground, gave McKendree a chance in the period and Brad Bennett, fullback, scored for the Bears. Blumberg scored his second touchdown in the third quarter and Koerner went over in the final period.

Davis' men showed a fine spirit and plenty of fight, holding McKendree on the one-yard line when it seemed that the visitors were going to tie the score or take the lead early in the second half.

FOOTBALL

LAST year, the University of Pennsylvania announced that they were about to—in a way—debunk football. That is, they were going to take away all emphasis, so called, from the game. They started the process by changing their head coach and Lud Ward gave way to Harvey J. Harman, a University of Pittsburgh product.

With more or less fanfare of trumpets, the Pennsylvania powers that be announced that Coach Harman not only would be a member of the faculty, but that his salary would only be on a par with other professional stipends—no more, no less.

Just what said powers that be intended to accomplish we don't pretend to know, but the fact is Pennsylvania has turned out the best football team in a decade and, just recently, in a game between McBride and St. Louis U. High, a St. Louis player might have followed the advice in the book to "keep the main thing, the main thing."

EDSON, MAKING SECOND START, DEFEATS RYAN IN FOUR ROUNDS

By the Associated Press. COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 6.—The University of Missouri football team will play post-season charity games in both St. Louis and Kansas City.

Late yesterday the Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics approved a game in St. Louis, Dec. 5 with either St. Louis or Washington University. The Tigers have been extended an invitation to meet the winner of these two institutions, and approval of the game by a Missouri committee is equivalent of acceptance.

A game at Kansas City, to be played Nov. 28 providing the charity committee of that city can arrange for an opponent of major conference rank was also approved by the Athletic Committee.

Promotion of both games will be in the hands of charity committees in St. Louis and Kansas City, with distribution of receipts to be left to the opponent, with the possibility one school will play Missouri for the first half, and the other institution the second half.

Holding of two charity games was first suggested at a conference in Jefferson City between Governor and C. L. Brewer, Missouri director of athletics. The Governor said the unemployment situation in both Kansas City and St. Louis was critical, and that the university was to render its service to the community.

The Big Six conference has already authorized one charity game, and Brewer said he believed it would assent to the second contest.

EDSON MAKING SECOND START. Edson's victory gave the Missouri team a second start in the amateur boxing series, scored a hard-fought four-round victory over Tom Ryan of the Sherman Park A. C. in one of the four special bouts of the program at the South Broadway A. C. last night.

The judges disagreed after the regulation three rounds and it was necessary for the boys to travel an extra session. In the fourth round, Edson had a wide margin.

KROGER CO. 'ILLS IN ATTACK ON KENTUCKY SALES TAX LAW
Federal Court Denies Suit for Injunction for Want of Jurisdiction.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—The suit of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., chain-store corporation, for an injunctive injunction to restrain the State of Kentucky from collecting taxes under the retail merchants' gross sales tax act enacted in 1930, was dismissed today in a 300-page decision signed by three Federal Judges.

Judge Moorman of the United States Circuit Court at Cincinnati; Justice of the Western District of Kentucky, and Cochran of the Eastern District of Kentucky concurred in the decision, which sustained a motion of attorneys for the State to dismiss the case for want of equitable jurisdiction. The suit was heard several months ago at Frankfort, the decision held that in the event of adequate remedy in the State of Illinois, the State Auditor could issue warrants against the State covering the amount of tax paid plus interest.

State courts previously had upheld the validity of the sales tax.

Fresh Display of Bullishness in Shares in Late Trading and Many Prominent Issues Gain 2 to More Than 5 Points.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Further buying in the wheat and silver markets was followed by a fresh burst of bullish activity in stocks in the late trading today, and many prominent issues gained 2 to more than 5 points. Sales approximated 2,000,000 shares, for the first time in about a fortnight. The closing tone was strong.

The bond market was somewhat more spotted than recently, but improved in the late trading. High-grade bank investments were actively sought, and foreigners improved, notably Latin Americans. Stocks reacted 2 to 3 points in the morning, but regained their losses around midday as metal shares were bought, in response to the further upturn in bar silver.

The advance broadened in the late trading, and among issues closing about 2 to 5 higher were U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Kennecott, American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Homestake Mining, St. Joseph Lead, Allied Chemical, American Can, American Waterworks, General Motors, Eastman, American Tobacco B. Union Pacific, du Pont, Public Service of New Jersey and Woolworth. Gains of a point or more appeared throughout the list.

Foreign exchanges were mixed. Sterling again rallied, reaching $3.82, up 1/2 cent. Shanghai and Mexico were firm. French francs, German marks and Dutch florins eased.

Further Rise in Silver.

Fresh stimulus was given the metal issues by a further rise in bar silver, which added 1 1/2 cents to yesterday's 1 1/2-cent rise, bringing the price to 34 cents an ounce, and the highest in about a year, while notable developments in the copper market were lacking, most of the copper producers also produced substantial amounts of silver. Gold mining stocks were mixed, working higher on news that the lowered commodity prices in the copper market were lacking, most of the copper producers also produced substantial amounts of silver. Gold mining stocks were mixed, working higher on news that the lowered commodity prices in the copper market were lacking, most of the copper producers also produced substantial amounts of silver.

Easier Tones to Money.

The money market showed an easier tone, and bankers' acceptances and commercial paper rates were shaded. Bankers were cheered by the fact that currency in circulation gained only the normal seasonal amount in the past week, and that the Federal Reserve had been able to contract its volume of outstanding credit, without affecting the money market.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES

9 TO 15 POINTS HIGHER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—An early decline in cotton futures was followed by a rally on continued reports of a shortage of cotton in the United States, and the market was active and steady, with prices higher on average 9 to 15 points. The market was active and steady, with prices higher on average 9 to 15 points. The market was active and steady, with prices higher on average 9 to 15 points. GUN-TOTING CASE OF HERMAN TIPTON LIKE RAY RENARD'S

Cuckoo Gangster and Aid, Florito, Accused of Carrying Concealed Weapons Found in Their Autos.

With Herman Tipton, leader of the Cuckoo gang, and Carl Florito, one of his most active followers, under charges of carrying concealed weapons, police believe they have developed cases against the two hoodlums that may parallel a similar charge against Ray Renard, notorious Egan gangster.

Renard, then one of the most active figures in the Egan gang, whose leaders later were sent to Federal penitentiaries when Renard became a Government informer, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, the maximum penalty, following a trial before Circuit Judge Calhoun on May 22, 1929, which the Supreme Court affirmed.

The circumstances of his arrest were closely similar to those of the arrest of Tipton and Florito. Two city detectives testified that when they stopped him at Vandeventer and Olive street on March 22, 1929, they found a loaded revolver on the floor of the coupe he was driving.

Tipton and two companions booked as Joseph Mestres and John Killian, were arrested Wednesday night at Compton and Park avenues in an automobile. An automatic pistol was found under the driver's seat, where Tipton was sitting, next to Mestres, and a revolver was found on the floor nearby.

Yesterday afternoon warrants charging carrying a concealed weapon and being a habitual criminal were issued against Tipton. Should he be found guilty on the latter charge the maximum sentence for carrying concealed weapons, two years in prison, would be imposed automatically.

The Circuit Attorney announced that no action would be taken against Mestres or Killian. The latter was in the rear seat of the car out of reach of the weapons. Investigation as to Mestres showed that he had worked for one employer for 17 years and had a good record. The automobile in which the men were arrested was his property, but the pistols are said to be owned by Tipton.

Carl Florito, one of the few Sicilian gangsters allied with the Cuckoo group, was arrested yesterday at Third and Spruce streets on an indictment voted Tuesday charging him with carrying concealed weapons. As in his worst he gave his age as 19, although the police calculate from the first time he said he was 19, that he is now 26 years old. Gangsters frequently pretend youth in order to be sent to the reformatory instead of the penitentiary should they be convicted.

The indictment against Florito is based on his arrest last July 26 at Sarah street and Delmar boulevard. Detectives who stopped him for questioning reported they found an automatic pistol in the door pocket of his car.

A warrant was issued, but there was a series of continuances of the preliminary hearing. Accordingly the Circuit Attorney secured his indictment so that the case could be set for trial.

The Renard case marked the first imposition for a period of years of a prison sentence for carrying a concealed weapon. The moot point in the case was whether a weapon, out of sight, within easy reach of the defendant but not on his person, was a concealed weapon within the meaning of the law. Recent Judge Calhoun held that it was, and his finding was affirmed by the Supreme Court.

At that time Renard was already under sentence of nine months in jail for the same offense and under sentence of seven years in Federal penitentiary for theft from an interstate shipment. It was after he had been committed on the latter that he turned on his old companions and gave testimony which sent the heads of the Egan gang to prison under long sentences for mail robbery. One of them was Ray Tipton, elder brother of Herman, and once one of Renard's boon companions.

While Renard was in Federal penitentiary a "hold" order was lodged there so that Missouri authorities might take him to the prison at Jefferson City after his Federal term had been served. In spite of the order, however, Renard was released without notice, and quickly left the State.

Last July requisition papers were issued by Gov. Caulfield for his removal from California, after it was determined Renard was living there. Gov. Rolph refused to honor the papers so that Renard remains in California.

Renard, Roy Tipton and "Dizzy" Daniels, the last now serving a life sentence in Jefferson City penitentiary for murder, are the principal figures in the murder of Deputy Constable Edward P. Neu, now under investigation in St. Louis County by Prosecuting Attorney Castlen. Neu was killed the night of April 2, 1929 in front of 2400 Grayson avenue, by Egan gangsters who were moving from one hiding place to another the loot stolen in the downtown robbery of a mail truck on the previous day. An automobile abandoned by the slayers was identified as the car used in the robbery.

In the trial of the robbery case Renard testified as a Government witness, that Daniels and Tipton left a hiding place at Fenton in the car on the night of the murder, and that he preceded them into town in his car.

Renard testified that he waited for the other two at the city limits, finally turned back for them, then swung his car around and fled when he saw the robbery automobile surrounded by a crowd which had gathered at the murder scene.

Other witnesses, however, declared that when Neu stopped the robbery car, a Cadillac, another automobile which was ahead of it stopped and backed up, that one of the men in the Cadillac shot Neu down and that the driver of the leading car then got out and shot the wounded Deputy Constable in the face. Then, these witnesses said, the men from the Cadillac got into the leading car, and were driven away.

THREE OFFICIALS OF DEFUNCT OIL COMPANY ARE INDICTED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—Three officials of the defunct Richfield Oil Co., which collapsed in January with a three-year operating deficit of more than $54,000,000, were indicted yesterday by the county grand jury.

They are C. M. Fuller, former president; J. A. Talbot, former chairman of the board, and R. W. McKee, former vice president and assistant to Talbot.

The charges were not made public, but the three men previously had been mentioned in connection with an alleged shortage of $400,000.

SERIOUS DEPLETION OF FISH IN ILLINOIS

Large Number Killed by Wastes
Accumulated in Waters During 1929-30 Drouth.

By the Associated Press.
URBANA, Ill., Nov. 6.—Severe depletion of fish in Illinois has resulted from the drouth of 1930 and 1929, the State Natural History Survey announced here.
Lack of rainfall to dilute the ordinary pollution has resulted in high concentration of domestic and industrial wastes in the water, killing large numbers of fish or driving them away. Curtailed operation of industries has prevented greater depletion, Dr. David H. Thompson, zoologist for the survey said.
Excessive heat was a second destructive agent. In lakes especially the organic debris on the bottom oxidizing rapidly in warm weather uses up all oxygen in the lower layers of water, forcing the fish up into the surface water. There the fish die either from the heat or the shock of coming up from cool into very warm water.
In Paradise Lake, near Mattoon, which was reduced from a normal area of 175 acres to 10 acres during the drouth, few small fish of any kind were found, since they had served as food for the bass, crappies and other large game fish. Camp Creek, near Seymour, containing 30 or more kinds of fish before the drouth, now has only a few varieties of minnows, sunfish and suckers. These, though very small, are again present in great numbers.

Low water favorable to commercial fishing, aided in the taking of 15 million pounds of carp and buffalo fish from the Illinois River last year. So reduced in numbers are these fish that the commercial catch of this year was considerably less.
River Banks of Illinois Attracted Record Numbers Past Year.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 5.—Growing interest in outdoor sports coupled with unemployment made the river banks of Illinois more popular than ever before, during the past year, State Director of Conservation Ralph F. Bradford said.
Licenses to fish during the same period increased 10 per cent, the director said. "Tunting licenses also showed an increase."
Doubt as to whether the 1931-32 biennium will show an increase was expressed by Director Bradford, who pointed out that conditions have not been favorable for the first three months, July, August and September. There has not been sufficient rainfall to overcome the effects of the drouth on fish life. Coupled with that is the fact that the Federal Government has curtailed the migratory fowl hunting season from three months to one month and in addition, present economic conditions are unfavorable.

Twenty kinds of licenses are issued by the fish and game division, Director Bradford's report said. There was a net increase of more than 40,000 over the average year's business prior to July, 1930. A decided increase was noted in the number of mussel fishing licenses, many men turning to this occupation in the absence of other employment.
U. S. OFFICIAL WARNS AGAINST SWINDLERS POSING AS AGENTS
Acts on Reports of Spurious "Inspectors" Taking Canned Fruit From Homes.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—W. G. Campbell, chief of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, issued a warning yesterday in connection with newspaper reports to the effect that certain "swindlers" were taking advantage of the large quantities of fruit being canned in the homes this year and were posing as Federal "food inspectors" and visiting the homes and garr-ing away "all but a limited quantity of the fruit."

"This is a fraud," he said, "which should be thoroughly investigated and the offenders punished. It should be public knowledge that there is a heavy penalty attached to the offense of posing as a Federal agent. Bona fide Federal food and drug inspectors not only wear a badge, but they carry an identification card signed by the Secretary of Agriculture, as well as a photograph of themselves upon which is stamped the seal of the United States Department of Agriculture."
"Inspectors," said Campbell, "are required to pay the current market price for any samples they collect. In addition to these facts, it would be well for the public to know that it is rare, indeed, for a Federal food and drug official to collect samples of home-canned foods. Foods put up in the home are rarely shipped interstate, and the Federal food and drug act has jurisdiction over only those goods which are shipped across state borders."

FOUR HELD IN PLOT TO HOLD UP BANK AT NEELYVILLE

Woman's Information After Her Arrest in Stolen Car Leads to Capture of Three Men by Poses.

By the Associated Press.
POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Nov. 6.—Three men and one woman are in jail here following their arrest near Neelyville where, officers say, they had planned to hold up the Bank of Neelyville.
The woman, giving her name as Miss Lillian Becker, 21 years old, of St. Louis, was arrested on suspicion when she was found sitting in an automobile which had been stolen 24 hours before from Blake Livingston, taxi driver.
The woman with the three men had appeared at Livingston's taxi station and ordered a car to take them several miles into the country. Three miles from the city, they ordered Livingston, at the point of guns, to get into the back seat. Later they put him out.
Following her arrest the woman is said to have told that her three associates fled when officers approached. A search by posse organized by Sheriff Lester Massingham resulted in their arrest. They gave their names as Harold Pugin, 24, Madison, Ill.; Earl Richardson, 30, Little Rock, Ark.; and Albert Bassford, 23, who says his home is near the Missouri-Arkansas line.
The woman, Massingham said, was armed. Richardson carried three pistols, but the other two men had no guns on their person. They were brought to jail here where, officers say, they readily admitted they planned to hold up the Neelyville bank. They had scolded themselves and their car in the wooded section near Neelyville during the night before, and had spent part of the day in Neelyville and community, getting ideas concerning roads, possible avenues of escape, the officers said.

California.

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 6.—
James (California Eddie) Stewart, said by police to be wanted in New Jersey on a murder charge and sought by Federal agents in connection with a Southern Pacific
train robbery at Nobel Station, Cal., Nov. 7, 1930, was arrested here last night. He was held for Postoffice Inspectors from San Francisco.
Portland police said Stewart also was wanted in Philadelphia, where he was known as James Sargent.
They said he committed a series
of robberies there.
Stewart, officers said, has been sought on a murder charge by Bradley Beach (N. J.) authorities since 1928. Details of the alleged crime were not learned here.
Stewart was said by officers to be the last member of a gang of five masked robbers who held up

"You needn't tell me
—I know Camel is
the fresh cigarette!"

Yes— CAMELS are the fresh cigarette

They're never parched or toasted!

A HUMIDOR package can preserve freshness only in cigarettes that are fresh to start with; it cannot freshen cigarettes that are dried-out or factory-stale.

If Camels were made under any method which dispelled their natural moisture—if it were parched or toasted out—the Camel Humidor Pack could not possibly be the boon to smokers that it is.

But Camel cigarettes are fresh cigarettes to start with
—as fresh and fine as choicest materials, scrupulous care
and great skill can make them.

They are redolent with fragrant flavor, fresh with natural moisture, cleanly and dust-free, in prime smoking condition.

Give your throat a vacation from the harsh hot smoke
of parched dry-as-dust strong tobaccos—taste the smooth
flavorful delights of a fresh cigarette.

Switch to mild, cool-burning, throat-friendly Camels
for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

CAMELS

Made FRESH—Kept FRESH

Don't remove the moisture-proof wrapping from your package of Camels after you open it. The Camel Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. In offices and homes, even in the dry atmosphere of artificial heat, the Camel Humidor Pack delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked

REAL ESTATE MAN ARRESTED IN $43,000 BUNCO SCHEME

Long Beach (Cal.) Broker Denies He Is the Fugitive Sought in Massachusetts.
By the Associated Press.
LONG BEACH, Cal., Nov. 6.—A man said by police to be William H. Hood, 42 years old, wanted in Boston, Mass., in connection with an alleged $43,000 bunco scheme, was arrested here yesterday. Hood denied he was the man sought.
Detectives W. C. Wright and R. H. Manchester said they arrested Hood, a real estate broker here the last year and a half, on information furnished them by Joseph E. Warner, Massachusetts Attorney General. Hood's fingerprints, they said, tallied with those shown on a police circular. They said Warner informed them a Government check made in favor of Hood had been received by a Long Beach woman periodically. Police declined to disclose the woman's name.
Hood, police said, is wanted on

EASIER BANKING IN SEDALIA

Four Depositories Resume Part of Service Suspended Tuesday.
By the Associated Press.
SEDALIA, Mo., Nov. 6.—The four Sedalia banks open today reinstate a part of the banking service they suspended Tuesday, following the closing of the Citizens National Bank. Checks to the full amount of new deposits, allowing due time for out-of-town items to be collected, will be honored to give relief to business concerns of Sedalia and Pettis County. Since Tuesday morning withdrawals had been limited to $25 a day to each depositor and many businesses were hampered.
By the Associated Press.
MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 6.—The Bank of Morgantown, closed Sept. 29, has reopened with nearly $1,400,000 on deposit when it closed, pledged to a "mutually protective" agreement which guarantees the bank against withdrawal for 12 months and for an additional 12 months at its option. Less than $40,000 of the deposits was not pledged to the agreement. New deposits may be withdrawn without restrictions.

RAIL WAGE DISCUSSION URGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Southern and Western railroad executives have decided to give formal consideration to a proposal of labor organizations that a round-table conference be held on unemployment and wages. Eastern executives, however, have given no indication of their attitude toward the joint discussion.
The Southern-Western group notified D. B. Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, which suggested the conference, that a decision would be reached at a meeting next week. W. R. Cole, chairman of the Southwestern Presidents' Conference, and J. W. Higgins, chairman of the Western Executives' Association, signed the message.

Way to Get at a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like Cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.
Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is unpleasant; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.
Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime?

EDISON

As I Knew Him

By HENRY FORD

In Collaboration with Samuel Crowther

CHAPTER SEVEN.

So far I have ever been able to make out, Edison was not only interested in everything but also was a specialist in everything. Everyone knows that he was a specialist in the sciences, but I was surprised to discover on the first trip that over I took with him—and continued to be surprised on every subsequent trip, and in fact at every meeting with him—the extent of his knowledge of birds, of trees and of flowers. Also he was wholly informed on geology and astronomy.

His knowledge of history and politics was very wide and, although it is not generally suspected, he had much more than a casual interest in the arts and particularly in the simplicity of the Greek art and architecture. He had in himself a very fine feeling for line and form. I have never yet seen a drawing made by him or a model made from one of his drawings which was not really beautiful in its very detail. His conception of beauty was bound up with simplicity and with laboriousness. His simple lines were so harmonious as to have an effect far more beautiful than would be possible in any purely decorative effort.

The harmony of his designs, I think, arises from the accuracy of his observations and the economy of his every effort. The simplest design is not only best from the standpoint of utility but also it is always best from the standpoint of art. I always suspect an ugly or fad design of being somewhere faulty. And usually it is—the designer has not thought out his problem to the point where he can express it simply.

EDISON could have succeeded in a big way in any line which he chose to follow. He never failed in anything which he undertook—even as a boy. For everything he brought a quick imagination and a capacity for unlimited work. Before he was 15 years old he had made a success as a farmer, as a merchant and as a newspaper proprietor. Before he was 12 he was running his father's truck garden and selling the produce in Port Huron. He did not like the manual labor of farming, or rather he thought that he could do better use of his time. This was his idea as a boy of 12:

"Hoeling corn in a hot sun is unattractive. I do not wonder that it has built up cities. Soon he moved from Port Huron to Detroit, at about the same time the War of the Rebellion broke out. By keeping at it, I got permission from my mother to go on the local train as a newsboy. The local train from Port Huron to Detroit, a distance of 63 miles, left at 9:30 a. m. and arrived back again at 9:30 p. m.

"After being on the train for several months, I started two stores in Port Huron—one for periodicals and the other for vegetables, butter and berries in season. These were attended by my mother who shared the local train as a newsboy. I soon closed, as the boy in charge could not be trusted. The vegetable store I kept up for nearly a year. "After the railroad had been opened a short time, I started a room and was introduced to the night manager. The weather being cold, and being clothed poorly, my peculiar appearance caused much mirth, and, as I afterward learned, the night manager had consulted together how they might get a job on the train from the woolly West. I was given a pen and assigned to the New York No. 1 wire. "After waiting an hour, I was told to come over to a special table and take a special report for the Boston Herald, the constabulary having arranged to have one of the fastest senders in New York send the dispatch and 'salt' the new man. I sat down unsuspectingly at the table, and the New York man started slowly. Soon he increased his speed, to which I easily adapted myself. This put my rival on his mettle, and he put on his best p. w. s. which, however, were soon reached.

At this point I happened to look up, and saw the operators looking over my shoulder, with their faces shining with fun and excitement. I knew then that they were trying to put up a job on me, but kept my own counsel. "The New York man then commenced to stir over his words, running them together and sticking in signals. But I had been used to the style of telegraphy in taking reports and was not in the least 'c'omfited. Finally, when I thought the fun had gone far enough, and having about completed the key and remarked, telegraphically, to my New York friend: 'Say, young man, change off and send with your other foot.' This broke the New York man all up, and he turned the job over to another man to finish.

With the Civil War on, Edison took advantage of his position on the train to sell newspapers ahead of the regular distribution, which was by mail. While in Detroit waiting for his train to start, he heard that the battle of Shiloh had been fought, with a heavy list of dead and wounded. He had been selling a hundred newspapers on his regular trips. He decided to buy a thousand and arranged with his telegraph-operator friends to post bulletins at each station giving the bare news of the battle. This is what happened:

"The first station, called Utica, was a small one where I generally sold two papers. I saw a crowd ahead on the platform, and thought it some excursion, but the moment I landed, there was a rush for me. Then I realized that the telegraph was a great invention. I sold 35 papers there.

"The next station was Mount Clemens, now a watering place, but then a town of about 1000. I usually sold six or eight papers there. I decided that if I found a large crowd there I would correct my lack of judgment in not getting more papers by raising the price from 5 cents to 10. The crowd was there, and I raised the price. At the various towns there were crowds.

"I had been my practice at Port Huron to jump from the train at a point about one-fourth of a mile from the station, where the train generally slackened speed. I had drawn several loads of sand to this point to jump on, and had become quite expert. Then I approached the outskirts of the town. I was met by a large crowd. I then yelled: 'Twenty-five cents apiece, gentlemen! I haven't enough to go around!' I sold all out, and made what to me then was an immense sum of money."

AND while all this was going on, he was also getting out his own train newspaper, reading every book he could find and making every chemical and other experiment that he could gain the where-withal to make. It was the experimental method that he followed, and that he followed with a return to New England and New York in the spring.

The part taken by Miss Adams is a decided departure from the roles for which she was best known in her early appearances. There is a great difference in the portrayal of the characters of the eldritch, sprightly Peter Pan of Barrie's play and the learned barrister of Shakespeare.

An indication of her being introduced into the theater by Miss Adams. It is a new type of stage lighting, which she developed during her retirement, and consists of the footlights being replaced by a set of diffused lights from reflectors in the balcony, which permits its coloristic novelties.

MAUDE ADAMS has been some of the enigma of the stage. For one thing, the reason that prompted her return to the stage has not been fully explained. It may, without drawing too much on the imagination, be attributed to a desire to take a personal part in the introduction of the new lighting system. It may have been that she was inspired by the numerous "come-backs" successfully undertaken by so many other stage stars. It may have been pressure on the part of friends, producers, her former admirers.

Her retirement from the stage was equally mysterious. For from the heights of popularity Maude Adams quite abruptly dropped into the unknown. Literally, at that, for after her retirement even her friends were unaware of where she was. Even her friends did not know why she retired, nor could they explain her refusal to accept numerous flattering offers of roles.

During the period of her retirement she made very few public appearances, and came before the public by way of the news columns only in minor matters.

One cause to which her peculiar self-effacement was attributed when it occurred in 1918 bears repetition as a plausible solution. That was her romance, as it was generally considered, with the late Charles Frohman, one of the Lustania victims. He not only was her manager, but her most trusted friend.

FROHMAN entered Maude Adams' career at an early date, when she was appearing as Dot Bradbury in "A Midnight

MISS ADAMS when she first achieved fame on the stage.

IS THE lifelong stage career of the late "Divine Sarah" Bernhardt to be rivaled in America? That appears quite possible with the return to the footlights of Maude Adams, famous for her interpretation of Peter Pan in the play of that name, early in this century. Maude Adams made her second debut, after a strict retirement of 13 years, as Portia in "The Merchant of Venice," Tuesday night in Cleveland, O. With her appeared another famous veteran of the stage, Otis Skinner in the part of Shylock.

Maude Adams, of course, is but 39 years old, and the "Divine Sarah" was 79 at the time of her death. Yet Miss Adams, despite the long retirement, was much herself, as capable an actress, as when she was one of the leading idols of the theater-going public years ago. Her return to the stage has attracted nationwide attention, and the premier in Cleveland is to be followed by a tour of the South and Middle West, with a return to New England and New York in the spring.

A Block Apart

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN.

TERHERNE fumbled with some papers on the desk. "Your mother— isn't here, Julie," he said stammeringly. "If she were, she could—well, a young girl, just engaged, sometimes wants advice. She could give it to you. You'd feel freer to talk to her than to me. But I love you, my dear. And if you—ever want to talk—want to—well, to unburden yourself—don't forget your dad is—here."

Julie made no reply. Suddenly she felt that she would weep if she said another word. Something of the loneliness of her father's life, a loneliness which he had never referred to but of which she was painfully cognizant tonight, penetrated the wall which so often separates parent and child.

She kissed him and went to her room, where she surrendered herself to the ministrations of her sleep. But in bed she could not instantly go to sleep. Her father's attitude puzzled her. Why had he suggested that Farrell be engaged tonight? For that matter, what had he meant this morning by his long recount of his marriage to her mother?

Then her thoughts drifted to the young dancer. How had he dared tell her that he cared for her? And what had he said about his jealousy and unreasonableness, the most perfect love? And so, at length, she drifted off to sleep.

With her morning coffee came the paper. On a middle page she saw a snapshot of herself taken several weeks ago in company with Ralph. Above it was a headline to the effect that their engagement was rumored.

Below were half a dozen paragraphs telling who she was and who Ralph was, and making mention of her exploit at the Trebizond two nights before. She smiled wryly. In the account of her father that dance with Jimmy would be mentioned.

Dolly Wanders rang her on the telephone as she emerged from her bath. "That you, Julie? Why must you say that when you meet them?" "Whom have I slain now, Dolly?" laughed Julie.

"My little freckled man—Julie, he's marvelous—is coming to tea this afternoon." "Mr. Farrell? But you told me that last night," said Julie. "I know it. And mind, my dear, like you, you're nice. You're good to look at. I think you'd be loyal in an emergency. But that doesn't mean I want you for tea this afternoon."

"Thank you for the invitation, Dolly," laughed Julie. "I hope you can't come. But my freckles are in a fever. He said that he must see you, and made me promise to ask you. You can't come, can you?" "I can't come," said Julie.

"Bless your heart," said Dolly. "And now that you've shown the proper sporting spirit, I want you. A whole crowd are waiting to sing for us. I didn't know he could. But last night he gave such a hit at the Trebizond that he finally gave a song for an encore, and he's too precious to refuse. I'm not joking now—please come."

"I don't see how I possibly can," said Julie. "Oh, gee," Dolly was like a child at her disappointment. "I want you, because Jimmy wants you, Julie."

"I'm afraid I can't make it today," said Julie. She felt a righteous glow as she came up. Although she didn't expect approval of Dolly's tea party, she had to admit that Dolly was really very great fun, and this afternoon she wanted to apologize.

She lunched with Ralph at the Colony. Gayety surrounded them. The Tom Derwins had decided to go to Palm Beach for a few weeks. The Conklings had offered them their house there for a month, and the Derwins were rounding up a house party. They could bring 12 people besides themselves.

They had already asked Jim Livingston, and he had offered his private car. "You and Ralph, and Dolly Wanders and Trudie, and the Mayburs, and Sam Wardell—there'll be plenty," said Tom Derwin. "What about it, folks?"

Ralph looked at Julie and Julie looked at Ralph. It sounded most tempting, but they left it in the air. People stopped at their table, lingered, had coffee with them. Jimmy Farrell's name was never mentioned, and when they parted at the restaurant entrance, Ralph uttered a secret that he could not come in for tea. He added that he had a dinner engagement, made tonight ago, and it meant dance afterward, he feared.

"We should announce our engagement right away, then we'll always be asked together," he pleaded. "Every one will know it in an hour or so, so we might as well spread it."

"What are you doing now?" he asked. "Shopping," she replied. "Then come and rest. Dining at home." "Dinner," he said. "If I could get out of this dinner decently I'd adore you," she said. "I adore you," he whispered. "Hang it all, why can't I kiss you now?" "You'd shock the traffic cop," she smiled, as she climbed into her car. "Tea tomorrow?" "Does she have anyone else in," he pleaded. "I won't," she promised.

SHE waved a gay hand at him, sank back into the cushions of the car and immediately began berating herself. Why hadn't she told him of her invitation to take tea with Dolly? Why hadn't she told him that Jimmy was anxious to see her? Why hadn't she told him that she was going to accept the invitation?

Because, she assured herself in panic, she wasn't. Over and over again she told herself that she wasn't. And yet she knew that she was. Thompson's had no shoes fit to wear; Ralph's frocks were dowdy; Curlew's couldn't give a decent finger wave. Altogether it was as unsatisfactory an afternoon as Julie could remember. It was no mood for a happily engaged girl to find herself in. Shoes should be like wings; frocks should be like goddess; hair treatments should be mere burning of the aureoles.

Why did she persist in thinking of Dolly's tea? And why did she want to know the answer to a question that she had not asked Dolly? Had Jimmy done his airplane glide with Dolly?

After all, Jimmy's dancing was his profession, his business, his livelihood. It wasn't a sentimental thing. That in his first New York hit he had danced with Julie couldn't mean that he must dance with no other girl. Why, he'd have a regular professional partner any day now.

And that would be all right. But it wouldn't be all right if he took on Dolly, or Trudie, or another of Julie's own crowd. But why not? Her exasperation communicated itself to the girl who manipulated her brown bobbed hair.

"If Mademoiselle makes the movement of the head all the time, it is impossible for me to create the desired effect," protested the girl.
